THOS. O'CALLAGHAN & CO. CARPETS. CLOSING OUT SALE.

"Closing-Out Sale," in the sense in which we use it, refers to a Reduction of Spring Stock for the purpose of making room for Fall Goods, just ordered, and which will arrive in a short time. This sale will last only a few days, though the stock and variety we offer is extensive, as the prices quoted on clearly specified goods are so very low as to demand an inspection on the part of saving purchasers.

This is all we require to cause their immediate sale, as the goods sell themselves at the prices quoted.

—Mr. A. J. Turner has taken possession of the Lovell estate on Park street.

—Mr. J. R. Burdett has removed from Jefferson street to 223 Church street.

—Miss Bigelow has leased her house on Washington street to Mr. E. H. Cutler.

—Mr. F. S. Belden has leased one of May Hibbard's houses on Hunnewell Terrace.

—Mrs. Kidder and Miss Abby Spear returned this week from a ten days trip to Washington.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Allen have returned from Boston and will spend the summer in Newton.

—The Y. M. C. A. will omit during the summer months the usual Sunday afternoon service.

—Dr. H. M. Field started on Tuesday from San Francisco with his family, and are expected in Newton next week.

—Miss Thurston returned Wednesday from the National Librarian's Association's meeting and trip through the South.

—Swedish preaching services are held in the Baptist church every Sunday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock by Charles J. Engstrom.

—Next week, Thursday, will be the annual June festival at Eliot church, and the following Sunday will be Children's day.

—"Engineer" omitted to attach any name to his communication, and it therefore went into our waste basket without reading.

—H. E. Johnson, the electrician, has the contract for wiring Mr. Fred N. March's house on Grasmere street for electric lighting.

—Mr. Samuel Hano will accompany the Republican delegates to Minneapolis on their special train, which leaves Boston at 2.15 tomorrow.

—The engagement is announced of Miss Blanche Evelyn Bean of Newton, daughter of the late Hiram P. Bean of Roxbury, and Mr. Charles Hyde, son of Hon. J. F. C. Hyde.

—Miss Bates, teacher in scientific department, Newton High School, received the degree of master of arts from Boston university at the commencement exercises June 1st.

—Mr. Julian Rohan was married to Miss Minnie Brackett at the residence of the bride in Hingham on Wednesday. Both Mr. and Mrs. Rohan were formerly residents of Newton.

—A party of Newton gentlemen spent Memorial Day in deep sea fishing, and caught forty cod and one haddock. One of the party caught a severe fit of seasickness, but the rest had a fine time.

—Channing Guild holds its annual business meeting Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Reports of the year's work will be read and matters of interest discussed. All are heartily invited to be present.

—James F. C. Hyde has sold Mrs. Aborn's house, corner of Morse and Park street, in the Watertown district, to Thomas Moran. The house has ten rooms and there is 1200 feet of land. Mr. Moran will occupy at once.

—Capt. John F. Boyd has leased Mr. J. F. C. Hyde's house on Boyd street, and will again become a resident of Newton. The street was named after Captain Boyd's father, who built a majority of the houses in the Morse field district.

—Miss Alice Jeffery was married to Mr. Luther J. Harrington, Wednesday afternoon, at his brother's residence on Church street, Rev. W. A. Lamb officiated. The bride was dressed in white and Miss Alice Biedma was bridesmaid, Mr. I. B. Harrington officiating as best man. A large company of friends and relatives was present.

—Rev. John Brady, auxiliary Bishop of Boston, confirmed about two hundred children at the Church of Our Lady last Sunday. The children formed in line in the sanctuary, and marched out and up the front entrance of the church to the front, where seats were reserved. The white dresses of the girls made the procession very attractive, and the service was a very interesting one.

—Mr. J. Wallace Goodrich was the organist at the wedding of Miss Helen Dinsmore, daughter of Wm. B. Dinsmore, President of the Adams Express Co., at his country seat on the Hudson, on Wednesday last. The next day Mr. Goodrich went to Norfolk, Va., to meet an engagement to give two organ concerts. Mr. Buckingham of the Conservatory of Music will take his place at Eliot church on Sunday.

—On Thursday evening, May 26th, the second of the series of musicals given by Mrs. Allen Carter Wright for her pupils, took place at her residence on Vernon street. This well known artist and amiable hostess is in the fullest sense a teacher of unusual ability, and has reason to be much gratified by the marked improvement shown by each and all of her pupils during the space of time most of them have been under her guidance. After the music refreshments were served, which ended a most enjoyable evening.

—The recent sale by St. Agnes chapter in the parish house of Grace church realized over $115 to be used for missions and "the shut-in" sick people. The balance of the goods has been sent to a mission in the North West, including the silk quilt made by an invalid boy. Money enough to buy it was contributed by visitors, and now the little invalid will have a steady supply of medicine. Miss Baker and her young helpers are deserving of great credit for their good work.

—The Immanuel Baptist Sunday School celebrated its 33rd anniversary Sunday with an interesting program, which included singing, an address of welcome by Joseph Goodwin, the children's welcome by Charlie Marr, the annual reports, which were very encouraging, an anniversary hymn written for the occasion by the pastor, recitations by Nina Harris, Fred Greenwood, Lizzie Pratt, reading of an anniversary poem, remarks by the superintendent, an address by Arthur W. Sawyer, and recitation by Eddie Porter. There was a large attendance at the exercises.

—There is to be an unusually interesting musical occasion in Grace church on Sunday night. The two choirs Grace and St. Paul's, Newton Highlands, will unite in rendering a grand festival service for Whitsun Day. The program includes: Anthems by West, Barnby, Tours, Ouseley, Field and others, also Stanford's Te Deum. There will be a chorus of eighty male voices, with soloists. The music will be that recently rendered at the festival of the parish choir, and is regarded as one of the most melodious selections yet made. No tickets of admission will be required. The doors open at 7 p. m. and the service begins at 7.30.

—Miss Merritt, who has been teaching a large class in water colors at Balston Spa, N. Y., has returned home for the summer. The local paper there says: "A few days ago Miss Merritt gave a private exhibit of a large number of her best works to a few friends at her studio on Milton avenue. Her works are one and all marked by deep and true sentiment, rare feeling for nature's varied moods, exquisite tonal qualities and charming and delicate color. She has evidently been a close student of nature and the best of artists. Her exhibit is a rare and choice one." Miss Merritt goes next week to Salem, for three weeks, to join a summer class under Mr. Ross Turner.

—Mr. John D. Morgan has been appointed local agent of the World's Fair Trust Fund Transportation Company. It is incorporated under the laws of the state of Illinois, the specific object being to afford its patrons an opportunity of visiting the World's fair in 1893 at a reasonable cost, at the same time securing without trouble and exorbitant charges the best accommodations possible. The cost of tickets, (first class) to Chicago, including transportation for individual and baggage from depots and hotels, six days' board and lodging, six admissions to the fair, with lunch on the grounds, is $37.00. They are offered on the installment plan, $6 down and the balance in monthly payment.

—An alarm was sounded at 2.52 Sunday morning for a fire in H. G. Crocker's barn on Fayette street. The fire was discovered by Mr. Crocker, and he rushed to the barn and got his horses and wagons out, before giving the alarm. The horses were thoroughly frightened, and went off, doing considerable damage to lawns and gardens, and were caught Sunday noon in Waltham. The damage to the barn was about $500. The fire was supposed to be incendiary and the barn was burned Dec. 11, and had just been rebuilt, the first fire having evidently been set by some one. Matthew M. Kennedy was arrested on suspicion of having set the fire and his trial came up on Tuesday, but was postponed to Wednesday to give him a chance to secure counsel and again postponed to the morning. In the Sheehan case, incendiary fire on Crafts street, Kennedy was held in $2000, and in the case of H. G. Crocker, incendiary fire on Fayette street, $3000. He will appear before the next term of the grand jury.

—The marriage of Miss Grace Helen, daughter of Rev. H. G. Safford, and Mr. Stephen Wallace Moore, occurred Wednesday evening at the residence of the bride's father, Boyd street. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock, Rev. Mr. Safford officiating, assisted by the bride's grandfather, Rev. Noah Hooper of Exeter, N. H. Miss Emma Safford, the bride's sister, was maid of honor, and the ushers were Mr. Leslie R. Moore and Mr. George L. Safford. The bride was gowned in white silk, en train, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. The maid of honor wore a costume of white mulle and lace, and her bouquet was composed of Catherine Mermet roses and maiden hair ferns. After the ceremony a reception was held, a newly married couple receiving in the parlor under a canopy of evergreen and daisies. Supper was served by Caterer Hill, and the gifts were numerous and valuable. Mr. and Mrs. Moore departed on their wedding trip at the close of the reception. Upon their return they will reside in Sudbury, where Mr. Moore has a factory for the making of scientific instruments and has built a house for his own residence.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

A LONG SESSION AND MUCH BUSINESS.

The mayor presided at the meeting Wednesday evening and President Pettee was absent.

Notices were ordered on abutments on Hawley street of hearings relative to sewer connections; a communication from W. H. Pulsifer, Ward Six, relative to smoke nuisance was referred to the city solicitor. A communication stating that untarred pipe for plumbing could be procured was received from the New York board of health, and Commissioner Staples reported his visit to the Philadelphia board of health, and said that the foundries would all be making this pipe by October first. The agent was instructed to notify plumbers that from Jan. 1, 1893, the rules referring to untarred pipe would be strictly enforced.

The agent was authorized to procure apparatus for smoke testing of plumbing at an expense not to exceed $20.

John Gaw, T. C. Healey, Mrs. Binney, Simon McBride, C. A. King, A. J. Hargdon, were granted license to keep live fowl, E. G. Caldwell being refused.

F. J. Edes being referred to the agent and Ellis Bros. petition being tabled.

Ellis Bros. were granted two weeks time to make changes on Waltham street.

F. A. Houdlett was licensed to keep ten hens from Oct. 1 to June 1.

C. Currier was ordered to take out overflow pipe from cesspool within forty-eight hours of serving notice.

Orders were adopted requiring sewer entrance within sixty days at the following places: Avon place and 27 Thornton street, Washington street block, 38 and rear 308 Washington street, B. & A. depot, Brackett's, Howe's, Lancaster's, Warner's and Sumner's blocks, Whitman's stable, Nonantum block and stable, all houses on Nonantum place, 174, 180, 182 and 189 Nonantum street, all houses not already connected on Brooks street, houses on Eldredge and Elmwood between Baldwin and Vernon streets, 59 and 65 Elmwood street, and Messrs. Hamlin, Houdlett and Gallichan, Brighton Hill. 181 Nonantum street was given until fall to enter and 201 Washington street was referred to the city solicitor.

Sixty days were allowed for introducing proper plumbing in Eliot block.

Save Our Streets.

To the Citizens of Newton.

If you desire the use of the street railroads of Newton, of a storage battery system now in successful operation elsewhere, thoroughly tested and guaranteed by responsible parties, which will free the streets of poles and dangerous wires, be practical, safe and adequate for the wants of all the people, investigate the matter thoroughly, and be at the adjourned hearing at City Hall, June 6th at 8.30 p. m. Now is the time to act if the streets are to be saved from poles and wires.

ANNUAL MEETING

OF THE NEWTONVILLE WOMAN'S GUILD.

On Tuesday May 17, in the Methodist vestry the Guild held its annual meeting, when the report of the secretary, Mrs. Martin, was read, as also the reports of the Industrial, Charitable, Hospital and Social committees were heard and an account of the work of the Flower Mission was very pleasantly given by the chairman, Mrs. Brewer.

The Hospital Committee have expended $300 for a free bed in the Cottage Hospital and $37 for repairs and furnishings for the dining room, which they furnished when the Hospital was opened, and keep well supplied each year.

The Industrial Committee made a grand and successful endeavor to do away with the labor and worry of a fair and other similar enterprises, by soliciting two dollars from each member, and when the measure is fully understood, it is hoped money enough may be raised at other times in this way, to meet all emergencies, at a vast saving of time and strength.

Owing to the efficient work of the Associated Charities there have been fewer calls upon the Charitable Committee than usual, though some money and more clothing has been distributed to advantage. The usual contribution of $20 will be sent to the Country Week Mission.

The past season of the Guild has been recorded so many deaths, that it has caused great sadness among the members, since of their number some of the earliest and most valued have gone. Mrs. Blackard, Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Dickinson. Owing to these losses the social entertainments have been very few, comprising only the opening reception at Mrs. W. F. Kimball's, and afternoon tea to our own members and representatives of Massachusetts clubs at the close of an account of the World's Fair.

Only one public entertainment, that of Mrs. Tobey's Kitchen-gardening illustrated by living pictures. The Guild is much interested in the work for the Navajo Indians, and the committee of young ladies devoted specially to that, report the purchase of a sewing machine, asked for by Mrs. Elredge for the Navajo women in New Mexico.

The treasurer, Mrs. Geo. Cook, reports the financial position as excellent, which is very gratifying in view of anticipated work for the coming year.

Mrs. Chandler Holmes and Mrs. R. A. White represented the Guild at the Chicago Convention of Federated Clubs, and at a meeting early in June, for which the musical committee will prepare a pleasing program, Mrs. Holmes' report will be given.

A backward glance over the intellectual entertainments for the season, shows greater reliance than usual upon home talent, and is a matter for congratulation as expressing the individual ability and self reliance of the Club.

Miss Jeanette Grant gave a delightful paper early in the season, when a storm prevented many from attending, and so kindly consented to repeat it later on, when she spoke to a full house on "Outings in Edinburgh," and her listeners walked with her through the ancient streets of the city, peered into the closes, climbed to Arthur's seat, went to Linlithgow, Holyrood and Tantallon, while the singing of Scotch ballads by Mrs. S. W. French, the Misses Davis, Thompson and Wakefield added greatly to the pleasure. Mrs. Mitchell of Colorado, on the "Influence of Idealism on Literature," presented a very scholarly paper, followed by Mrs. Martin's romantic though historical story of Anacana the Indian Princess, in whom Columbus found so true a friend. Mrs. Michal Dyer gave her celebrated paper upon "The Cid," the hero of the earliest Spanish epic and of many Spanish ballads.

Mr. Henry Bailey presented very vividly the part that color plays in all our lives, and spoke of the beauty of even the most commonplace in the supreme moment which he claims for all.

Mrs. C. G. Atkins' paper on "Life in Japan" was very delightful. Her home was in Cobi, one of the principal seaports of Japan. She spoke of the life of the missionaries, of the condition of the native women, of the religious, marriage and burial ceremonies, indeed gave a graphic description of the life of this far away people.

One afternoon that earnest disciple of Sappho, Miss Anna Haydn Webster, spoke upon "Greek Ideas as applied to manner, dress and expression," and the freedom, comfort and grace suggested, and made practical by the speaker, filled one with longing to adopt them even in this nineteenth century.

Miss Hopkins of Boston presented the advantages of the Ling System of Gymnastics, assisted by young ladies from the Normal school, giving fine illustrations of the method.

Mr. E. C. Hovey, secretary of Mass. Commissioners to the Columbian Exposition, presented on April 12th, the "Work of the World's Fair," giving a practical, concise and graphic paper. Questions of interest followed, and as many representatives from out of town clubs attended, a collation was served later. Mrs. Morse and Mrs. Chapman gave papers upon "Studio Life" and "Interlaken," charmingly interesting, and Miss Esther Barry, essay on "The Ferns of New England," was very gratifying to all lovers of Nature.

Mrs. Minerva Tobey of Boston, with her class of pupils, from the North End Union, gave one of their very interesting and unique Kitchen-garden exhibitions with musical accompaniment and descriptive songs.

Miss Sparhawk's talk upon the "Indian Question," in which she is so nobly and deeply interested, held the earnest attention of all, while one rainy afternoon when only a few ventured out, Mrs. Kate Tryon of Cambridge spoke on "Birds of Newtonville," entrancing her hearers with her knowledge of the songsters of the woods and their sweet notes.

The last paper of the season was given by Mrs. Lucy Chamberlain, a Guild member, and also secretary of the Boston Castilian Club. Her subject was "Blanche of Castile." She not only drew a vivid portrait of this noble, beautiful woman, and also of her saintly son, Louis IX, of France, but gave a graphic description of the state of the whole of Europe at that time. Some beautiful photographs of Blanche, Louis IX and Marguerite his wife, and of their royal homes were shown.

The Club courtesies extended to our president and secretaries have been even more than usual and the interchange has been helpful in many ways. A club color was decided upon and mottoes of more vital importance determined. There was a general feeling manifested that the club was stronger in many branches of its work than a year ago, and happy in the thought that their popular and efficient president had consented to serve them another year.

Memorial Day Observances.

Memorial Day in Newton was recognized under the auspices of Charles Ward Post 62 G. A. R.

In the morning details from Wards 1 and 7 decorated the graves of Comrade Nowell, Army Nurse Burnham and two Revolutionary soldiers. At the same time Comrades from Wards 5 and 6 decorated the graves in Evergreen Cemetery, Newton Highlands. In addition to the ceremony of decoration brief and excellent remarks were made by Comrades T. J. Holmes and E. Gott.

The grave of Hon. J. Wiley Edmonds and Gera Cushing Edmonds at Mt. Auburn, were decorated by a detail from J. Wiley Edmonds Camp 100, Sons of Veterans.

At 10 o'clock a large delegation of the post reported at Newton Lower Falls, under command of Senior Vice commander Sheppard, and escorted by the St. John Cadets, and the boys from the Pine Farm school, proceeded to St. Mary's cemetery where sixteen graves were decorated, two of them since last Memorial Day. Brief remarks were made by Rev. Mr. Twombly and Rev. Mr. Monroe, and the Pine Farm boys sang.

The post reported for dinner at post hall at 12 o'clock, and a 1.15 train for Newtonville square for the parade. They were joined by other organizations, and under escort of the Claffin Guard, Capt. Applin, proceeded to the Newton Cemetery. The procession moved in the following order:

Platoon of Police.
City Marshal Richardson Commanding.
Crescent Band, Waltham.
Chief Marshal, A. M. Ferris and Staff.
Claffin Guards, Co. C, 5th Regt. M. V. M.
Capt. Geo. C. Applin, Commanding.
Chas. Ward Post No. 62, G. A. R.
Commander C. W. Sweetland, Commanding.
J. Wiley Edmonds Camp 100, Sons of Veterans.

Capt. Arthur S. Kimball, Commanding.
Newton High School Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps.
Newton High School Battalion,
Major R. C. Thomas, Commanding.
St. John Cadets of Newton Lower Falls.
His Honor the Mayor, and City Government.

Disabled Veterans in carriages.
At the cemetery, details were posted at each of the graves, and at the bugle call every comrade deposited his tribute of flowers, and returned to the monument grounds. Here flowers were deposited by the members of the city government, comrades of the post and members of the Sons of Veterans.

Brief patriotic remarks were made by Rev. T. J. Holmes of Newton Centre. The line was again formed, and marched over Walnut, Beacon, Centre and Vernon streets to Farlow Park. The line passed in review before the Mayor and city government who were standing in front of Eliot church.

A dress parade on the Park by the Claffin Guard and High School Battalion closed the exercises of the day, and the High School Battalion turned out about two hundred men, and had a collation in Armory hall after the line was dismissed.

The St. John Cadets turned out forty men. Post 65 had about 125 men in line. At 4 o'clock the parade closed the new field-piece of the High school battalion spoke sharply to the astonishment and surprise of many ladies and children.

The interest manifested in the doings of the day by the citizens in all parts of our city was greater than ever, and many were the kindly greetings the veterans received along the line of march from those who recognized them not only as personal friends but as veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Neighborhood Club.

The matches in the annual May tournament of the Neighborhood Club at West Newton, attracted a large number of spectators. The three dirt courts were in perfect condition, and are said to be the finest in the country.

Play commenced in the morning in gentlemen's handicap singles and gent's doubles, the best matches in the former class being between Gorham and Howland. The former put up a very strong game, and made some beautiful drives to the side lines. In the afternoon, in the finals, Gorham met Wood in the most exciting contest of the day. Notwithstanding a bad handicap, Woods won, playing in great form and scoring most of his points by careful placing. The summary is appended:

Society Club.

Last Thursday the Nucliel club, representing the different villages of Newton, met at the Boston & Albany station and devoted the entire day to "doing" old Boston.

In the beginning of the year a plan of study was mapped out, and different members have written. Wide has been the discussion and surprise to find how little was realized concerning the historic landmarks and sights, which had been "so near and yet so far" from us. In December Mrs. Henry W. Downs of Newton read a most interesting paper on the birth place of Franklin, later an original description of The Old Liberty tree was read by Mrs. C. C. Patten of Newton Centre. Miss Chaffin of Newton Highlands gave a paper on "The Old State House," Mrs. Moorehouse of Newtonville on The Old South church, Mrs. Chadwick of Newtonville on The John Hancock House, Mrs. Albert Brewer of Auburndale on Faneuil hall, Mrs. W. Peters of Newton Centre "The old Corner Book Store," Mrs. J. W. Brigham of Newton "The Province House" and Mrs. R. Rowe of West Newton "Copp's Hill and the Boston Museum." All together these studies have been exceedingly profitable as well as pleasant.

The culmination of the year's research which ended in the outing last Thursday and which brought the club face to face with the tangible, and filled them with more patriotism than could have been inspired in any other way. Some who had done every inch of Europe and had never stood on Copp's Hill, or in Faneuil hall before, exclaimed, why have we not been here before? and echo answered why?

After an excellent dinner at the Quincy house the club separated to meet in the B. & A. station on the first Sunday in June. Morning service train, where they are to attend divine service at the Paul Revere church and commune from the old silver service presented to this church by King George. All members are expected.

TENNIS TOURNEY.

WABAN VS. NEWTON BOAT CLUB.

A large number of spectators witnessed the opening league games on the courts of the Waban Racquet Club, Newton, Saturday. The contestants in singles were E. R. Speare, champion of Boston University, representing the Newton Boat Club, and Allen Emery of Newton, representing the Waban Racquet Club. Emery won 6-4, 6-2.

In doubles Speare and Fairbrother represented the Newton Boat Club and Paul Savage and Partridge the Waban Racquet Club. Savage and Partridge won. 7-5, 4-6, 6-2.

WELLESLEY HILLS VS WABAN.
Frank Noon and G. A. Cabot represented the Wellesley Hills Lawn Tennis Association in the interclub tennis league at Newton Monday, and they had little trouble beating their opponents of the Waban Racquet Club.

Unfortunately for various causes, the Waban club could not present its best players, though Allen Emery made a plucky fight against Frank Noon, in singles, though defeated 6-1 and 6-2.

Emery could not play in the doubles, and, rather than default, Messrs. Hornbrook and Flinn of home team, stepped against the couple from Wellesley Hills. The result was disastrous for Newton, her men losing 6-0 and 6-1.

Noon and Cabot gave Flinn and Hornbrook little opportunity to get a point, nearly all the games in the first, a love set, being lost games. Hornbrook made some mis-terrors, Flinn knocked the ball into the net several times. Noon used his lively smash stroke from the net, with which his opponents are so familiar, to great advantage.

In the second set Wellesley won the first two games to 15, the third a love game. In the fourth Emery made a point on lively serves, but repeated drives into the net by Newton men, and smashes of Noon won Wellesley the game. The fifth was a surprise. Cabot's drive into the net, Noon's return out of court, Cabot's serve beyond the line, and Flinn's broke's stroke from the net won Newton a love game. Wellesley returned the compliment by making the next a love game in its favor, and won the seventh, and set and match, hands down.

Field Day.

The Newton Natural History Society will have a "Field Day" to Prospect Hill, Waltham, on Saturday afternoon, June 11th.

The party for the tramp can assemble at the Waltham terminal of the electric railroad about 2.15 p. m. Those coming late will find the party at the highest peak of the Hill, where the exercises will take place.

The electric cars that leave Newton at 1.15, 1.30, or 1.45 will be convenient and timely. All those who would like to accompany the Natural History society on this outing are most cordially invited to do so.

The walk from the electric cars to the hilltop is about one mile, easy and delightful and the view from the summit is one that will amply repay the little exertion and time.

Short talks in the Geology, Botany etc. of the region will be made by George L. Chandler, Prof. C. J. Maynard, Prof. S. E. Warren, Dr. J. F. Frisbie and others. The party will be under the guidance of Dr. J. F. Frisbie to whom inquiries for further information can be made.

Short Saturday the 11th is a stormy and unfavorable day for the "Field Day" will be postponed to Saturday the 18th.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

TREMONT THEATRE.—The sale of seats is now in progress for the first week of the production at the Tremont Theatre, to be given in all the summer of C. M. S. McEllan and Edgar Sullivan Kelley's new opera "Puritania; or, The Earl and the Maid of Salem." Messrs. Abbey & Schoeffel will, by June 6 (when the opera will be first presented), have completed the refitting of the auditorium of the theatre for the summer months, and will have the production ready with gorgeous new scenery and beautiful appointments.

Manager Geo. B. McEllan will furnish as fine a company as has ever engaged in such a production. Miss Pauline Hall, whose beauty and whose rare vocal gifts are well known here, heads this organization. Miss Louise Baudet, Miss Edith Sinclair, Miss Irene Verona, all have most acceptable roles in the work. Mr. Fred Solomon, a comedian with few equals, who is, however, content to not be a star; Mr. Edw. Favor, well known from his "Ship Ahoy" popularity; Mr. John Brand, the best baritone in light opera in this country; Mr. Arthur E. Miller, another fine baritone, also have great roles dramatically and musically in the work, and an orchestra of thirty and a chorus of fifty will also engage in the production.

Naming and Numbering Country Streets.

The ten-block system of numbering country residences is growing in California and proving popular. Every road is named and measured off in blocks of one-tenth of a mile each. Two numbers are assigned to each block, the odd ones upon the left, the even ones upon the right. Each house has the number of the block upon which the entrance is located. The same number followed by a letter indicates all succeeding houses in that block, consequently the street and number of a house not only locates it but tells how far it is from the beginning of the street.

NEW BOOKS.

"Dukesborough Tales, The Chronicles of Mr. Bill Williams," is the latest volume in Appletons' Town and Country Library. Colonel Richard Malcolm Johnston, the author, gives as faithful pictures of Southern rural life as Miss Wilkes does of New England, and his Bill Williams is called one of the most characteristic products of southern literature. The author has selected from "Dukesborough Tales," six stories which describe the remarkable career of the hero, the stories forming one continuous whole. The stories abound in humorous touches, are full of local color, and furnish delightful summer reading. The main incidents are founded on the author's recollection of Powelton, a small village in Hancock county, Georgia, near which he was born, and the Goose-neck school, the "flurrying" of Mr. Bill Williams, and his descriptions of his experiences with Mr. Lively, and the account of the duel with Col. Grice, are among the most entertaining things in modern literature.

THE KANSAS CONFLICT.

is the title of a rather remarkable book by Chas. Robinson, late governor of Kansas, and published by Harper & Brothers. It is in the nature of an autobiography, and the writer evidently has a sufficiently good opinion of himself, which he takes no pains to conceal throughout the book. His own importance is so great, that he is unable to see any merit in other men whose names are more familiar to the public, such as John Brown, whom he styles "murderer and coward," or Secretary Stanton, or any others who happened to differ with him in his views of Kansas. Mr. Robinson was once a power in Kansas affairs and according to his own account the state could not have existed without him in the years from 1855 to 1863. The book is dedicated to Eli Thayer, and it somewhat resembles the remarkable volume written by that gentleman some years ago. Mr. Robinson has written so much, in the papers and elsewhere, and his statements have been so inconsistent and contradictory, that he has lost the respect that was due him, and if his book was written to recover the lost ground, it will probably fail of its purpose. It presents the case as Mr. Robinson saw it, and in his mind his view of events is the only view that any honest man could possibly take, and much of the book is devoted to the effort to prove this to be the case. He is not a judicious writer, and a good deal of the book resembles the extreme partisan editorials in the daily papers, which seem so ridiculous the next day after they appear.

A writer in the Housewife says never in the world's history have the relations between women been so cordial and beneficial as now. The long crusade in behalf of "woman's rights" though not yet a success so far as the ballot is concerned, has steadily year by year been drawing woman into a broader understanding of woman.

I Was Disgusted with the learned doctors after swallowing their costly pills in vain for over a year for the relief of catarrh in my head, when I cured myself by using six bottles of Sulphur Bitters. My wife is now taking them for nervous debility.—Abiet Carter, Parker House, Boston.

Ayer's Pills

Are compounded with the view to general usefulness and adaptability. They are composed of the purest vegetable aperients. Their delicate sugar-coating, which readily dissolves in the stomach, preserves their full medicinal value and makes them easy to take, either by old or young. For constipation, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, and the common derangements of the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels; also, to check colds and fevers, Ayer's Pills

Are the Best

Unlike other cathartics, the effect of Ayer's Pills is to strengthen the excretory organs and restore to them their regular and natural action. Doctors everywhere prescribe them. In spite of immense competition, they have always maintained their popularity as a family medicine, being in greater demand now than ever before. They are put up both in vials and boxes, and whether for home use or travel, Ayer's Pills are preferable to any other. Have you ever tried them?

Are you going to Paint this Spring?—The weather is about right for painting, the outside of your house is thoroughly dry and there will be little chance for cracking or peeling. Water in the wood you paint, or water in the paint you use, has to get out in some way, hence the peeling.

Linseed oil costs the manufacturer o paint more money than water, and water in paint costs the man who uses the paint more money than linseed oil. We want to warn you that water in paint is dangerous. How can you tell? The water paints are cheaper. You can be on the safe side, however, by using the Chilton Paints. They are pure linseed oil paints, and contain no water.

THE SAGAMORE LAND CO.,

with offices at 75 State St., Boston, and at Nantasket, have purchased that beautiful tract of land called Sagamore Hill at Nantasket, and have thus placed in the market one of the finest sites for seashore residences that can be found on the whole South Shore of Massachusetts.

New streets have been built around the hill instead of over it, making each lot easy of access, an abundance of pure water has been provided, and drainage, that bane of the average summer resort, finds here a natural outlet. "The outlook from Sagamore Hill is one of the grandest conceivable, having no check for miles in either direction. At our feet lies the beautiful Hingham Bay dotted with numerous islands. In the distance, gently rising from the shores of the bay to the base of the Blue Hill range, the whole Quincy territory lies outspread before you. Farther southward, with more islands, and water patches, and headlands, and tortuous channels in the foreground of the picture, the shores of Weymouth and Hingham are equally discernible, while nearer at hand rugged Cohasset looms up seaward, its broken outline and rock-scarred features terminating in a scene of beauty, Nantasket Beach and its varied belongings. Northward and eastward the horizon forms the only limit to the view. In pleasant weather the features of the North Shore away round to East Boston are plainly discernible. The outlook in any direction is upon superb water views intermingled with the fairest landscapes of island and ocean." These lots are for sale at prices that bring them within easy reach of every one desirous of locating a summer home by the sea, and full information will be furnished at the offices of the Company.

MR. BEECHER'S FIRST SERMON.

His Widow Describes the Great Preacher's First Brooklyn Sermon.

Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher gives an interesting account of the first sermon preached by Mr. Beecher in Plymouth church, Brooklyn, in her fifth paper on "Mr. Beecher as I Knew Him" in The Ladies' Home Journal. A perfect flood of warnings and criticisms came to him before his first sermon. Doubtless all these warnings determined Mr. Beecher more than ought else that the people of his new church should fully understand before he was installed what course he was likely to pursue. He told me that if Plymouth church decided to install him, it would do so with its eyes wide open. It was upon the evening of Sunday, Oct. 10, 1847. He sat quietly on the pulpit while the choir was singing. His eyes scanned the concourse of people before him, but it was the look of confidence that I saw.

Knowing as I did something of what he intended to say, I could not but think, "Will these people accept the bold course he has marked out for his work from one so young looking?" For his ten years of labor at the west had not rubbed the youth from his face. I noticed the almost contemptuous looks of the strangers present as they watched his face. As he rose to read the Scriptures a deathlike silence pervaded the great church. But not a tremor was visible in the voice that spoke. With that mellow voice which the Brooklyn public learned so well to know he read the lesson of the evening as if he were before his Lawrenceburg audience. Then as he uttered the first low sentence of his prayer, as his heart rose heavenward, the effect of the preacher became visible on his congregation, and he brought his hearers close to the mercy seat. All was changed. An almost breathless solemnity pervaded the church, and tears were on many faces.

The youthful look vanished and did not return, as in his sermon he plainly and with great solemnity showed his hearers the course duty called him to pursue. As he said of these remarks years after: "I lifted up the banner and blew the trumpet in the application of Christianity to intemperance, to slavery and all other great national sins. I said to those present, 'If I remain here and you come to this church it must at the commencement be distinctly understood that I wear no fetters, that I will be bound by no precedent, and that I will preach the Gospel as I apprehend it, whether men will hear or whether they will forbear, and I will apply it sharply and strongly to the overthrow of every evil and to the upbuilding of all that is good.'"

After the close of the sermon many came to counsel Mr. Beecher. They were actuated by kindness to him and anxiety for the church. Such bold, plain speaking they did not understand. They had never been used to it. It would overthrow this young church.

"Don't ally yourself to unpopular men or unpopular causes," they told him. "There is no call for it. You will only injure yourself and break up this church." After preaching a month in Plymouth church he was installed as pastor on Nov. 11, 1847.

Won the Case.

"If you were a jury, Clara," said the embarrassed young lawyer hesitatingly, "I could plead my cause with more self possession. In the courts of—er—of law—I don't think I stack up as a first class advocate."

"Perhaps you have not had an extensive practice in such courts, William," suggested the maiden softly. "That's it exactly, Clara!" eagerly rejoined the young man, moving his chair a little nearer. "I'm a green hand at this business; but if I could feel sure the jury—"

"Meaning me?"

"Yes—wasn't prejudiced against the advocate?"

"Meaning you?"

"Yes—why, then, I might?"

"What kind of jury are you considering me, William?" she asked, with eyes downcast.

"A—h'm—petit jury of course. You couldn't be a grand jury, you know, dear!"

"Why not?"

"Because we don't try cases before grand juries."

"I think, William," said the young girl blushing, "I would rather for this occasion be considered a grand jury."

"Why?"

"Because"—and she hid her face somewhere in the vicinity of his coat collar—"I have found a true Bill!"—Chicago Tribune.

Settling Pronunciation.

"I was arguing with an Englishman the other day," said a New Yorker, "over the pronunciation of a word, and finally I said, 'We'll leave it to Webster.' 'What if you do?' cried the Englishman, 'that's only one man's opinion. I've heard that you Americans refer everything to a dictionary.' Surprised, I asked what was the custom in England, and he told me that Oxford and Cambridge were the accepted referees. Neither seat of learning takes precedence of the other, but over all other authorities, and if two men can prove respectively their claimed pronunciations to be sanctioned by the two universities, both are right.—New York Times.

Aluminum Coins.

Aluminum is suggested for coining by Sir Henry Bessemer in discussing the demand for a token at the value of one pound. Aluminum is so light that if taken from the pocket in the dark it would be instantly recognized as neither gold nor silver. Also the weight of lead or pewter alloys would make it impossible to pass off spurious aluminum coins.—Philadelphia Ledger.

THE COUNCILLORSHIP.

The mention of the name of Mr. J. R. Leeson for the next councillor from this district has been received with great favor, both in Newton and elsewhere, as it is felt that just such men are needed in the council, if that body is to command popular respect. It was originally intended that the councillors should be men fitted to advise the governor, and do something more than merely to confirm or reject his appointments. But this have been lost sight of in late years, and the office has gone to politicians anxious for the honor, or to men whom their party wished to reward without too great cost to itself. For this reason the council has come to be regarded very much as the fifth wheel to a coach, and its abolition has been advocated.

If the council is to remain, it should be restored to its old position of honor, and men chosen whose good judgment and ability to give advice are universally recognized. Among the great merchants of Boston, there is no one who stands higher than Mr. J. R. Leeson, or whose advice is more frequently sought on all important matters. It would be difficult to name an important committee of the Boston Merchants' Association, or of the Home Market Club, or on any of the matters vitally affecting the merchants of Boston, on which Mr. Leeson has not served, and all this shows his eminent fitness for the position of councillor.

As a citizen of Newton, Mr. Leeson has been foremost in every good cause, and his munificent gifts to the Cottage Hospital and the Newton Centre playground, will be readily recalled, while he has always responded to every demand made upon his purse or his time. To such a public-spirited citizen Newton owes a great deal, and the mention of his name for this office has especially pleased Newton people.

Those who know Mr. Leeson will not need to be told that he is not an office seeker, and that he never would ask any man for his support. But in this case his friends have taken the matter in hand, and have persuaded him to simply allow the use of his name, and they will attend to the rest.

In presenting his name to the convention, Newton would honor itself even more than it honored Mr. Leeson, as it would show that in Newton character and ability count for something, and that we still have some regard for the old-fashioned notion that the office ought to seek the man best qualified to fill it.

The business like way in which hearing before the board of aldermen are conducted, is a subject of general comment and Mayor Hibbard has a very summary way of keeping the speakers to the question under discussion, which enables the board to get through its business and adjourn at a reasonable hour. Under some former Mayors, the opposite practice was pursued, and any hearing of importance was apt to spin out until long after midnight, more to the gratification of the speakers than to that of the aldermen, the reporters, or those who were waiting their turn to be heard. Under the present regulations, those who wish to be heard should get up their case with some care beforehand, find out the facts and arguments that are of importance to bring to the attention of the board, and in fact to pursue a business like course, such as they would think should be done at a hearing in which they have no interest but which must be got through with before their case can come up. A brief plain statement of facts and arguments has more effect upon the board of aldermen, than any long winded orations, or confused statement of matters having but little bearing on the case. If the end sought is to influence the action of the board, Mayor Hibbard's course will be conceded to be the most judicious one, as the aldermen are not left hopelessly confused by several hours of talk, in which the wheat and the chaff are inextricably mixed up. A case can be stated in five minutes, oftentimes, much more forcibly than if it is spread out in a speech of an hour's length.

The Board of Aldermen give a number of hearings next Monday evening, some of which promise to be rather protracted. The storage battery hearing will probably call out a great number from Newton Highlands, and further evidence will be presented of the success of storage batteries. The proposed widening of Beacon street from the reservoir to New-

THE ROYAL Baking Powder exceeds all others in leavening power, in purity and wholesomeness, and is used generally in families, exclusively in the most celebrated hotels and restaurants, by the United States Army and Navy, and wherever the best and finest food is required. All teachers of cooking schools and lecturers upon culinary matters, except the employes of manufacturers of other brands, use and recommend the Royal.

New-York State Analyst:

The Royal Baking Powder is superior to any other powder which I have examined; a baking powder unequalled for purity, strength and wholesomeness.

The United States Government tests (Ag'l Dep. bulletin 13, p. 599) show the Royal Baking Powder superior to all others.

ton Centre has also aroused a good deal of interest and will probably call out a crowd from Newton Centre in favor and from Chestnut Hill in opposition, and the widening of South street is also proposed. The session promises to be rather protracted, as the petitioners and remonstrants who only visit City Hall once a year are always willing to make a night of it, while the Mayor and aldermen, who have to go through the same routine every week, are not so enthusiastic.

THERE seems to be an epidemic of street widening schemes, all of more or less merit, but this does not distract attention from the one of chief importance, the widening of Washington street. That is conceded to be an absolute necessity, and the sooner it is done, the better for the interests of the city. The street now is unsafe for driving, and is not a credit to the city. The proposed elevation of the railroad tracks furnishes a splendid opportunity for the work, and it can be done now under especially favorable circumstances. The report of the City Engineer of the probable cost of the hundred feet widening, and also of a widening to 75 feet will be looked for with interest, but, all the same, nothing short of one hundred feet should be accepted.

THERE is a good deal of opposition to the elevation of the railroad tracks through Newton, and many people dislike it more, the more they think of it. Residents near the tracks say the noise and dust will be unbearable, while the high embankment will shut off all air in summer, and form a complete division between the two sides of the city. They say that the only objection to lowering the tracks, which would do away with all these objections, is the fear of a snow blockade in winter, and we do not have a snow storm once in a half dozen years of sufficient depth to cause any trouble. A petition is in circulation for another hearing on the question.

WEDNESDAY and Thursday were the hottest days at this season of the year since 1870, and the rain this morning was a welcome change to sweltering humanity. 92 in the shade took every one unprepared.

Work of Women in Philanthropy.
The lady managers of the World's fair are in communication with Mrs. Aubrey H. Smith, of Philadelphia, who compiled a book of interesting and valuable statistics for the Centennial concerning the charities conducted by women. It is the intention of the woman's board to take up the work begun by Mrs. Smith and bring it up to date, showing the advancement of women in philanthropy during the last decade. The lady managers have already collected much supplementary data of an international character, and are consulting Mrs. Smith as to the best methods suggested by her experience in arranging the available materials. —Philadelphia Ledger.

A Difference in Calling.
In the south the voices of women as well as of men were often utilized for "long distance calls." It may be amusing to note the difference in intonation which was usually exhibited by the sexes. When a man had occasion to summon any one from a distance, the prolonged tone was placed on the first note, the emphasis on the second; thus, "O—h, John!" If a female called, the prolonged tone and the emphasis were both placed on the last note; thus, "You, John—y!" —Dr. J. Harvie Dew in Century.

The Man in the Infant.
If a baby has a will of his own he will be intolerant of neglect, and whatever he wants he will want at once and there will be noise and a hullabaloo if he is kept waiting. Thus, in embryo, is seen the irascible, impatient and dictatorial man. —Cor. Baby.

Friends of the Grip.
An elderly man in Deering recently recovered from an attack of the grip that cost him his teeth and nearly cost him his life. He was taken suddenly and violently ill and the same day every tooth in his upper jaw became so loose that he could move them with his tongue and so sore that he could not masticate. They were sound enough before to warrant their lasting several years, but they all had to be extracted. —Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

Natural Inquisitiveness.
At one of the grammar schools in this city the fourth grade pupils were not long since reading the story of an important battle during the rebellion. The text read, "Both sides fought with dogged pertinacity." When this point was reached a boy in one of the back seats raised his hand and calmly inquired, "What kind of weapons are those?" —Buffalo Express.

Iron shoes were first nailed to the hoofs of war horses in the Ninth century; they were first introduced into England by William II, about the year 1088.

Nearly a thousand people committed suicide in Paris during the year 1891. The favorite method was by drowning, by which 231 ended their existence.

The most eminent Egyptologists place the date of the first use of glass at a period too remote to be given in years.

In the Country Store.
Some of the snowbound passengers at one of the depots near Utica were telling stories the other day, and a traveling man was relating his experience in a country store in a small town in Jefferson county. He said he was there nearly the entire forenoon, and had occasion to note the peculiarities of the storekeeper, who carried a general stock, but a pretty small one. Every little while a customer would come into the store and inquire for some article that the merchant did not happen to have in stock. For instance:
"Have you any dried beef, Mr. Cash-drawer?"
"No, we have no dried beef today, but we have some nice codfish. John, show this lady the codfish."
"Do you keep any such thing as wicks for those big, round lamp burners?"
"We generally do, but happen to be out just now. We have some fine cotton clotheslines, though. John, show the gentleman the clotheslines."
"My gals wanted me to bring them home some confectioner's sugar. Have you got any of it, Cashdrawer?"
"Sold the last ounce about an hour ago, Henry. We've got an excellent quality of toilet soap, though. John, show Mr. Adams the soap."
"Do you keep ready made flannel skirts?"
"Have had them all winter, and sold three to a lady yesterday, which cleaned the stock out. But we have a large supply of overalls. John, show this lady the overalls." —Utica Observer.

Civilization and Wilderness.
Upon the 1,500 miles of the shore of Lake Superior there are living now less than 150,000 persons, and these are mainly in bustling cities like Duluth, Superior and Marquette, in industrial colonies like Calumet and Red Jacket, or in struggling little ports like Fort William and Port Arthur. Even there the wilderness and primeval conditions are face to face with the robust civilization which is shouldering its way as capital is accustomed to do rather than as natural growth usually asserts itself. Not that it is not a wholly natural growth which we find at all points on the lake shore, for it is all in response to the inexorable laws of supply and demand. Yet the communities there have sprung into being far apart from well settled regions in answer to these laws.

Thus it happens that today one may ride in an electric street car to the starting point for a short walk to a trout stream, or one may take the steam railroad and in an hour alight at a forest station, breakfasting there, but enjoying for luncheon a cut of the deer or a dish of the trout or the partridge which he has killed for the purpose. It is, so to say, a region wherein the wholesale fisherman with his steamboat disturbs the red man who is spearing a fish for supper, where the wolf blinks in the glare of the electric lamp, and where the patent stump puller and the beaver work side by side. —Julian Ralph in Harper's.

The Moqui Indians.
A hundred miles north of the Petrified forest and well into the edge of the Arizona desert are the seven strange and seldom visited Pueblo cities of Moqui. They all have wildly unpronounceable names, like Hualpi, A-hu-tu and Mish-on-go-avi, and all are built on the summits of almost inaccessible mesas— islands of solid rock, whose generally perpendicular cliff walls rise high from the surrounding plain. They are very remarkable towns in appearance, set upon dizzy sites, with quaint terraced houses of adobe, and queer little corrals for the animals in nooks and angles of the cliff, and giving far outlook across the browns and yellows and the spectral peaks of that weird plain. But they look not half so remarkable as they are.

The most remote from civilization of all the Pueblos, the least affected by the Spanish influence which so wonderfully ruled over the enormous area of the southwest, and practically untouched by the later Saxon influence, the Indians of the Moqui towns retain almost entirely their wonderful customs of before the conquest. Their languages are different from those of any other of the Pueblos; and their mode of life—though to a hasty glance the same—is in many ways unlike that of their brethren in New Mexico. —Charles F. Lummis in St. Nicholas.

A Detroit Man's Cane.
A Detroit man has a novel walking cane that represents the work of odd hours every day for six weeks. It is made of old postage stamps of various denominations and six nationalities—United States, Canadian, English, French, German and Italian. It took 5,014 stamps to make a cane. The face value of the stamps was $100. The surface of the cane, when the stamps were all on, was filed smooth and finished until it glazed. A heavy gold knob completes one of the handsomest and most unique canes ever seen in Detroit. —Philadelphia Ledger.

Telling the Bees.
The curious custom of "telling the bees" is observed in some parts of nearly every country in the world. Those who observe the custom always go to the beehives and tap gently on each one, then stoop and whisper under the cap or lid that Mary, Jane, Thomas or William is dead. This is done to keep the little honey-makers from forsaking their place of abode should they have to wait and find out the news of the calamity themselves. The custom is alluded to in Whittier's poem, "Telling the Bees." —St. Louis Republic.

East and West.
The failure of the people of the Atlantic states to understand the area, conditions, products and needs of the west is not infrequently illustrated in national legislation. The late Editor Bundy, of the New York Mail and Express, said a short time before his death:
"The people of the east know little about the west, but I have always found that the people of the west were well informed about the east." —San Francisco Examiner.

The subject for the evening will be "Like begets like," Prov. 27:19, 15:1. Mr. C. I. Freeman, president of the Waltham Society, will conduct the meeting.

—Miss Grant, who comes from San Francisco for a visit to Mrs. Francis Chamberlain, just in time for our June reception, while very charming in her own personality, is greeted even more cordially the moment she enters the room, as she is the bride's grand-daughter, and one is sure to recognize anew her sweet dignity and genial manner in this fair young girl from the Pacific coast.

—On next Wednesday afternoon, June 8, at 4 o'clock the Guild will receive its members and friends in the Universalist parlors. Music and readings and a social chat at the close. Mrs. Chandler Holmes will tell the Guild of the pleasant time she had in Chicago at the convention of the Federation of Clubs, that great assembly of bright women from all over the country and of what they said and did. A large attendance is anticipated.

—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Jones gave their first "At Home" at their residence, 70 Newtonville avenue, Wednesday evening. They have been recently returned from their wedding tour, and received their guests standing in a recess under a horn of plenty composed of Catherine Mermet and Niphetus roses. The table was tastefully decorated with palms, roses, honeysuckle and ferns from the conservatories of J. Frank Curtis. A collation was served, and music was furnished by Russell's orchestra. Mrs. Jones (Miss Jenneville Teter), was a Southern girl, a former resident of Athens, Tenn.

—Miss Luella J. Wadsworth and Mr. William Herbert Andrews were married at noon Wednesday at the residence of the bride's mother, Miss Susan Wadsworth, Highland avenue. The ceremony was private, only relatives and intimate friends being present. Rev. Ira A. Priest officiated. The bride wore a white silk and lace garment, long tulle veil and corsage bouquet of lilies of the valley. Following the ceremony, a reception was held, at the close of which the happy couple departed on their wedding tour. They received a large number of costly and valuable wedding gifts. After the honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Andrews will reside in Newtonville.

—Miss Margaret Worcester gave a reception to the members of the Guild and other guests at her home on Highland avenue, Wednesday morning. A few days ago she had been there was a very large attendance to meet the fair hostess. Miss Worcester was assisted in receiving by Mrs. G. T. Hill the genial president of the Guild, Mrs. Charles Crain and Mrs. Theodore Clark presided in the dining room, assisted by a bevy of charming young girls. The musicians, stationed at one end of the broad veranda, added greatly to the enjoyment, furnishing pleasing accompaniment to the merry buzz of conversation as the guests passed to and fro through the wide flung doors, or chatted on the lawn, where a cool breeze and a grand outlook tempted one to linger in happy company. The occasion will be a delightful remembrance as Miss Worcester goes soon to her mountain home for the summer.

—Charles Thrasher, a resident of this place, died of lockjaw at the Cottage Hospital, Wednesday morning. Two weeks ago the deceased went to a fire on Crafts street, and in rendering assistance in removing articles from the burning building stepped on a rusty nail, receiving a deep wound in the ball of the foot. The injury caused him no serious annoyance at first, and he continued to work, although against the advice of his physician. As the wound became more painful he was urged by his friends to give up work for a while. He kept on, however, largely because of the demands of a large family, and from the belief that he could not afford to sacrifice the time. A few days ago he was compelled to give up, and was taken to the hospital, where he grew gradually worse until death resulted. Mr.

Thrasher was a carpenter by trade, and was a member of the Immanuel Baptist church. He was a man of excellent disposition and character. His height was something extraordinary—6 feet, 3 inches. A widow and seven children survive him.

—Miss Annie E. Grant and Mr. Lincoln Brown were married Wednesday afternoon at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. C. B. Somers, Lo-ell street. The ceremony occurred at 3 o'clock, Rev. Ira A. Priest, pastor of the Universalist church, officiating. The bride was gowned in white silk, on train, wore the usual long veil, caught up with a spray of orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. After the ceremony a reception for the relatives and near friends was held, the newly wedded couple receiving in the parlor, tastefully decorated with palms, roses and hydrangeas. The ushers were Messrs. C. B. Somers of Newtonville and H. R. Leighton of Medford. The presents, of great variety and beauty, were displayed in an upper apartment. Among them worthy of special mention was a Morris chair from the Boston woolen house of Warren & Blanchard and a beautiful water color from the Newtonville Neighborhood Club, executed by Mr. Walter Chaloner. At the close of the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Brown departed on their wedding tour. Upon their return they will reside in this village.

—At the annual meeting of the Newton Woman's Suffrage Association, held at the residence of Mrs. Dr. F. E. Crockett, Wednesday evening, these officers were elected: N. T. Allen, president; Mrs. J. H. Sawyer, Mrs. B. Davis, vice-presidents; Mrs. Louise A. Chapman, secretary; Mr. S. R. Urbino, treasurer; Mrs. E. N. L. Walton, Mrs. J. M. Hastings, Mrs. Flora D. Sampson, Mrs. Kate M. Cook, Mrs. M. H. Cole, Mrs. B. Worring White, directors. After the business session addresses were given by William Lloyd Garrison, Miss A. M. Beecher and others.

—At a meeting of ladies in Odd Fellows' hall, Monday evening, further steps were taken in the plan of organizing a Rebekah degree lodge. A committee was appointed to arrange necessary details. Signatures are being secured to the petition for a charter to be sent to the grand lodge, I. O. O. F., in due season. There are nearly one hundred names on the paper. The lodge will be instituted, probably in October, and will start with a membership of about 200.

Piophobia

At which "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table" makes merry, has its origin in the unpleasant results which many people experience after eating pie. This discomfort, or distress, is nothing more than the protest of our digestive organs against hog's grease.

The ordinary stomach draws the line at the "richness" produced by the use of lard. Aware of this fact, modern science has introduced a clean, delicate, vegetable substitute for lard. It is called

COTTOLENE

By its use good pie and good health are easily harmonized. It excels lard for every household use. A trial will convince you. Make it now. At leading grocers. Beware of imitations.

COLUMBUS DAY, OCT. 12.

LOCAL OBSERVANCES SUGGESTED.

The Day Should Be Signalized in Every Town and Village in the Republic by a Local Celebration of Which the Public School Is the Center.

To the scholars of the public schools of the United States the executive committee of the Columbian public school celebration sends the following message:

The 12th of October, 1892, the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America, ought to be observed everywhere in America.

The day will be marked in Chicago by the dedication of the Columbian exposition grounds. The day also may be signalized in every town and village in the republic by a local celebration of which the public school is the center.

The public schools of the republic will form the most fitting centers for all these local celebrations. A national public school observance simultaneous with the Chicago exercises will awaken a popular interest in the coming exposition. Far more important is the fact that the public school has the right to occupy the most prominent place in the celebration. The public school is the one characteristic institution which links all the neighborhoods together, and can thus furnish a common bond for a national celebration. The public school is the ripe fruit of the four centuries of American civilization. The public school of today sways the hundred years to come.

How It Came About.
The first approval of this suggestion came from the public school scholars themselves. When the plan was first proposed by The Youth's Companion, January, 1891, thousands of letters were received, testifying to the enthusiasm with which the scholars responded.

The world's congress auxiliary of the Columbian exposition then took up the proposal, calling upon all the people of the republic to observe the day in their own localities, and suggesting that the public schools be everywhere the centers of the celebration.

The superintendents of education were the next to recognize the fitness of giving to the public schools the first place in this Columbian anniversary. At their national convention in Brooklyn in February, 1892, they took charge of the movement, and appointed the undersigned an executive committee to lead the schools in their commemoration.

Appeal to the Scholars.
This executive committee now appeals to the scholars themselves to be the first to move. It is for you, scholars of the American public schools, to arouse a sentiment in your schools and in your neighborhoods for this grand day of celebrating the finding of America. Educators and teachers will meet you from their side. But it is for you to begin.

There are 13,000,000 now in the public schools. You have the chance to conduct a patriotic movement which will have a place in history, and will strengthen the republic through the coming century.

What to Do.
The first thing to do is to determine, when you read this message, that you will do all you can to induce your school to enter the celebration. Then show this message to your teachers; every patriotic teacher will be glad to help you if you show yourselves in earnest. Take the message to the school committee and the superintendent—their consent and aid are indispensable.

After you secure the support of all these, then let the school vote that it will enter the celebration. The next thing after this public vote will be the appointment of a strong committee made up jointly from citizens, scholars and teachers to take charge. The committee should in all cases consist of those most in earnest, so that the work may not be checked by any possible change of teachers during the summer.

The Programme.
A programme of exercises will be furnished by the executive committee. It will be simple and adapted to any school, yet so arranged that more elaborate exercises may be added wherever desired. The aim of this official programme will be that certain leading exercises may be the same in every school in the republic, and that at least in one feature the Chicago programme and the school programme may be identical.

In due time this executive committee will make further suggestions.

The Local Committee.
The duty of your committee will first be to interest the citizens and to prepare the school. Precessions may be arranged. The veterans, both north and south, will gladly be escorts for the schools. The other military, civic and religious organizations of each town will lend their aid if they see that the schools are determined that the celebration shall be worthy of the day. The local press will be the most valuable of all supporters.

On Oct. 12 the stars and stripes should be floating from every school house in the republic.

It is the hope of the friends of common school education that not one public school in the United States will allow itself to be left out in this most memorable celebration.

Executive Committee.
Francis Bellamy, chairman, representing Youth's Companion, Boston.

Bathing on the Charles.

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic:
Dear Sir: It seems time that steps were taken to stop bathing on the Charles River. It was bad enough last year to see naked boys in the bath and in the water, but this year it has got to be an outrage upon decency. Tuesday afternoon while a canoe full of ladies were passing the point on the Auburndale side just below the Weston bridge, several naked boys swam out to the canoe and reviled the occupants with all manner of vile and indecent talk. A few moments later another canoe passed and was hailed by the same fellows, who had in the mean time swam to the shore, with no less dirty and scurrilous language, accompanied by many obscene gestures.

On none of the numerous ponds of Newton is such a thing tolerated for a moment, and there can be no reason why it should be put up with on the Charles River, which is rapidly becoming the favorite resort of hundreds of ladies and children on these warm afternoons and evenings.

If a few signs could be put up forbidding bathing, at least without suits, and if a policeman would once in a while visit the spot, the evil would be mitigated if not done away with.

I had catarrh of the head and throat for five years. I used Ely's Cream Balm, and from the first application I was relieved. The sense of smell, which had been lost, was restored after using one bottle. I have found the Balm the only satisfactory remedy for catarrh, and it has effected a cure in my case.—H. L. Meyer, Waverley, N. Y.

Handsome Versus Homely.
Who is that fine looking lady that we just passed, Clara? Why, that is Mrs. Suow. Well, there, with a change; when I saw her last, her skin was so sallow and muddy looking, it's no wonder I didn't know her. What has produced that lovely complexion? I heard that she took Sulphur Bitters, the great Blood Purifier, and now would not be without them.

It is no longer "good company manners" not to have any choice or preference when asked by the host at dinner to nominate something.

THE NEWTONS VICTORIOUS.

NEWTONS, 22; REVERE ATHLETICS, 0.

The Reverses were sadly outclassed at Walworth's field, Monday morning, being easily shut out for eight innings. The home nine had young Russell in the points for five innings, and he struck out 10 men. Gormley alone of the visitors fielded well. Brown and Hubbard batted strongly, while McLean, Slade and Wheeler retired the whole 24 men:

Heads off disease—Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. In a way, that you can understand, too, by purifying the blood. When you're weak, dull and languid, or when blotches and eruptions appear—that's the time to take it, no matter what the season. It's easier to prevent than to have to cure.

For all diseases caused by a torpid liver or impure blood, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Scrofulous, Skin, or Scalp Diseases—even Consumption (or Lung-scrofula), in its earlier stages, the "Discovery" is the only remedy that's guaranteed. If it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back.

You pay only for the good you get.

The proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy lose $500 if you're not cured of Catarrh. They promise to pay you that if they can't cure you. What do you lose by trying it? Is there anything to risk, except your Catarrh?

A NATURAL REMEDY FOR Epileptic Fits, Falling Sickness, Hysterics, St. Vitus Dance, Nervousness, Hypochondria, Melancholia, Insanity, Sleeplessness, Dizziness, Brain and Spinal Weakness.

This medicine has direct action upon the nerve centers, allaying all irritabilities, and increasing the flow and power of nerve fluid. It is perfectly harmless and leaves no unpleasant effects.

A Valuable Book on Nervous Diseases sent free to any address. This medicine free of charge. This remedy has been prepared by the late Dr. J. C. Koenig, of Fort Wayne, Ind., since 1858, and is now prepared under his direction by the

—The new mail box has been placed just across Union street from the centre of the depot, the most convenient place available, and it has already become very popular. The mails are collected at 8.30 a. m., 12 m., and 5.30 p. m. and Postmaster Ellis has also made arrangements whereby it will also be collected at midnight. This will prove of use as a letter dropped during the evening previous to 12 o'clock, will go out on the early morning mail.
—On June 2nd, Newton is booked for a practice game with Harvard University at Cambridge, in which their heavy hitters will face the famous Highlanders, and on Saturday, tomorrow, they will go to Milford for a game with the crack nine that gave them a tremendous struggle last year. On June 17, the Milfords will play a return game on Walworth's field and give Newton one of the most formidable contests of the season.

An excellent crayon portrait of the late Benjamin F. Shillaber is on exhibition in the window of the Old Corner Bookstore, Boston. It is a profile picture, and brings out the strong lines in the face with remarkable skill. The artist is Mr. J. C. Herbert, an art student in the New England Conservatory, who, judging by this likeness, has a successful career before him. The old friends of Mr. Shillaber will be pleased with this vigorous work.

Our popular base ball nine is acquiring a gratifying reputation for its excellent work on Watworth field this season. Their steady and brilliant work on Memorial Day afternoon merited and received the warmest commendation from the splendid audience that witnessed the game. The season advances and the crack nines of the state cross bats with our representatives the local nine will deserve the warm support, whatever the issue may be. From present indications we have every reason to look forward to the approaching contests without serious uneasiness.

—On Wednesday, the 15th, the people of Newton Highlands are to have the opportunity of attending a unique concert by the men and boys of Grace church, Newton, and of St. Paul's of this village. Music of a high order of excellence will be rendered, with solos by our best talent. The concert is for the benefit of the local choir.

—The adjourned hearing before the mayor and aldermen in regard to the use of the storage battery or trolley system on the new electric street railway will be held at City Hall next Monday evening, June 6th, at 8.30 o'clock. The meeting promises to be of the greatest interest to all residents of Newton, especially Newton Highlands. Arrangements have been made to run barges leaving the square at 7.15 o'clock. If our streets are to be protected, now is the time to act or the opportunity is lost.

NEWTON UPPER FALLS.

—Miss Minnie Daly is very ill.
—Farley, pianos, 433 Wash. St., Newton.
—Mr. Geo. Cutler, who has been in Providence, R. I., has returned.
—Mr. W. K. Dunham spent Memorial Day at his home in Plymouth.

—Mr. Wm. Kenefick, one of our older residents, has moved to Boston.

—Mrs. S. G. Curry of High street has given the Prospect school a large and elegant picture.

—Mrs. Gurney and son, Mr. James Gurney, have removed to Lynn where he has secured work.

—Sampson Slunker and Harry Ward of Elliot street had an enjoyable surprise party Monday evening.

—Dan Buckley, the genial and popular gate tender, has been very ill with pneumonia but is now slowly improving.

—The pump near Echo Bridge has been so often destroyed by the frequenters of the bridge that its owner has had it enclosed.

—Mr. and Mrs. Otis Theodore Pottee, nee Mawrick, will hold the first of their wedding "at homes" for which invitations are out on Thursday evening at their home on Elliot street.

—$50 worth of spirituous liquors were delivered in this village by one express, so it is said, for the celebration of Memorial Day. Judging from the statements made by well known citizens, it must have been all gone before Monday night.

—Memorial Day was a "red letter" day for Echo Bridge, crowds of people taking advantage of the holiday to visit this popular point of interest. Citizens say Monday saw the largest number of people ever at the bridge in a single day, something like 3,000 people visiting it. Nearly 200 bicycles and their riders and about 30 teams with their precious freight were among the visitors. With the Newton & Boston St. Railway in operation the numbers who visit the bridge will be vastly increased on Sundays, holidays and week days.

—The village has been signing petitions this week relative to the Newton and Boston Street Railway and its progress which has been delayed by the protests of Newton Highlands citizens against the trolley system of propulsion. There are three petitions two of which are receiving signatures. One is a petition favoring the introduction of the trolley system as contracted for by the railway company and it is expected there will be upward of 300 signatures. Another is a petition asking for wooden poles and this is being pretty generally signed. The third and last petition which will come before the aldermen next Monday evening asks for a location for tracks from Elliot through Oak to Chestnut street to Summer, taking in all the business portion of the village, then up Summer to their present location on High street, forming a loop. This petition outlines exactly the suggestions embodied in a recent article in the GRAPHIC, and cars on these streets will be of great convenience and necessity to the business men of the place who have occasion many times daily to traverse these streets. This petition will doubtless be granted as there will be none but favorable voices heard regarding the plan.

bride's roses. Her maid of honor wore silver hand-drawn and white tulle, and carried a bouquet of Marguerites. The pages were attired in pink, with long sashes, and carried baskets of flowers. A reception followed the ceremony, the newlyweds being seated at a table. Mr. and Mrs. Emery were gowned in pearl franchise and duchess lace and wore a corsage bouquet of Catherine Mermes roses.
Guests were present from New York, Boston, Brookline and the Newtons. Cheney's orchestra furnished music. At the close of the reception Mr. and Mrs. Robinson departed on their honeymoon. Upon their return they will reside in Winchester.

Newton Cottage Hospital.

The executive committee at its last meeting, unanimously voted a vacation to the matron, Miss Peters, whose invaluable services are felt in every department of the institution.

There has been treated in this hospital during the past month, a larger number of cases than ever before in its history, comprising medical and surgical cases of much gravity, and entailing a large amount of work upon the matron and nurses. Quite a number of cases of measles, scarlet fever, and diphtheria have been received and treated, demonstrating the value of the isolated wards erected for such cases. Emergencies arise in every community, where it is indispensable to find accommodations for patients ill with contagious diseases, and it is a wonder that so few hospitals provide for their reception.

The committee adopted rules for the government of the maternity ward, which has recently been opened, and has already extended its benefits to several patients. Cases are received into this ward at a uniform rate of ten dollars for residents of Newton and fifteen dollars for non-residents. This includes board, nursing and medical attendance during

BEACON STREET, SOUTH STREET AND STORAGE BATTERIES.

Monday night was remarkable for its hearings which lasted till 2 a. m. and the board of aldermen was in session long after that wrestling with the regular business.

The hearings began with a joint session in the upper hall, before both branches, Mayor Hibbard presiding.

WIDENING BEACON STREET.

Mr. Avery L. Rand was the first speaker and said that the crowded audience showed the interest taken in the widening of Beacon street. The original petition presented on Nov. 23, contained 102 names, and he presented other petitions containing 391 names, and the number might have been doubled, if they had had more time. Of all he himself saw, only 8 refused to sign. The signers numbered 136 from Newton Centre, 64 from Newton Highlands, 40 from Upper Falls, 35 from Waban, and 4 from Chestnut Hill. The time has come when Newton needed rapid electrical transit, which would bring its vacant land into the market. The valuation of Brookline had increased $11,000,000 in four years on account of the West End railway over the Beacon street boulevard. Newton should try to get the benefit as well as Brookline, and the names presented were not those of real estate speculators, but of small land owners, and it was a great popular movement, in the interest of the people, and he had no doubt the City Council would be glad to do what the people desired.

The reading of the names on the petitions was called for and the next half hour was consumed in reading the names.

A list of speakers in behalf of the petition had been prepared, and Mayor Hibbard called them in order.

Col. R. G. F. Candage, chairman of the board of assessors in Brookline, stated the effect of widening Beacon street in Brookline, and in 1887 it was voted to widen it to 100 feet and $200,000 appropriated, and he read statistics showing the growth of the town. The valuation in 1881 was $13,820,400 and it grew steadily to 1885 when it was $16,988,000; '86, $19,157,800; '87, $23,331,700; '88, $27,320,300; '89, $30,027,000; '90, $34,472,400, a rise in 11 years of nearly $23,000,000 or nearly 150 per cent. He also read extracts from the reports of assessors, showing the steady growth of the town under a liberal policy, and the gain was not only on Beacon street, but on all sections contiguous to it. The population of the metropolitan district of Boston was increasing at the rate of 25,000 a year, which must overflow into the suburbs, and the tendency of the increase was westward in the direction of Brookline and Newton, and population was invited by wide streets and rapid transit.

Mr. Horace Cousins said he believed in widening Beacon street from the Boston line through Waban to Lower Falls. He owned land on Beacon street, and was willing to give it for the widening, and if that was not enough to pay betterments.

Col. Candage gave the cost of widening the street in Brookline. The town paid $350,000 and Mr. Whitney gave $150,000 making the total over half a million, but the increase in valuation paid about $100,000 a year.

Mr. A. C. Walworth said Beacon street was the axial street of Newton, almost in the geographical center, and there was a great extent of land on the south side of the city waiting to be developed. He didn't believe an electric road could be kept out of the street for five years, and a place should be provided for it. There were few houses on the street to be hurt and in five years the damages for the removal of buildings would be heavy.

Mr. C. S. Davis said the more he thought about the project the more he favored it. The street was the natural outlet of Newton, and as a citizen he believed in it. Very few, indeed only one or two would be injured, while the whole city would be benefited.

Mr. Chas. Everett read some remarks he had prepared, and was enthusiastic in its favor. The lines might be established now and the work left for a few years; the benefits in the increase of valuation and the new residents to be attracted, would soon pay a large return on the cost. They didn't oppose any other schemes, but they wished all to be placed on their merits, and if that were done they felt sure the street would be widened. It was time Newton awoke out of its village sleep and made some attempt to catch the overflow of Boston and Brookline.

Mr. Moses G. Crane said the street was the natural thoroughfare to Boston, and it would pay the city to widen it, and he thought Beacon street through Newton should be 150 feet wide and we should make an effort to invite people of wealth here.

Prof. J. B. Thomas said no city could make its streets too wide, for sanitary as well as other reasons. Boston had a large non-resident population and the tendency was westward, and it was patriotic to bring as many as possible to enjoy the benefits of country life. It was a mistake to refuse improvements that would attract people.

Mr. Frank Edmunds said the feeling was almost unanimous in favor of the project and of having a handsome thoroughfare of the direct road to Boston.

Mr. E. F. Keeler said the widening would bring a large tract of land into market, and as the experience of Brookline showed, might be expected to double the population of Newton Centre in ten years.

Mr. E. R. Tarbell said the people were anxious to see wide streets on their side of the city, and they hoped to attract many people from the North side over there.

Mr. B. E. Taylor said all present believed the question one of the greatest that had come before the city. He had found people willing and anxious to sign the petition. The same increase that had followed in Brookline would follow in Newton. The street ought to be 150 feet wide and any one who looked at the matter carefully would favor the widening. They didn't want to involve the city in too great expense but the land could be taken and 5 or 10 years taken to do the work. Our ancestors had had very narrow streets in laying out streets, and we must push a little and correct their mistakes. Many people got off the steam cars in Brookline to take the electric cars in, and if a electric road ran to Newton, they would take them there.

Dr. Alvah Hovey said it was hardly true that no pressure lay behind the petition. A good deal of pressure had been put upon him and his wife. He saw some advantages and also reason for favoring the South street route. Any expectations of such rapid increase as Brookline had was a mistake, he thought. The territory along the street was not inviting and would not be built up very rapidly. South street would bring much better land for building into the market and ought to be widened to give that part of the city a chance.

Mr. George H. Ellis said the City Council could see what the South side wanted and hoped it would act favorably. Mr. E. H. Andrews said he was a part of the overflow of Boston that had come to Newton and if we wanted to attract people here we must follow the example of Brookline.

Mr. C. C. Barton said that public convenience and necessity required the widening of the street. Newton should keep abreast of the times and do what other cities are doing to attract people. We see the class of people attracted to Brookline and we would like to get them here. Widening Beacon street was even more important than widening Washington street, as it was the natural highway to Boston. Some opposition came from Chestnut Hill where residents did not want their beautiful estates disturbed, but the widening would be of benefit to them and they can not stem the tide. It will come later, if not now. Those who oppose do so for private reasons, but private must give way to public benefit. No estate would be seriously interfered with.

Mr. D. A. White said the electric road would bring cheaper fares, and as land had got so high in Brookline that people were being driven away, we should make an effort to get them. The greatest good of the greatest number was the principle that ought to be followed.

Mr. Frank J. Hale said that as a citizen of Upper Falls he heartily favored the widening.

Mr. Geo. E. Gilbert said in the 15 years he had lived here, only four houses had been built on Beacon street between Newton Centre and the Boston line. It was high time the street was widened and improved.

THE REMONSTRANTS.

Mr. A. L. Harwood said he appeared for Wm. H. Pulsifer and other remonstrants, and he came to state facts and would not attempt to make white, black, or gray. He said the remonstrants had no sympathy with public improvements. They were as public spirited and had put their hands as deep in their pockets in the past for the benefit of Newton, as any of the petitioners. If the public interest could be served better in some other way, they believed that way should be followed. He was sorry that no estimate of the cost had been presented, as it would be found to be a very expensive undertaking. The street was 70 feet wide now to the Boston line, but before you widen it further for an electric road, find whether Boston will widen its part of the street along the reservoir. There were very serious doubts whether Boston would or could do anything, and the street was only 50 feet wide, too narrow for a double track electric road. That part of Beacon street should be widened before Newton does anything. Then the damages will be very great aside from the land, and you can't show any increase in value to assess betterments on. Only one remonstrant could be built upon, the other consists of a narrow strip between the street and the railroad, and it will never be valuable. In Brookline there was valuable land for half a mile on each side of the street. In Newton there are few cross streets to feed an electric line. The street now is a thoroughfare for express teams, for business, and it should be kept for that, and 70 feet is wide enough. By way of South street the distance to the Centre Congregational church is just the same as by Beacon street, and there is valuable building land along the whole length. Lookover both routes and you will see that where one has every advantage the other has no chance to increase in value.

Mr. Richard Saltonstall said he appeared for citizens of Chestnut Hill and for Dr. Slade and Mr. Dupeux. The people there are as interested in Newton as the people of any other section. The scheme they believed would be of no public benefit, and was favored by only one landowner on the line. Not one statement had been presented that the street was not wide enough for all the business upon it. One end of it had only been 50 feet wide and was not even yet made 70 feet, which was evidence that the public was not seriously inconvenienced. The only argument for widening was to make room for double tracks for electric cars, but he had good authority for saying that the West End would never come over this street. Even if they wanted to, of which we have no evidence, they couldn't build such tracks on the road past the reservoir and it was physically impossible to widen that. Not one estimate of expense had been presented. It had cost Brookline half a million to widen the street for about the same distance, but Mr. Whitney had given $150,000 towards it. Has any Newton man promised to give anything? The West End land company had given $90,000 feet but would any Newton citizen give anything like that? The expense would be enormous. In Brookline only $54,000 had been assessed in betterments, but they had had a width of 500 feet each side to assess them on. But in Newton you have a ledge on one side and a narrow strip of swamp on the other to assess betterments upon. The figures of the Brookline assessors had no bearing on the case, when could a million dollars of additional property be put upon this street? In Brookline the policy was to keep the tax rate low by continually marking up the valuation. His father had a cow pasture on Bowdoin street in Brookline which had been marked up three fold in value in five years, because, he supposed, the widening of Beacon street had increased its value. Such things showed the absurdity of the claims made by the petitioners. Take Mr. Dupeux's estate, the widening would take 34 feet off his front lawn and make it impossible to drive into his estate.

Mr. Alden Speare endorsed all that Mr. Saltonstall had said. The West End could not be induced to build a road up Beacon street, and many of the petitioners had been induced to sign by misrepresentations.

Mr. J. R. Leeson said the objections had been admirably stated. He did not believe the finances of the city warranted any such expenditure as this. The scheme was an absurd one. He did not live on the line of Beacon street, but if he believed that Col. Candage's figures had any bearing on the case he could sit down and expect to be worth millions in a few years. He was glad to see the reasonable way in which the petitioners had presented their case, in that they had not advocated any immediate action being taken.

Mr. A. D. Claffin said he lived on the street, but he could not see any benefit to the city in the widening, and he favored South street, where there was land available for building.

Dr. Slade said he could see no benefit to Newton in the widening, but great damage, as the widening would destroy the beauty of the street, and spoil the trees that had been set out. The electric road now brought out a crowd that only injured property.

Judge Bishop said he lived on Beacon street, and he did not oppose the scheme from any personal interest. If they wanted 35 or 85 feet of his rocks and cliffs he was willing it should be taken. He had been in Newton 30 years, and he never had put his private interests against public interests. But he did oppose the widening of Beacon street for an electric railroad, and when a road was built he wanted it put in the right place. The South street grades were much better, and there are no settled estates to be injured, and Capt. Candage's statement might apply to the South street route but not to the other, as might be the same level experience over again. The Newton directors asked Gen. Draper if he would personally endorse this guarantee, and he refused. That shows what he thinks of it. The guarantee was simply a contract with a company whose assets are unknown. What is it worth? They tried to have the company run cars here on trial, for a year, but the company refused. They would only sell the cars. The storage people have only box cars, but when told that open cars must be had in Newton, they said they would build some, and put the batteries under the seats, and passengers would have to sit facing each other, which would hardly be nice for ladies. It is the same level experience over again. Mr. Goodrich called on Winthrop Coffin, the electrician of the Thomson-Houston company. He said that the storage battery was an electrical myth. Nothing was so attractive, but nothing so barren of results. He claimed that a storage car could not give efficient service and the expense was an unknown quantity save that those who had tried the cars like Mr. Wharton of Philadelphia, found that they could not afford to run them. The figures of cost given by storage battery people were an absurdity on their face.

Mr. Usher asked Mr. Coffin what kind of cell was used on the Washington cars. Mr. Coffin did not know. Mr. Usher: Yet you call yourself an expert. Mr. Smith asked several questions about cost of trolley cars, which Mr. Coffin answered.

Mr. Goodrich said that as for the noise of trolley cars the Thomson-Houston company now has a new motor that is noiseless.

Mr. Usher enlarged upon the cells used by him and their power, and the folly of bringing experts in who did not know what a cell was.

Mr. Usher was questioned rather closely by Mr. Hyde as to what he meant at the last meeting by saying the company was willing to give a guarantee with their cars backed up by two millions. Mr. Usher said the men who owned stock in the company were worth that.

Mr. Hyde asked whether a guarantee signed by the company in its corporate capacity was worth anything.

Mr. Usher said the company was capitalized at one million.

Mr. Hyde asked how much was paid in.

Mr. Usher did not think he ought to say.

In answer to Mr. Goodrich, Mr. Usher said that the Beverly storage battery system was a failure, and that no system previous to the Milford one had been a success.

Mr. Goodrich was satisfied to rest his case.

Mr. Smith did not wish to make any remarks, and the hearing closed.

STORAGE BATTERIES SHOWN UP.

It was nearly 12 by the city clock when the storage battery hearing was called and every one was tired and sleepy. Messrs. Chas. H. Guild, Moses G. Crane, E. Moulton, A. F. Hayward, and Dr. J. R. Dean spoke of their visits to Milford and the successful operation of the road.

Alderman Hyde presented the remonstrance of the Newton Highlands Improvement Association against poles and wires for the trolley system.

Mayor Hibbard read testimonials from the selectmen and others of Milford, testifying to the success of the system, and a letter from Gen. W. F. Draper stating he had bought a controlling interest in the patents.

Mayor Hibbard suggested that any more testimony about visits to Milford might be omitted and a chance given the experts to fight.

Mr. J. R. Smith said he would give the case to the other side, reserving the right to say something in reply.

THE AUDIENCE WAKES UP.

Attorney J. B. Goodrich then opened the case for the opponents of storage battery with a speech so full of wit and shrewd hits that the audience woke up and forgot the hard seats. He said the board of directors of the Newton & Boston Street Railway started out with a strong prejudice in favor of storage batteries and a determination to use them, if in any way possible. They were strongly committed in favor of that form of motive power, and two of them were former owners of Beverly trolleys, and officials of the New England Telephone Company, and opposed to the trolley system on principle. They intended to strain a point, to get storage battery cars. The Garden City Company had a charter granted them two years ago, on condition they used storage battery cars. The storage battery people then had a road running from Beverly to Danvers, and they came here and gave the same assurances the Milford people have given. Testimony was given of people who had ridden on the cars, of the success of the system, but when it was looked into it was found not to be practical. The Newton & Boston Company found a road in Milford operated by storage batteries, owned by the Drapers. The storage battery system was really older than the trolley system, and it was as perfect five years ago as today. The Milford directors began to study up the subject. They found Mr. Wm. Draper, a Philadelphia man had spent $100,000 endeavoring to use storage batteries on his roads and had finally abandoned it. Not a street railway in the United States owns a storage battery car. You propose that the Newton road shall be the first company to purchase and operate one of these cars. The directors want to Milford, run on the cars, all were pleased with what they saw. They tried to find out the question of expense. It is claimed that they are cheaper than the trolleys, but the fact is they can't be run anything near as cheaply as the trolley cars. They found that it was out of the question to attempt to run such cars economically, and they abandoned the idea, as all other railroads have done before them. If Mr. Usher has what he claims he has he could be a millionaire tomorrow by simply going to New York, or letting the fact be known. If a storage battery system can be presented that can be run as cheaply as a trolley car, millionaires will be made the secret. The West End Company has spent $60,000 in experiments with storage batteries.

The famous guarantee of which Mr. Usher spoke at the last meeting, what does it mean? It is simply the guarantee of the Milford Car Co., a Maine corporation, whose paid in capital is unknown. The Newton directors asked Gen. Draper if he would personally endorse this guarantee, and he refused. That shows what he thinks of it. The guarantee was simply a contract with a company whose assets are unknown. What is it worth? They tried to have the company run cars here on trial, for a year, but the company refused. They would only sell the cars. The storage people have only box cars, but when told that open cars must be had in Newton, they said they would build some, and put the batteries under the seats, and passengers would have to sit facing each other, which would hardly be nice for ladies. The figures of cost given by storage battery people were an absurdity on their face.

Mr. Usher asked Mr. Coffin what kind of cell was used on the Washington cars. Mr. Coffin did not know. Mr. Usher: Yet you call yourself an expert.

Mr. Smith asked several questions about cost of trolley cars, which Mr. Coffin answered.

Mr. Goodrich said that as for the noise of trolley cars the Thomson-Houston company now has a new motor that is noiseless.

Mr. Usher enlarged upon the cells used by him and their power, and the folly of bringing experts in who did not know what a cell was.

Mr. Usher was questioned rather closely by Mr. Hyde as to what he meant at the last meeting by saying the company was willing to give a guarantee with their cars backed up by two millions.

Mr. Usher said the men who owned stock in the company were worth that.

A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the grippe is Kemp's Balsam, which is especially adapted to diseases of the throat and lungs. Do not wait for the first symptoms of the disease, but get a bottle and keep it on hand for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grippe has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. All druggists sell the Balsam.

The proprietors of Ely's Cream Balm do not claim it to be a cure-all, but a remedy for catarrh, colds in the head and hay fever. It is not a liquid or a snuff, is easily applied into the nostrils. It gives relief at once. 50c.

NEWTON.

—Mr. Joshua Baker, Jr., and wife, have returned home from their trip to Europe.

—Don't forget that ball game on Walworth's field, June 17th. Go and see the Millfords play ball with the Newtons.

—H. E. Johannot, the electrician, has the contract for wiring Mr. Geo. P. Ridgway's five new houses on Grasmere street, for electric light.

—The choir of Grace church will assist in a concert to be given at Newton Highlands on the evening of Wednesday, June 15th, by the choir of St. Paul's.

—A meeting of persons interested in the formation of a Branch of the Guild of St. Barnabas for Nurses, will be held in the parish house of Grace church at 5 p. m., Saturday.

—Mr. J. Howard Nichols' horse which was left standing Monday near the barn, ran away, crossing the lawn, and left the carriage hanging in a tree. The horse was afterwards caught in Newtonville.

—The Brookline Artificial Ice Co., has bought the Pond Spring property near the Newton line in Brighton and will begin building at once. The company expect to begin making 30 tons a day within two months.

—The Rev. Dr. Edward Abbott is to preach in Grace church on Sunday night. He is the brother of Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott, and was a short time ago elected bishop of Japan, which position he declined. He is an interesting speaker.

—Music in Grace church on Sunday night: Processional, Trinity Hymn. Wood Magnificat. "I will praise God." Wood Anthem. "Come let us worship." Himmell Retrospectual Hymn, "Holy, holy, holy Lord."

—The Festival service in Grace church last Sunday night, was successful in every way. Every seat in the building was occupied. A large number of persons had to stand and many went away unable to get in at all. The superb program was rendered in a thoroughly artistic way, there being no weak places in the most difficult pieces. The clergymen present were the Rev. Dr. Newton, Rev. W. H. Williams and Rev. Dr. Shinn.

—Prospect Hill, Waltham, Field Day.—All those who wish to take the "Outing" with the Newton Natural History Society on Saturday, the 11th, are reminded that the party will assemble at the Waltham terminal of the electric railroad about 2.30 p. m. All the Field Days of this society are enjoyable and every one wishing to accompany the society is cordially invited. The walk is an easy one and the views from the Hill very fine. The electric car leaving Newton at 1.30 p. m. would be convenient.

—Eliot church will observe Sunday, June 12th, as Children's Day. Dr. Calkins will preach to the children at the morning service and at 7 p. m. the school will have a special service. Special notice has been prepared under the direction of Mr. Chas. In addition to other exercises there will be solos by Mrs. Hibbard, Miss Lawton and Carl Ellison, and a duet for soprano and alto by Miss Carrie Eddy and Mabel Fairfield. Brief addresses will be made by Rev. A. S. Twombly, D. D., and the pastor, and the superintendent will distribute potted plants to the children of the primary department. The decoration of the house for the evening service will be under the direction of Mr. Geo. R. McFarlin.

—A very interesting piano recital was given by the pupils of Miss Alice F. Peirce last Saturday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. J. B. W. Shapleigh on Newtonville avenue. The first part of the program was performed by the younger pupils, who did themselves and their teacher much credit. Streabog's duet, The Violette, by Miss Mildred Panno and Master Harold Hunt. The Little Soldier's March by Master Roy Brewer; Beethoven's Sonatina in G by Miss Helen Tucker; Mozart's Minuet "Don Juan," by Master Winthrop Adams were rendered. The honors of the second were divided between the younger and the advanced pupils, and the following numbers were particularly worthy of mention. Mendelssohn's Song without Words by Miss Helen Keller; Putsch's Trio, Frullings march by the Misses Shapleigh and Master Shapleigh; Rubinstein's Melody in F by Miss Nellie Inslee; Paderevski's Romanza by Mrs. J. C. Elms, Jr., and Whitney's A. B. C. Song by Miss May Richardson. Miss Peirce is to be congratulated upon the proficiency of her pupils, who reflect great credit upon her methods of teaching.

—Mr. John L. Whiting, who is building the new house on the top of Hummel well hill, died very suddenly at his Boston residence last Sunday of apoplexy. He intended soon to take up his residence in Newton, where he would have been a valuable acquisition, from his high character and many excellent qualities, and much regret is felt at his death. He was a member of the well known firm of John L. Whiting & Co., brush manufacturers, and was 69 years of age. He was born in Shrewsbury, and one of nine children. When he was eighteen years of age the family moved to Southborough and from that time until 1850 father and son carried on the brush business in Fallowfield. The son began the manufacture of brushes in Boston in 1864, and for years past his establishment has been the largest in the United States. Like his father, he made many valuable improvements in machinery. For years Mr. Whiting was a member of Theodore Parker's society and one of its standing committeemen. Three or four years ago, at the time of the dissolution of the society, he joined Mr. J. Savage's church, and was a member of its standing committee until his death. In politics Mr. Whiting began as one of the Anti-Slavery party, but later he was identified with the Free Soil party, and then he became a Republican. His benefactions were many and were given in manner absolutely free of ostentation. The funeral was held at the Church of the Unity, Boston, on Tuesday.

—The sons of the second were divided between the younger and the advanced pupils, and the following numbers were particularly worthy of mention. Mendelssohn's Song without Words by Miss Helen Keller; Putsch's Trio, Frullings march by the Misses Shapleigh and Master Shapleigh; Rubinstein's Melody in F by Miss Nellie Inslee; Paderevski's Romanza by Mrs. J. C. Elms, Jr., and Whitney's A. B. C. Song by Miss May Richardson. Miss Peirce is to be congratulated upon the proficiency of her pupils, who reflect great credit upon her methods of teaching.

It is always a surprise to a pretty girl when she has to stand in a crowded car. But she knows then exactly how the homely girl feels when she gets a seat.

UNDERTOWN TRANSPORT HAS BEEN CONSOLIDATED WITH THE GRAPHIC

THE RAILROAD TRACKS.

It could hardly be expected that any plan for changing the grade of the railroad through Newton would be accepted without criticism, and any feeling against the elevation of the tracks would not be surprising.

But there are many other things to be considered. In the first place all must agree that the dangerous grade crossings should be abolished, and the sooner the better. As to the way in which it should be done, there are only two, one by lowering the tracks and bridging over the crossings, and the other by elevating the tracks. If the first was adopted, it must be remembered that according to a state law, the bridges must be 18 feet above the tracks. To divide this the railway tracks could be lowered 10 feet and the street raised 8 feet. This in the case of Centre street, for instance, would necessitate a complete change in the character of the street and the business blocks adjacent.
The damages in regard to this one crossing would be something enormous. All the business blocks would have to be raised, the change in the street grade would have to begin at Nonantum square on one side and opposite the public library on the other, and the expense to be borne by the city would stagger any advocate of such a plan. Then there would be the hill to climb up and down every time one wanted to go across. It might be urged that the railroad could be lowered 12 feet and the street raised only six feet, but this would be nearly as objectionable on the score of expense, and if the railroad tracks were put down twelve feet there would be constant trouble from water.
In digging the sewers living springs were struck at a depth of 11 feet, and an engine had to be employed constantly to pump the trench out. No matter how little we may care for the Boston & Albany corporation it would hardly be fair to ask them to maintain several pumping plants through Newton.

Again take Church street crossing; if the street over the tracks were raised eight feet, what would become of Washington street.

Walnut street in Newtonville would be even more expensive than Centre street, and a steep grade and a bridge there would not be endured by the people, who have to go from one side to the other.

Besides, a deep trench through Newton would be a dangerous trap for men and animals to fall into. It would be dark for passengers on the trains, business men could not read their papers, and no one in passing through could get a glimpse of Newton, and besides, trenches in other places are always damp, and filled with coal gas, and far from beneficial to the health of those who ride through them every day.

Lastly, all these objections against lowering the tracks could be summed up in the statement that the Boston & Albany would never consent to lower the tracks and probably could not be made to do so, so that it is not of much use to discuss that. The mayor and aldermen have gone over the whole question very carefully, and they are men of good judgment. They say that elevating the tracks is the only feasible method of discussing away with the grade crossings.
The embankment will only be ten feet high, and in some places not that, little more than the height of an ordinary board fence. Such an embankment can hardly interfere much with the circulation of air, and will not obstruct the view from the second stories of most houses near the railroad. The fences now prevent much view from the first story windows.
The noise and dust will probably be just as objectionable as they are now, though people who have stood at the foot of the Esplanade embankment when trains were passing say that the noise would hardly be noticed.

As for stone arched bridges, which have been spoken of, they would be 14 feet high at the top of the arch, but at the side they would be too low for all but small children, and the walks would have to be placed near the center of the street. If the road was elevated 20 feet, arches might be practicable, except on such wide streets as Walnut street, where even that height would hardly be sufficient to carry the arch.

It is easy enough to state objections to any elevation of the tracks, but it should be considered whether these are not even greater objections to any other method of doing away with grade crossings. We have all doubted the intention of the railroad to do anything, but now that they have presented a plan, we ought not, as reasonable citizens, to raise any fanciful objections, or oppose the plan without first considering whether any other method would be practicable. If a better plan than the one proposed, better for both the city and the road, can be drawn up, probably all parties would be glad to adopt it.

THE SOUTH SIDE BOULEVARDS.

The two hearings for street widenings on the south side of the city attracted a large crowd to City Hall Monday night.
The Beacon street hearing was very protracted, and the case might have been made a good deal stronger if more attention had been called to the great amount of traffic over the street from Newton Centre, as it is the opening for several much travelled thoroughfares which join together at Newton Centre, and make it a crowded street at certain hours of the day. Attention might have been called also to the fact that as Newton gave Boston the street around the reservoir, Boston could hardly refuse the request of Newton to make the street wide enough to accommodate the needs of Newton.

A wide and handsome thoroughfare there will be a necessity some day, whether the electric cars run through it or not. The inference sought to be made from the figures of the Brookline selectmen did not help the case greatly as the remonstrants showed that much of the land was not of the character of Beacon street in Brookline; but worse land than that has been built upon, and made the site of handsome houses. If the land is as bad as some of the remonstrants claimed, the owners surely would have no objection to giving a small portion of it for the street, so that the expenses of widening need not be so excessive.

The remonstrants had the benefit of the service of three very clever lawyers, if we include Judge Bishop, and of two such practical and prominent citizens as Alden Spear and J. R. Leeson, which placed the petitioners at a disadvantage, but there is no question but that they had a strong popular sentiment behind them. It could not do much harm certainly, to adopt the lines, and leave the question of carrying out the work to the future. Beacon street from Newton Centre westward certainly needs widening, as it is hardly more now than an alleyway.

The South street widening was advocated in a brief and business like way and promises better in the way of adding to the valuation of Newton real estate than any scheme yet broached.

If the city of Newton can build a two mile boulevard 70 to 100 feet wide at an expense of not over $100,000, and bring into the market land that has been taxed for five or six hundred dollars per acre and make it worth twenty to thirty cents per foot, there is only one question to such a business proposition. The people interested in this are not public philanthropists any more than Henry M.
Whitney was, when he advocated and promoted the widening of Beacon street, Brookline. He did it for a personal motive because he was a large real estate holder and so it is with all enterprises of this kind. Now that the owners of the land have come forward in such a handsome manner and are willing to devote to the city so much valuable property, the city ought not to let this opportunity pass.

The projectors of this scheme can only make one mistake, and that is to make the street too narrow. One hundred feet would be better than seventy, and if the parties owning land want to sell it for 50 cents and more a foot, they will add twenty or fifty more feet. Making it seventy feet will only draw a moderate class of buyers, but 125 feet would attract a class of men able and desirous of building the finest class of houses, and making that section the most beautiful part of Newton. The extra width can be put in now as well as not, and we have had enough of narrow streets. It might take a little more land, but the narrower street would be very short-sighted policy on the part of the land owners. Brookline would never have gained so rapidly in valuation if it had made Beacon street only seventy feet wide.

STORAGE BATTERIES.

The disinterested spectators at the midnight hearing on storage batteries before the board of aldermen could not help commiserating the storage battery people. At the previous hearing they had made a brilliant demonstration and their confident claims had passed without question. Monday evening Mr. J. B.
Goodrich with the sharpest of thrusts punctured the balloon, and the believers in storage batteries sat sadly silent in the wreck.

Mr. Usher was naturally rather stirred up and tried to cover his defeat by making light of Mr. Winthrop Coffin, who, although a young man, had had experience enough to be able to tell many unpleasant facts about the costly failure of storage battery schemes, even if he did not know about storage battery cells, which was not surprising.

The storage battery hearings are curiously like each other, and we suppose we shall still continue to have them once in two or three years. Mr. Usher's talk about accumulator cells, and amperes, and so on, was a repetition of the talk of the Beverly expert or inventor, who had also discovered the secret of storage batteries, and had made a success where all others had failed. Now
Mr. Usher admits that the Beverly & Danvers system was a failure, although he is sure that his is a success and can as easily convince an unprofessional audience of it as the Beverly man could.
It is an attractive subject, always, like the search for the philosopher's stone that would turn all it touched to gold, and although Mr. Usher admits that the search has so far been unsuccessful, in all but his case, all will certainly wish him good luck, even if as business men they hesitate about buying his cars until their success has been demonstrated.

Mr. Goodrich and Alderman Hyde showed how little the guarantee was worth, of which so much was said at the previous hearing, and which Gen.
Draper refused to endorse. The guarantee was of the company, a Maine concern, about whose paid in capital Mr. Usher declined to give information. This really ended the case. The Newton Highlands people have gained some valuable information about storage batteries, and like all who have started out to investigate the subject, when they listen to those interested in any of the numerous schemes that have been started, they are convinced of its success, and are surprised and indignant that all railway companies do not adopt it at once. This is the first stage and the second comes when some one familiar with other failures comes along and asks a few pointed questions. People who really believed in the success of storage batteries, and that they had been kept from general use only by the opposition of a wealthy rival system, had their confidence shaken when Mr. Usher admitted that all systems but his had been failures. That the mayor and aldermen are not fond of these annual storage battery hearings is hardly to be wondered at, after the result of the last hearing.

—Mrs. R. D. Morehouse of Washington park and her sister, Mrs. Holmes of Chicago, will spend the month of June among the Green Mountains, visiting Montpelier, and also Malone, N. Y., their former home.

—During the heavy shower Monday afternoon the house of Mr. E. T. Trotter on Washington Park, occupied by Mr. Baxter, was struck by lightning, but no serious damage resulted.

—Dr. Marsh is sure to hold a cordial place in the hearts of the sons of Italy, since his thoughtful kindness in providing cool lemonade for the sewer workers near his house on those hot days, when they felt the burden so heavily.

—Mrs. Martin, whose papers on "Columbus and his Contemporaries" and "Shakespeare Reading," which she read last season, has consented to continue her Columbian classes this summer, and in view of the exposition it seems to be just the course desired.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Russell of Common street, Watertown, were riding through this village Sunday afternoon, when their horse became frightened at an electric car near Lowell street. The carriage came into collision with a tree, and its occupants were thrown out and painfully injured.

—Under the auspices of the Entertainment Committee, a tea will be given to members and ladies, at the Newton Club House, on Wednesday, June 15th, from 5 to 8 o'clock. The prizes won in the Inter-Club and Club Tournaments during the last season will be presented to the victorious teams and individuals at 7 o'clock.

—At the annual meeting of Dalhousie Lodge, F. & A. M. Wednesday evening, these officers were elected: Robert Bennett, W. M.; George A. Gleason, S. W.; W. S. Slocum, J. W.; E. W. Gay, treasurer; E. E. Morgan, secretary; Alex. Brown, Chaplain; E. W. Gay and George P. Whitmore, trustees charity fund. On Wednesday evening next a special meeting will be held and the third degree conferred upon four candidates. The new officers will probably be installed June 29.

—All the lads and lasses who attended the pretty reception given last Saturday by the Misses Norman and Rumery, at Miss Irene Norman's home on Lowell street, were very happy. Everything passed off in a most delightful fashion, and the dainty toilets, the music, dancing and collation left nothing to be desired. The children received from 6 until 6:30. The ushers were Harry and Percy Brown, Harold Taylor and J. Wetmore. Barlow catered and the music for the occasion was furnished by the Germania orchestra.

—Mr. John G. Speare, a former resident who went to visit his son in the Sandwich Islands, died in the latter place. He was taken ill at the Volcano Hotel before reaching his destination and his son to whom his father's visit was planned as a surprise, was hastily summoned to his bedside and was with him five days before he passed away. Deceased was 68 years of age. He was a member of Massachusetts Lodge, I. O. O. F., and of other organizations. He had been a resident of this place about five years and was very generally respected and esteemed. Two sons survive him, one of whom resides in Newtonville on Watertown street. The other is a resident of the Sandwich Islands.

—The musicale at the Universalist parlors, Wednesday afternoon was a brilliant success. Miss Coffin's vocal numbers were much enjoyed, calling for an encore, which was graciously responded to. Mrs. Dickinson's selection "High Ho, Daffodils," was sweetly rendered, but although she sang very little during the past four years, her voice retains its melodious quality. Other features were readings by Miss Solis, pianoforte numbers by Miss Baker, instrumental solos by Mrs. Ester and Mr. Cole, cornetist and violinist, and vocal numbers by Mrs. Soule. Preceding the musicale, Mrs. Chandler Holmes gave a report of the grand convention of Women's Clubs in Chicago.

—Miss Alice Louise Fisher and Mr. Frederick E. Harwood, Wednesday afternoon at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. S. J. Brown, Walnut street. The ceremony occurred at 5 o'clock and was performed by Rev. Minot J. Savage of Boston. The nephew and niece of the bride—Master Paul and Miss Mary and Marion Fisher, advanced with the couple and stood at either side of the minister reading the marriage service. The former carried a basket of flowers and the latter a bouquet of pink orchids. The bride wore a gown of heavy white silk and brocade, with a deep collar of old lace. She carried a bouquet made up of white roses and maiden-hair ferns. After the ceremony a reception was held, the newly-wedded couple receiving in front of a screen of tall palms, standing upon a mat of daisies. The ushers were Mr. Harry A. Harwood, Mr. Fisher, Mr. Boyce, Dr. G. C. Ainsworth, and Mr. S. J. Brown. The wedding supper was served in a large tent on the lawn, and music discoursed during the evening by Miss Sherman's orchestra. After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Harwood departed on their wedding tour. They will travel extensively through the South.

WEST NEWTON

—Go to the G. A. R. fete, June 17th.

—Farley, tuner, 433 Wash. St., Newton.

—Allen swimming school and bathing pond opens June 17th. See adv.

—Miss E. E. Barry has leased a room in Mrs. M. J. Davis' house, Watertown street.

—Mrs. A. P. Wise has returned to her home on Prince street, after a year's absence.

—Don't forget that ball game on Walworth's field, June 17th. Go and see those Milford play ball with the Newtons.

—Mrs. D. H. Church of Lenox street has returned to her home from the Cottage Hospital, where she was an inmate during her recent illness.

—Rev. L. J. O'Toole and Mr. T. B. Fitz were guests at the Carney-Shea wedding which occurred in the Cathedral of the Holy Cross, Boston, Wednesday.

—Rev. Francis Tiffany, accompanied by his daughter, will take passage for England, Saturday of this week. They will spend the summer visiting the Cathedral cities on the continent.

—The necessary number of names has been secured for the charter list of the new Rebekah lodge which is to be organized, and a meeting has been called to further the general plan of organization.

—Mr. Stephen H. Whidden, father of Mrs. Chas. C. Pond of Highland street, died at East Boston on Sunday, where he was a wealthy and prominent resident. The funeral was held at his late residence on Wednesday.

—Children's Day next Sunday at the Congregational church. The pastor will speak in the morning on "A Singular Dream." At 6 p. m. there will be a special concert exercise in the church, with music and recitations.

—The Veteran Firemen have their hand engine "Nonantum" painted and scoured, and polished, and silver plated, and other wise put in fine order, and it attracted much admiration as it was hauled through the streets on Wednesday.

—The graduating exercises of the Allen Bros. English and Classical school occurred this morning. The school term ends today and the usual lawn party is announced for Monday evening, at the residence of Mr. N. T. Allen, Webster street, preceding the departure of the students for their homes.

—The final matches in the May tournament of the Neighborhood Club were held Saturday. Gorham beat W. Felton 3-6, 3-6, 6-3, and won second prize. The first prize doubles was won by Travell and Cutler, who beat Adams and W. Felton, 6-4, 6-4. The next club tournament will be played June 17.

—Councillman Robert Bennett has been elected township master of Dalhousie lodge, F. & A. M., succeeding Mr. George P. Whitmore, who has had one of the most successful administrations in the history of the lodge, one of the strongest and best managed in the state.

—The members of the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Union celebrated their annual reunion last Saturday by fishing for cod from the side of the police boat Protector, as the guests of Supt. Eldridge of the Boston police department. City Marshal Richardson of the city was among those who enjoyed the excursion.

—A Gospel temperance meeting will be held in Knights of Honor hall, Sunday, June 12, at 4 o'clock. A profitable hour was enjoyed last week, and it is hoped there will be full attendance at this service. The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held in the same place, Tuesday, June 13th, at 3 o'clock.

—On Tuesday evening, Newton lodge I. O. O. F. worked the third degree at Prospect lodge, Waltham, and the first at home last evening. This evening a meeting of committees of Home, Waban and Newton lodges is called to make arrangements for holding an Odd fellows' memorial service, which will be held, probably, in the West Newton Unitarian church.

—Sunday, June 12th, will be observed as flower Sunday in the Unitarian church. The exercises will consist of the usual service of song, many of the hymns being adapted by Rev. E. A. Horton, and are of special beauty, sung by the children. The solos will be rendered by Miss Laura Coffin. Address by the pastor and christening of children.

—The date of the annual picnic excursion of the Women's Educational Club was fixed for a fortnight ago, but postponed on account of unpromising weather until Tuesday, June 17, was one of June's most rare, and a delightful occasion was enjoyed.

—Nelle Morgan, a domestic employed by Mrs. A. E. Potter, Vailman street, was found in an unconscious condition on the kitchen floor of Mrs. Potter's house, Wednesday morning. Dr. Thayer was called, and, on examination, pronounced it a case of poison. It was found on investigation that the girl was in the habit of taking licorice powder for a cough and that morning she had taken a dose of hellebore in its stead. Owing to prompt medical aid, the girl recovered from the effects of the poison.

—On Friday evening, June 3rd, a musicale given by Miss Alice Morton for her pupils and parents, took place at her residence on Elm street. A choice program was rendered which gave much pleasure, and a redoubtable credit upon their teacher. All the pupils bore evidence of careful drill, specially in enunciation and ease in singing, and the several songs by the more advanced were rendered with grace and true artistic style. The program included the Venetian Boat Song; "Beauty's Eyes"; "Tosti"; "For a Dream's Sake"; "Cowell"; "Nymphs and Shepherds"; "Purcell"; "Golly On"; "Delibes."

—There was a wedding in the Second Congregational church, Wednesday evening. The contracting parties were Miss Marion E., daughter of Mr. J. Franklin Fuller, and Mr. Clinton L. Eddy. The chancel was tastefully decorated and the pulpit platform was completely covered with tall palms and hydrangeas. Rev. H. J. Patrick, D. D., officiated. Mr. George W. Eddy, the groom's brother, was best man, and Miss Caroline S. Fuller, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Misses Mabel Warren of Philadelphia, Catherine R. Eddy and Florence Fuller. The ushers were Messrs. J. Franklin Fuller, Jr., Joseph Parsons, Frank S. Eddy, Francis Newhall, W. S. Kilburn, H. S. Potter and Harold Haskell. The bride was gown in white silk, en train, wore a long veil and carried a large bunch of bride's roses. The maid of honor wore white muslin and carried yellow lilies. After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's father on Highland street, at the close of which Mr. and Mrs. Eddy departed on their wedding tour. Upon their return they will reside on Cherry street, where they will be "at home" the first two Thursdays in October.

—The strawberry festival and entertainment held under the auspices of Loyalty Lodge of Good Templars, Wednesday evening, was the most successful ever held by it, both financially and socially. The hall was overcrowded at times, which shows the great popularity Loyalty Lodge has attained. A very pleasing program was rendered, consisting of the following selections: Violin solo by Leon Dutch; duo violin and cello, by Henry Cate and H. Chase; violin solo, Fred Barlow; alto solo, Miss Millie Fogwill; cello solo, Ralph Chase; violin solo, Henry Cate; alto solo, Miss Fogwill; orchestral selection, F. Barlow, H. Cate, Leon Dutch, H. Chase; soprano solo, Miss Eva Pinta; accompanist, Miss Lena Barlow. The excellent program was not heard to advantage, as it is impossible to keep such a large number quiet under such circumstances. The music was so universally good that it would be difficult to give prominence to any special number. All must receive the full complement of praise. Loyalty contemplates holding an entertaining in a larger hall at an early date, by the same talent.

—Ellen Harrod, a colored woman, aged 25 years, was struck and instantly killed by the 12 o'clock outward bound New York express at the Greenwood avenue crossing shortly after noon yesterday. There is some talk of its being a case of suicide, but there are no strong facts to warrant that conclusion. It is said, however, that the girl was to be married Wednesday evening to a young man who resides and works in Waltham. For some reason he postponed the ceremony and the girl returned home much despondent. During the forenoon yesterday, after passing a sleepless night, she appeared nervous and irritable, but she made a statement to the lady with whom she boarded, that led the latter to infer that the marriage would come off soon. She started from the house, very near the spot of the accident, to take an electric car for Waltham for the purpose of meeting the man whom she expected to marry. In crossing the track, in the opinion of those most familiar with all the facts, she failed to see the approaching train. Those who believe in the suicide theory base it upon the circumstance of the postponed marriage and the girl's disappointment and chagrin. She came to West Newton from Washington, D. C., and has no relatives in this vicinity. The body was taken to the morgue.

—The twenty-sixth anniversary of the West Newton Baptist Sunday school was observed in the Baptist church Sunday evening. The exercises were largely attended and of a very interesting character. The decorations were a very attractive feature and consisted of an elaborate arrangement of palms, hydrangeas and cut flowers. The order of service follows: Voluntary for organ and orchestra, composed by F. L. Stone; Scriptural reading, Supt. L. E. Leland; prayer, Mr. W. G. Bell; reports of officers; class recitations; congregational singing, original hymn by Mr. L. E. Leland, entitled "The City of the Living"; recitations, "At the King's Table," Miss Amelia Gauthier; "Only A Little While," Miss Flossie Henderson; "Mother and Home," Miss Grace Barbour; solos, Miss Alice A. Bruce and Miss Jessie G. Stickle; "Our Missionary Centennial," Rev. D. W. Faunce, D. D.; remarks, Mr. I. H. Gamwell, Deacon Indian and others. The report of the treasurer stated that the receipts were $4,661 expenditures, $400.31; balance on hand, $94.35. The total number of scholars in the Sunday school, according to the report of the secretary, 165; average attendance (excepting months of July and August) 128; largest attendance, 145. During the past year five scholars have united with the church by baptism.

tended and was very successful. The supper tables and a table containing fancy articles were situated in the vestry and were well patronized.

AN INVITATION.

The very unique invitation printed in another column invites our readers to attend the Opening Week of Hatch's Hat House at the Methodist Building, 5 Moody Street, Waltham. This announcement means very much to the citizens of our town, as it brings to their doors a large full stock of hats, caps, umbrellas, hammocks, etc., from Boston's leading hat store, Hatch's Hat House, opposite the Old South Church, has won its leading position in Boston from selling the finest quality goods at reasonable prices, and the Waltham store will cater to our best trade from this standpoint.

We therefore most heartily welcome them, and add our word to Mr. Hatch's invitation in urging our citizens to at least look in upon him during this opening week.

The lines of summer goods are wonderfully varied, and as they are sold upon their merits alone, no one will be urged to buy unless they are first convinced that they will receive full value for every dollar they expend.

Mr. Hatch intends building up his reputation on this basis, and we feel assured that our readers will be fully satisfied with any goods they may purchase at his counters.

Progress and Cookery.

"The World Moves."

There is no better illustration of this old saying than the numerous schools now-a-days devoted to practical kitchen processes. These schools have been alert to find a reasonable substitute for Lard, the use of which is so generally condemned. This want has been fully met by COTTOLENE the new vegetable Lard. When science strikes the kitchen, it strikes home and everybody gets the benefit. Cottolene is a clean, delicate and economical substitute for Lard—cleaner than the hog, delicate as the finest vegetable oil, economical from its low price and small quantity required to be used. Prove it for yourself by a trial.

Lasell Notes.

Mrs. M. H. Kimball of Auburndale has added to similar favors in the past, by contributing through Miss Carpenter to the school, a very complete specimen of a shark's jaw. The gift is a valuable addition to the collection in natural history.

A Missionary meeting was held on Sunday, officers for next year elected, and the money in the treasury was divided by vote among the different countries usually remembered—Japan, India, Turkey, Spain and Mexico.

A party attended the children's concert at the Methodist church on Sunday evening, while another went to Grace Episcopal church in Newton.

Some carriage loads visited Hunnewell's garden on Monday.

The Church and choir concert of last week was very fully attended in the school gymnasium.

The pup's concert of Thursday evening, June 9th, was the usual success.

The Lasella club held its annual supper Wednesday evening, June 8th.

Two new oil paintings by Mr. F. H. Richardson have appeared in the parlors—one a grey day in Venice, the other a Spanish view.

The "Allerlei" for '92 shows progress since the annual preceding this. The Junior class has done itself much credit, in the literature of the volume. Some of the work is decidedly bright and spicy. The description of the faculty is in imitation of Chaucer's pilgrims in the Prologue to the Canterbury Tales and is cleverly done. Mr. Henry Orne Ryder director of the studio has kindly made most of the illustrations, and has done so well that it is hard to handle some of the general effect is due to Mr. Ryder's skill.

—The Clover club are in the midst of active preparation for their lawn party and fair which is to occur Tuesday afternoon, June 21. The affair cannot fail to be a success.

—The comrades of Ward Five wish to extend their thanks through the GRAPHIC to those who assisted on Memorial Day at the cemetery, especially to Miss Edith Newell, Mr. Harry Green and Master John D. Duval.

—Echo Bridge Connell R. A. has just passed death's last enemy. The late Martin McDonald, the benefit was received just 30 days after the decease of Mr. McDonald, showing the promptness of the order in matters of this kind.

TENNIS.

BOAT CLUB VS. WALTHAM.

The Newton Boat and Waltham Inter-club Tennis League players met on the grounds of the first named club at Riverside Saturday. In the singles, Howard, representing Newton, beat Young of Waltham 7-5, 6-1. In doubles Charles and Herbert Young of Waltham defeated Howard and Woods of Newton 6-1, 8-6.

Howard and Woods lost many points by drives out of court and into the net. They had hard luck, but put up a good game, especially in the second set. Woods was formerly a member of the Somerville club, and for several years held the championship of the club and of Middlesex county. He won first prize at the recent tournament of the Neighborhood Club of West Newton.

Prof. Robert E. Thompson, the leading protectionist instructor in the schools of the United States, has been forced out of the university of Pennsylvania. He was asked to resign, but failing to do so, has been dismissed by the trustees on a vote of 18 to 3. And nobody seems to know just why. Certainly it cannot be that his doctrines have come into disfavor—not while Pennsylvania continues to produce pig-iron—Springfield Republican.

Is He Your friend?

Is the family doctor your friend? How many unnecessary visits does he make you? How many days does he keep you sick that you ought to be at your work, and so doing how many hard-earned dollars does he extort from you? Would it not be better for you to place your trust in Sulphur Bitters? Try them, they will be a true friend. Saving you a long sickness and a large bill, which you have hitherto paid to some avaricious doctor.—Editor State Journal.

The longest bridge in the world is the Lion bridge near Sangang, in China. It extends 5-14 miles over the sea of the Yellow sea and is supported by 800 stone arches. The roadway is 70 feet above the water and is enclosed in an iron network. A marble lion 21 feet long rests on the crown of every pillar. The bridge was built at command of the Emperor Kieng Long, who abdicated in 1790 on account of old age.

Literary Notes.

A new story by Constance Fenimore Woolson, entitled "In Sloane Street," will be among the attractions contained in Harper's Bazar for June 11th. There will also be in the same number an article on "Cleveland's Sorosis," written by Helen Waters, giving an account of the organization and aims of one of the most influential woman's associations in the West.

Harper & Brothers will publish June 7th a new novel by Miss M. E. Braddon, entitled The Venetians; a practical manual of horsemanship for ladies, entitled How Women should Ride, by "C. de Hurst," Diego Pinzon, a story of the discovery of America, written for young people by John Russell Coryell; and Vestry of the Basins, a new novel by Mrs. S. P. McLean Greene, author of Cape Cod Folks, etc.

Mr. John Sherwood's story of New York society, A Transplanted Rose, will be published soon in a new edition as a volume in "Harper's Franklin Square Library."

The next number in "Harper's Franklin Square Library" will be a collection of stories by John Heard, Jun., entitled A Charge for France, and other Stories. With illustrations.

The Framingham Center Village Improvement society has purchased a quantity of flower seeds for free distribution among people who will show them in places where they will best beautify the appearance of the village.

The Housekeeper's Friend.

A friend in need is a friend indeed, and such a friend you will always find in Sulphur Bitters. They cured me of dyspepsia, when I had given up my life in despair and was almost at death's door. They are a true friend of the sick.—Mrs. R. Crague, Hartford, Connecticut.

The Grave Stone of John Fuller. I have just returned from a visit to the old cemetery in Newton Centre and was much interested to find the grave stone of John Fuller, the first of that name in Newton, who died Feb. 7th, 1828-9 aged 87.

I found the stone in almost perfect condition, but entirely loose, and leaning against another stone.

I wish to make the suggestion that his many descendants living in Newton contribute the sum of $100.00 for the purpose of having the original slate stone inserted in a new granite stone, and thus perpetuate for many years more the name of one of the original settlers of Newton.

I shall be glad to receive contributions, and will see that the work is done in a suitable manner.

I will commence the contribution with $5.00. CHARLES F. READ, a descendant of John Fuller.

The Most Curious Book in the World.

A book belonging to the family of Prince de Lige, now in France, is said to be the most curious book in the world, because it is neither written nor printed.

The letters of the text are cut out of each folio upon the finest vellum; and being interleaved with blue paper, it is as easily read as print. The labor bestowed upon it was excessive. Rudolph II, of Germany, offered for it, in 1640, 11,000 ducats, probably equal to $60,000 at this day.

A remarkable circumstance connected with literary treasure is that it bears the royal arms of England; but it cannot be traced to have ever been in that country.

The man who is always looking for trouble invariably makes lots of it for other people.

Doesn't "look" as she ought —the weak, nervous and ailing woman. As long as she suffers from the aches, pains, and derangements peculiar to her sex, she can't expect to.

But there's only herself to blame. With Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, she's a different woman.

And it's a change that can be seen as well as felt. The system is invigorated, the blood enriched, digestion improved, melancholy and nervousness dispelled.

With the "Favorite Prescription," all the proper functions are restored to healthy action. Periodical pains, weak back, bearing-down sensations, nervous prostration, all "female complaints" are cured by it. It's the only medicine for woman's weaknesses and ailments that's guaranteed to do what is claimed for it. If it doesn't give satisfaction, in every case for which it's recommended, the money is returned.

Can something else offered by the dealer, though it may pay him better, be "just as good"?

Two Bottles Cured Her. VI

CARROLL, Iowa, July, 1890.

I was suffering 10 years from shocks in my head, so much so that at times I didn't expect to recover. I took medicines from many doctors, but did not get any relief until I took Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic. The second dose relieved me and 2 bottles cured me. S. W. PECK.

HARRISVILLE, Pa., March, 1891.

We began using Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic for our 14-year-old daughter who had had epileptic fits since she was 5 years old over a year ago with but little hope of any good, as we had been so often disappointed in other remedies, but soon after using this medicine she began to get better and we hope that any and all afflicted with this terrible disease will try your wonderful remedy. I recommend your medicine to every one afflicted with any nervous affliction whatever.

A Valuable Book on Nervous Diseases sent free to any address and poor patients can also obtain this medicine free of charge.

This remedy has been prepared by the Reverend Pastor Koenig, of Fort Wayne, Ind., since 1876, and is now prepared under his direction by the

—Mr. Wm. F. Arrington of Institution Hill has returned to his home in Salem.
—Mr. Sherman Halsted of Crescent avenue is at Cohasset for a short sojourn.
—Mr. F. H. Butts and family of Summer street are in Norwich, Ct., for a few weeks visit.
—Mr. Arthur D. Chandler has accepted a call to a large church in Cape May City, N. J.
—Dr. H. J. Bigelow and family have returned for the summer to their Oak Hill estate.
—Mr. Benj. W. Farris of the Hill has been called to Danville, Va., and has accepted.

—Some very handsome shoes at Geo. H. Loomer's, see his advertisement in another column.
—Mr. J. A. Hovey has moved into the house on Summer street just vacated by Prof. Burton.
—Mrs. Mary Ayer and daughter of Wellesley have been visiting her sister on Bowen street.
—Rev. William R. Clark, D. D., and family removed this week to their future home in Lynn.

—Mr. Guy Lamkin and family of Boston are expected soon for their usual summer residence among us.
—Messrs. Bemis & Jewett are doing considerable painting at Winthrop Beach, also at Nantasket Beach.

—Dr. George W. West and family of Chestnut Hill will pass the month of July and August at Nahant.

—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harnden have taken apartments at Mrs. Rowe's Institution avenue, for the summer.
—Rev. Alexander T. Bowser and family left town for the summer on Wednesday, and are at the Seaside House, Cotuit.

—Mr. J. A. Andrews, the purchaser of the A. D. S. Bell estate, Chestnut Hill, has moved into the house on Hammond street.
—Mr. F. W. Turner's house near Crystal Lake has been leased by Mr. G. H. Green of Boston, who will occupy it during the summer.

—Mr. R. H. White and family of the Victoria and Mr. "Dick" Wilder and family of the Berkeley, are at Chestnut Hill for the summer.

—Prof. J. M. English preached Sunday at the Baptist church, and it is understood that he will occupy the pulpit during June and July.
—Mr. Graves of Yankton, Dak., gave a very interesting talk in the Congregational church, Sunday morning, on missionary work in that section.

—Alvin J. Roach, who works for Mr. A. W. Snow, stepped on a nail Tuesday which penetrated the sole of his foot and he is now confined to the house.

—Mr. and Mrs. Alanson Bigelow, Jr., of Chestnut Hill, go this week to the cottage at Hull which Mr. Bigelow has rented for the season. Mr. Home Bigelow will spend the summer with his brother.

—Prof. E. D. Burton and family left town this week and are now in Needham. They intend visiting several friends before their final departure for Chicago, where Prof. Burton has accepted a professorship.

—The sewer contractors have commenced work this week on Station street, near White's block, and soon after the street will be as uncomfortable for the traveling public as those on the north side have been.

—List of letters are as follows: Bessie Boyle, Elbridge Devine, Michael Darcy, Mr. D. Fallon, Mr. Grant, Miss Arvilla Harvey, Mr. E. F. Hilditch, (Catholic clergy), James McFeeley, Mrs. Malcolm Martin, Fred Richards, Nellie Waterhouse, care E. A. Jones.

—Mr. Thomas Nickerson has sent a letter to the city clerk, saying that he signed the petition for the widening of Beacon street under a misrepresentation, and asking that his name be removed. He is opposed to any widening of the street to over 70 feet.

—Seven of the recent graduates and students of the Theological Institution have gone on a trip to England. They were offered passage in a freight steamer by Mr. Jas. G. McLean, who is interested in the vessel, and the party will have a very novel, but enjoyable trip.

—Tomorrow Newton plays the strong Hudson nine on Walworth's field and will put the following nine in the field. Farren, cf.; Bowen, 1b.; McLean, 1b.; Warren, rf.; Capt. Hubbard, ss.; Hunting, 3b.; Lowell, 2b.; Dowd, p.; Cushing, c. The game will be called at 3.30. Seats will remain at 15 cents.

—An addition of 20x24 feet is soon to be made for Mr. D. H. McLean at the rear of the store now occupied by him in White's block. The present store is too small for the large stock of goods which he is compelled to keep and more room has been needed for some time. The addition will be utilized to relieve his present floor space and he contemplates having his workshop located at the rear end of this new part instead of in the basement as at present.

—The Newton base ball nine will have a great game, June 17th, at Walworth's field. Their opponents will be the celebrated Milford by whom they were defeated at Milford last Saturday in a stubborn ten-inning contest. The Milford are ball players from way back and defeating them means a tussle of the liveliest description. The field arrangements on Memorial Day were excellent and showed how comfortably a large audience could be accommodated. No better opportunity this season will be afforded to see the home team put to its mettle.

NEWTON HIGH LANDS.

—Mr. O. J. Kimball is registered at the Metropolitan, New York.

—Mrs. H. P. Ayer is spending a few days with her parents at Winchester.

—The Chautauque Circle will meet next Monday at Mrs. F. C. Hyde's.

—The Newton club hold a picnic at Mrs. Strong's, Waban, next Tuesday, June 14.

—The electric road is now being built on Eliot street, and has reached the Upper Falls.

—Mrs. Nelson and her daughter have returned from their visit to friends in New Jersey.

—Rev. Mr. Rexford of Roxbury, will conduct the Unitarian services next Sunday at 4 o'clock.

—Mrs. O. J. Kimball is able to be out again, and enjoying carriage rides with her new team.

—Don't forget that ball game on Walworth's Field, June 17th. Go and see those Milford play with the Newtons.

—Messrs. Simpson Bro's. are doing a large number of concreting jobs at the Highlands.

—We hear that the city has accepted that portion of Chester st. between Forest st. and Hillside avenue.

—Mrs. R. Whight still remains at South Boston, her former home, on account of the illness of her mother.

—The M. E. Society will postpone their observance of children's Sunday to the third Sunday of the month.

—There will be a very entertaining concert by the children at the Congregational church next Sunday evening.

—Next Sunday will be children's Sunday at the Congregational church. Children will be presented for baptism.

—Mr. G. F. Higgins has sold his house near Eliot station to a resident of the Highlands, who will soon occupy the same.

—Mr. and Mrs. Morgan, who have spent the winter with their daughter, Mrs. E. Shute, have gone to their home at Damariscotta, Maine.

—Mr. A. Hodges, civil engineer, of Boylston street, is at Fall River superintending the construction of a railroad, of which he has the contract.

—Mr. C. C. Small of Floral avenue is having his house painted by Mr. G. L. Avery, and Mr. A. W. Small of Walnut st. is doing likewise.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. Tyler, and Mr. and Mrs. C. Peter Clark, have returned from Portland, Maine, where they have been to attend the wedding of a relative.

—A new front is being put in the dining room occupied by Miss Blue, which improves the appearance much. Mr. W. B. McMullen had charge of the work.

—Bert Kimball while sliding to a base in a game of ball last Saturday, dislocated his wrist badly, and will carry it in splint for some time. Dr. Wiley attends him.

—Mr. W. H. Knight, has closed his house on Duncklee st. and will soon remove to Lynn, on account of his business engagements, and will offer his estate for sale.

—Mr. G. M. Geyer of Boylston st., who has been switchman at the Boylston st. junction for the past ten years has resigned his position, and will remove from the Highlands.

—The cellar for a house is being put in at the junction of Hillside and Terrace ave., between the residences of Mr. A. F. Atwood and Mr. E. P. Bosson, for some party not a resident of the Highlands.

—A new street is being built from Centre street, opposite the estate of Mr. Henry Paul, through the Cushing land to the land of Mr. Hayward, from which point the street is partially built to Hyde st. Mr. Chas. Hale has the contract.

—"One of the finest entertainments given in the hall this year," is what one person said of the Cantata given by the M. E. Society last week on Thursday evening.

The choruses were finely rendered, and the solos very effective. Miss Netherbee sang the "Swinging Song" in her usual graceful style; Miss Lena Berry sang a "Rose Song" in a very sweet and pleasing manner; one of the most taking parts was the duet, "Sunshine after Rain" sung by Miss Stevens and Master Stevens. Mr. Brickett sang "A Jolly Good Laugh" in an inspiring manner, and the song was followed by shouts of genuine laughter. Mr. Hyde figured as the unfortunate man who had not brought his umbrella, and requested the loan of that article in three verses of "Will anybody lend me an umbrella?" The greatest hit of the evening was the introduction of a hoop-drill performed most skillfully and gracefully by the following young misses, Daisy Glover, Leonide Leonard, Leola Nichols, Edith Whittens, Mary Richards, Edith Warner, Hattie Brigham, Ruth Brigham, Addie Glover, Ethel Eaton, Helen Wood, Rebecca Wood, Celeste Reed, Amy Sussman, Grace Simpson, Annie Briggs, Millie Bragdon, Edith Dutton, Ruth Bragdon and Helene Mansfield. The festival was also a financial success.

NEWTON UPPER FALLS.

—For other news see page seven.

—Farley, pianos, 433 Wash. St., Newton.

—Mrs. and Mrs. Otis Theodoros Pettee, nee Maverick, held the first of their wedding receptions at their home on Eliot street last Thursday. Mrs. Pettee wore her wedding gown of cream silk and lace and duchesse lace. A handsome collation was served during the evening. Among the guests were Judge Adams, Judge and Mrs. Emory Grover, Mr. J. Gardner and Miss Gardner, of New York; Mrs. William H. Vandervoort, of Dorchester; Mr. Charles Davenport, Dr. and Mrs. Louis E. Morton.

NEWTON LOWER FALLS.

—Mr. C. H. Worthington has returned to Chicago.

—Rev. P. H. Callanan of St. John's church is among the list of $100 donors for the Carney Hospital.

—About 60 couple attended the military ball in Freeman hall last Friday evening. Supper was served in basement of St. John's church.

—A song and dance artist opened for business in the square Monday evening, and after humoring the crowd sold a number of worthless articles.

—Mr. John Dolan purchased a new horse last Saturday at Snow's auction rooms, Boston, and finding him to be a runaway returned him Monday.

—The ladies of the M. E. church are making earnest efforts to win success at their annual lawn party which occurs as usual on the 17th. A good time for all is guaranteed.

—Mr. Peter C. Baker met with quite a serious accident at West Newton last week while waiting at the depot to take the train for Boston, being run into by a heavily loaded truck which passed over his leg severely bruising it.

—Mr. James Early has taken possession of the grocery business of the late D. O'Brien. Mr. Early has acted as a grocery clerk in the store for 13 years and has a bright outlook for a successful future in a well established business.

—A special town meeting called a large number of Wellesley's citizens to town hall last Wednesday evening. Considerable business was transacted. The question of additional school buildings is settled for the present at least being voted down.

—Children's Day will be observed at the M. E. church on Sunday next with appropriate services. In the morning the pastor will preach to the young people on the subject, "Trees of Righteousness" illustrating it with an object lesson. In the evening the Sunday school will hold its annual Children's Day concert, with music, recitations, etc. A cordial invitation is extended to all interested to attend.

WABAN.

—The caterpillars have made a sad havoc with the apple orchard on the city farm.

—Mrs. Leola Nicholson is visiting at her cousin's, Mrs. W. R. Dresser, Chestnut street.

—Mrs. W. R. Dresser returned home Saturday from an extensive trip through the Southern States.

—Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Harlow spent last Wednesday night with Mrs. L. H. Harlow at Cottage City, Mass.

—Mr. W. F. Goodwin has let his house to Mr. Rand of Rand & Crane, jewelers, Boston, for the summer.

—Mr. Davenport and family moved into the Fuller house, last Tuesday, having hired it for the summer season.

—The Tennis Club held a meeting at Mr. C. J. Buffum's, Beacon street, last Tuesday evening. It was voted to call the club the "Corner Court Club" and to also limit the membership. Back nets are soon to be placed in position and a substantial chest for the nets and balls will be purchased. It was also voted to hold a tournament, June 17th. After the business dancing was enjoyed.

Charles Ward Post Fete.

The Messrs. N. T. & J. T. Allen have kindly allowed to Charles Ward Post 63, G. A. R., the use of their grounds and school buildings, corner Washington and Highland streets, West Newton, for the purpose of holding a Fete on Friday, June 17, afternoon and evening. The proceeds of this entertainment will be used to assist in defraying expenses of comrades to National Encampment, G. A. R., in September next.

Citizens of Newton, always patriotic, always ready to aid the veterans of '61-'65, can purchase tickets to be had of members of this Post, and by so doing allow them the privilege of once more marching down Pennsylvania avenue.

Columbia Theatre.

Patrons of the handsome Columbia Theatre will certainly hail with delight the advent of Edward Harrigan and his entire company from New York, who begin on Monday next a limited engagement in the great success of the season in that city, "Hei! and the 400."

The play had a run of over 400 nights in New York and will be presented at the Columbia with the original cast, scenery and properties incidental in the original production in Gotham.

Mr. Harrigan plays the inimitable Willy Reilly; John Wild will be seen as Salvador Magnus; Joseph Sparks as Lizzie Calhoun and Mrs. Annie Yeamans as Mary Ann Dooley.

Dave Braham, who composed all the music of the piece, will be in the musical director's chair, and under his baton, "Jim-Jam Sailor Superfine," "I've Come Home to Stay," "Maggie Murphy's Home" and "Taking in the Town" will be heard to best advantage, and doubtless the refrain will be taken up on the street with renewed vigor by the whistling young man.

—The Epworth League of the M. E. church are enjoying an excursion to Concord today, with a dinner on the shores of Lake Walden.

—Mrs. E. W. Converse, Jr., sailed for Europe last Saturday, where she will meet Mr. Converse, Sr., and Mr. Harry Converse, and spend some weeks in travelling.

—The Hotel Hunnewell's fine grounds and elevated site make it a charming summer home. Mr. Harwood has several pleasant rooms which can be secured for the season.

—Vice-President Mason E. Stearns will give a reception to the members of the Nonantum Club and their lady friends on the club grounds, today, from 5 to 10 p. m.

—Mr. Leo Schulz, one of the solo violinists of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, will assist the choir, Eliot church, at the usual evening service next Sunday, June 19th.

—The new hose house and police station at Nonantum is already sufficiently started to attract attention, and the people of that section of the city feel that a long felt want is being filled.

—Judge Kennedy sails from Montreal a week from tomorrow for a nine weeks trip to Europe, in company with a brother lawyer and a physician. The party expect to visit many points of interest.

—The ice cream soda trade has been very large the past week. F. A. Hubbard has put in a Waltzing ice cream cabinet, which is a great advance in the art of dispensing ice cream soda, both as regards cleanliness and purity.

—The Social Science Club was entertained on Monday by Mrs. Sawyer, at her residence at Chestnut Hill. Papers were read in the morning, lunch was served from 1 to 2, and the afternoon was spent on the lawn. There was a large attendance.

—Monday and Tuesday Mr. Paxton's orders for ice cream came in by the hundred, some coming from as far as Waban, and several extra teams had to be put on to deliver the orders. Mr. Paxton's cream and sherbet are admitted to be the best of their kind.

—The Children's Concert at the M. E. Church last Sunday evening attracted a large audience. Rev. Dillon Bronson gave a ten minute sermon and Superintendent Eaton gave an enjoyable talk. Singing and exercises by the classes made up a very interesting concert.

—Miss M. L. Wagstaff has reopened her pleasant house at Strawberry Hill, a basket, which is in a delightful situation, on the broad side of the ocean, and the Newton people would find it a delightful place to spend their vacation, and all the appointments of the house are perfect.

—Cards are out for the wedding of Miss Mary Grace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Harkins, to Dr. Sampson A. Callanan, on June 28th at 9 o'clock, at St. Joseph's church, Roxbury. They will reside in Roxbury, and will be at home after October 1st, on Warren street, corner of Warren place.

—Music in Grace Church on Sunday night: Professional, "O' was a joyful sound." Parker Anthem, "My soul doth magnify." Wood Boy's Solo, "He giveth his beloved sleep." Calcott Anthem, "Give peace in our time." This is the famous Peace Anthem.

—The "High Tea" given by Mrs. Dr. Stone and Miss Stone, at their Vernon residence last Friday evening, was one of the largest social events of the season, and Newton society was very largely represented. Many guests were also present from out of town.

—Wednesday evening Mr. Julian de Cordova of Lincoln was being driven in the Elmwood street when his coachman drove against the curb at the depot, being confused by the electric light. Mr. de Cordova was thrown against the carriage window, breaking it, and his head was badly cut. Dr. Hudson dressed his wounds.

—Music at Eliot Church next Sunday evening, June 19, at 7:30 o'clock; the choir assisted by Mr. Leo Schulz, Cellist:

Organ Prelude, Adagio, Gounod. Quartet, "O Lord, we'll not Thy face." Beethoven. Anthem, "Jerusalem." From "Gallia." Gounod. Aria, "It is enough." From "Elijah." Mendelssohn.

Organ and Cello. Agnes Dei. (St. Cecilia Mass.) Gounod. Organ Postlude. Coronation March. Meyerbeer.

—There was a very successful auction sale on Boyd and Emerson streets, last Saturday afternoon, conducted by Elliott J. Hyde. The new house built by R. J. Morrissey on Boyd street with 6000 feet of land was sold to Mrs. Alice H. Gallagher for $4,700, who buys it as an investment. The five lots of land were sold for 15-4 cents a foot to Mr. Francis Murdoch.

—The W. C. T. U. held its closing meeting of the season Monday, June 13. A novel plan has been adopted for raising funds. Each member is requested to save or earn one dollar, to be handed in at a "Dollar Experience Meeting" in September, when there will be opportunity for comparing experiences in economy and enterprise.

—Children's Sunday services at Eliot church attracted a large congregation, both morning and evening. Rev. Dr. Calkins gave a sermon to the children in the morning, and in the afternoon the young ladies of the church decorated it with flowers, so that a beautiful picture was presented in the evening. Rev. Dr. Twombly made a brief address to the children, and the other exercises were by the Sunday school, who occupied the choir seats and led the singing. There were solos by Carl Ellison, Mrs. Gross and Miss Lawton, and a duet by Misses Carrie Eddy and Mabel Gaffield.

—A piano recital in aid of the widow and children of the late Mr. Charles Thrasher is generously offered by Prof. Carl Baermann and will find glad response from the many citizens of Newton who are lovers of the best music and will not miss the somewhat rare opportunity of hearing Mr. Baermann in Newton. The object for which the recital is given is a most worthy one. Mr. Thrasher was a poor neighbor, rendering aid at the first of a poor neighbor's house, when he trod on a nail, which entered his foot and caused lock-jaw, of which he died in a few days. He left his family consisting of a wife and seven children in pressing need. Mr. Baermann, upon hearing of the case immediately offered this recital, which will be given in Eliot Chapel, Monday, June 27, at 8 p. m.

Mr. Baermann has arranged a very choice program, which will be printed next week. Tickets at one dollar each are now on sale at Hubbard's drug store, or may be procured from any one of the ladies named below, who are kindly acting as a committee: Mrs. John T. Lodge, Mrs. Wolcott Calkins, Mrs. Horace Edmonds, Mrs. Robert A. Reed, Mrs. Geo. S. Harwood, Mrs. J. W. Brigham, Mrs. Wm. J. Follett, Mrs. William L. Lowell, Mrs. C. W. Loring, Miss Ballister, Mrs. Wm. C. Bates, Mrs. J. Wesley Barber.

Board of Health.

At the special meeting held Wednesday evening a large number of petitioners were present. The Mayor presided and Alderman Sheppard was absent.

The notices for sewer hearing were served on residents of Sargent street between Waverly avenue and Park street, on Hollis street, north side of Jefferson street and the district included between Centre, Boyd, Jewett and Washington streets, not already connected.

The majority were given four months time to enter, Messrs. Francis C. Cook and Joseph N. Bacon, being granted three months, residents of Hollis street about 60 days, Michael Hayes of Crescent square to Apr. 1, 1893, Thomas Green of School street one year, and the following named until May 1, 1893: Mary Dunter, Dennis Leahy, Azulah M. Holmes, Pearl street; Cornelius Madden, Catherine S. McNamara, Gardner street; Mary C. Conley, Jewett street.

The cases of Rufus Estabrook heirs, McNamara heirs, and May E. Merrill, Sargent street, were tabled.

Lasell Notes.

The work of the pupils in the studio has been on exhibition a part of the commencement week, and is very thorough and creditable. A large part of it is in black and white, as Mr. Ryder holds the beginners to thorough work in this department before they advance to colors. The work in colors is mostly in still life; some of it is excellent and all, good. A certificate for special work, was awarded to Miss Alice Emily Cole of Chester, Ill.

The United States Government, through the application of Principal Bragdon, and the aid of Representative Geo. Frederick Williams, has awarded its highest honors, a gold medal, to Miss Bertie O. Burr of Nebraska, who last year saved two ladies from drowning at much personal risk. Miss Burr learned to swim at Lasell Seminary, and also the methods of resuscitation, which she used in the case of one of the ladies.

The military company of Miss Desdemona Millikin presented her with souvenir spoons. Each member of the company gave a spoon, making twenty-four in all. Miss Millikin was their captain and graduates this year.

Principal and Mrs. Bragdon gave the seniors a reception Tuesday evening.

The L. D. Society held its annual entertainment last Friday evening, June 10.

Commencement exercises on Wednesday, June 15, ended the school year, and the pupils have mostly left for their homes.

I. O. O. F. Memorial Services.

Union memorial services will be held by the different lodges of Odd Fellows, located in Newton, in the City hall on Sunday afternoon, June 19th, at 4 o'clock.

The sermon will be preached by Rev. G. Hamilton of the Shawmut Universalist church, Boston.

Addresses are expected from Past Grand Master, Levi F. Warren, and Past Grand Master, Julius L. Clarke.

Singing by the Newton lodge quartet.

Embroidery.

Mr. Walter M. Eddy, late embroidery designer of R. H. Stearns & Co., Boston, will exhibit for sale at Hotel Hunnewell on Wednesday, June 22, from 10 o'clock a. m. until 5 o'clock p. m., a choice line of embroidery linens stamped with original designs. The ladies of Newton are invited.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

THE STREET RAILWAY GETS LOCATION FOR POLES AND WIRES.

The board of aldermen met in special session Monday evening and listened to the records of several meetings and some routine business. Mayor Hibbard presided. The Newton & Boston Street Railway Co. asked for a location on the business streets of Upper Falls, in response to requests from people of that section; on Oak, Elliot, to Chestnut, to Summer, to High streets.

Alderman Hyde said that as he understood the company did not intend to build the loop at present, he moved that the petition be referred to the Highway committee, and a hearing be granted for June 27th, at 7:30; passed.

W. C. Strong and eight others asked to have Winsor road, Waban, accepted as a public highway. Referred.

The New England Telephone company asked again for a location on Winthrop, Temple, Putnam and Prince streets.

Alderman Hyde said the matter had been before the board within two months, and as the manager of the company was present he moved that he be heard as to why a hearing should be given.

The latter said that the company had many petitions from residents in that vicinity for telephones, but could not grant them, as it had no place to run wires. One of the residents over whose grounds the wires crossed had notified the company that these wires must be removed at once or he should cut them. He also read a letter from eight residents on the streets named, asking for poles, so they could have metallic service. The names were as follows: Messrs. Train, Palmer, Day, Wood, Aver, Alley, Howe and the Neighborhood Club.

The matter was referred to the license committee and a hearing granted for June 27th, at 7:25.

Chas. Esty, who asked for damages received from his horse being frightened by a steam roller, was given leave to withdraw.

S. W. Dike and others asked for granite edge stones on the corner of Hancock and Fern streets.

The highway committee reported on petition of Harbach heirs, to have the width of Beacon street, 150 feet discontinued, and the land taken restored to them, recommending that their petition be granted when they had signed a release of all claim for damages.

Alderman Wilson presented an order authorizing the mayor to modify and change the agreement with the Cottage Hospital, so that the $3,000 appropriated for the hospital be paid for those patients who have a settlement in the city and that claims for those not having a settlement be collected from the commonwealth or towns where they belong, as allowed by law, and paid over to the hospital.

Alderman Harbach asked for an explanation of the order.

Alderman Wilson said the overseers of the poor had had trouble in collecting for outside poor, treated in the hospital, and this was to remedy that.

Alderman Coffin said he had had a talk with Mr. J. R. Leeson, and he had said that the money returned to the city for the care of outside poor in the hospital, was not given to the hospital but was kept by Agent Mosman. The hospital authorities thought they were entitled to the money.

Alderman Hyde asked what member of the board had been made a trustee of the hospital, according to the plan arranged at the beginning of the year.

Mayor Hibbard said he was the member but he had not taken any part as he was waiting for the opinion of the city solicitor as to whether it was legal.

The question was then tabled until the next meeting to give a chance for Agent Mosman and others to be heard.

An order was passed giving the Newton Street Railway a location for poles and wires on Crafts and Walnut streets, to carry power for the Newton & Boston Street Railway.

The city treasurer was authorized to turn over to the trustees of the Free Library, the securities left by the will of the late David B. Jewett, inventor in February at $5,515.43. Their value then was read and certain members of the board seemed to be very familiar with the stock market, as they said the values had changed a great deal since that date and they were quite anxious to know if the city had to guarantee the stocks.

Mayor Hibbard said all they had to do was to turn them over to the library as soon as possible.

Sewers were ordered laid on George street, Jewett, Knowles, agent, Ripley, Maple Park and private land from Pleasant street to the reservoir.

The water board was authorized to lay 850 feet of 6 in. pipe on Elmhurst road, Ward 7, at a cost of $991.

The Newton & Boston Street Railway was authorized to omit granite paving blocks on one side on Walnut street, until the sewer had settled.

Alderman Hyde presented the order, granting locations for poles for the Newton & Boston Street Railway, those on Walnut street as far as Mill street, to be of iron, also on Willow, Beacon, Summer, Lincoln and High streets to be of iron and the others to be of hard pine, square at the base and painted. The order was passed.

The fire committee was authorized to expend $50 for the purchase of two horses for Truck B, and to get rid of the present team.

Alderman Sprague explained that one of the present team had fallen twice in going to the last fire and the other one was lame.

The Newton & Boston Street Railway petitioned for turnouts at Walnut street, corner of Mill and at the cemetery, and a hearing was granted for June 27th at 8 o'clock. The board then went into executive session.

Common Council.

The common council met at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening with President Roffe in the chair.

All the members were present except Councilmen Downs and Knapp.

Papers from the aldermen were passed in concurrence and the first business done by the lower branch was the revision of the list of jurors as adopted by the aldermen. In Ward One Wm. W. Wood of Thornton place was substituted for John Joyce of Thornton street and Andrew J. Solis, Boyd street, substituted for Andrew J. Solis, Jr., Boyd street. In Ward Five J. P. Estabrook of Tappan place was substituted for Erastus G. Goff of Lincoln street, Chas. H. Brown of Walnut street was substituted for Herbert D. Ward of Columbus street and Edward M. Billings of High street was substituted for Herbert M. Beal of Cottage street. In Ward Six David H. McWain of Pelham street was substituted for George M. Rice of Summer street. In Ward seven George W. Lamson of Washington street was substituted for John C. Chaffin of Vernon street.

The order appropriating $500 for the substitution of new horses on Chemical B. called out some discussion, Councilman Bothfield asking why the present horses should be released after only one year's service.

Councilman Bennett of this year's committee said the horses were totally unfit for fire service. They were of too nervous a temperament and they fell down going to fires, one being so badly injured recently from a fall as to be incapacitated for service for some time to come. The chief said the horses had not been what were needed and although they cost $800 last July he doubted if they would bring more than $200 today.

Councilman Fernald thought someone's judgment on horses was largely at fault. The horses had only a few days work during the year and to buy horses for $800 and sell for $200, a year later, did not argue well for the committee then in charge.

Councilman Bothfield thought it ridiculous that horses costing the city $800 should so deteriorate in value after one year and with the best of care. He wished the matter tabled for further enlightenment.

Councilman Bennett said the horses must be provided at once as those in use could not now be used.

The order was then amended by Councilman Bothfield that the money from the sale of the present horses revert to the city treasury.

The council then adjourned.

After the exercises in the gymnasium were over the company adjourned to the lawn; the class tree was planted, the oration being given by Miss Julia Wolfe; the effigy of Scyllus Literatus was burned on the funeral pyre, builded of abandoned textbooks; the dirge was sung, and when came an hour of social pleasure, made bright and enjoyable for all the friends of Lasell by "the girls of '92."

SENIOR CLASS RECEPTION.

Tuesday evening the spacious grounds of Lasell assumed a festive appearance, the occasion being the reception given by Prof. and Mrs. C. C. Bragdon to the members of the graduating class.

The reception is always looked forward to as one of the pleasantest events of commencement week. So many friends of the pupils are among the guests that no one can fail to be happy, and the utmost exertions are made by the principal and faculty to insure enjoyment to every one.

Among the pleasant events that mark the close of the year was the presentation to Miss Desdemona Miliken, Captain of Co. C. Lasell battalion, of Decatur, a set of 22 souvenir spoons by the members of her company.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES.

The commencement exercises of the senior class of Lasell Seminary were held in the Congregational church, Auburndale, Wednesday morning. The address was delivered by President Hyde of Bowdoin College who took for his subject the motto of the class, "True Lives and Earnest."

The graduating class, with the subject of essays, are as follows:

Sadie West Burrill, Ellsworth, Me. Subject of essay, "The Unheroic Hero." Alice Emily Cole, Ellsworth, Me. Subject of essay, "The Art of Advertising." Edna Mary Dyer, Ellsworth, Me. Subject of essay, "America for Americans." Mabel Cole Kelley, Ellsworth, Me. Subject of essay, "Cranks." Desdemona Miliken, Decatur, Ill. Subject of essay, "From Sun to Sun." Anna Staley, Ellsworth, Me. Subject of essay, "The Gospel of Toil." Julia Taylor Wolfe, St. Louis, Mo. Subject of essay, "The Electric Age."

The following prizes and certificates have been awarded for the year:

SAVED TWO FROM DROWNING.

MISS BERTIE BURR TO RECEIVE THE GOVERNMENT'S GOLD MEDAL.

A decided stimulus is likely to be given to the cultivation of athletics at girls' college by an award decided upon Monday at the treasury department at Washington.

Representative George Fred Williams of Massachusetts appeared before the board which awards medals for heroism in saving life and urged that a medal be given to Miss Bertie G. Burr of Nebraska for rescuing two young ladies from drowning in the Blue river near Crete, Neb., last summer.

A number of young ladies were bathing in the river, when one of them threw up her hands and disappeared, sinking twice before Miss Burr saw her. Miss Burr could go to her rescue.

Miss Burr was the only swimmer in the party of five or six, and plunged boldly into the swift current, bringing the drowning young woman safely to shore.

Another young woman waded so far out into the stream under the excitement of the moment that she was carried off her feet by the current, and Miss Burr swam out again and brought her safely to shore.

The striking fact about this double rescue was that Miss Burr was the only swimmer in the party, but that she had learned to swim at Lasell female seminary at Auburndale, Mass. The principal of the seminary, Prof. Bragdon, wrote a strong letter on the subject to Representative Williams and Mr. Williams went to the treasury department and presented the case so strongly to the examining board that it was voted unanimously to grant a medal. The courageous young woman, if Secretary Foster approves the report of the examining board, will only a further distinction in the career of her medal will be of gold instead of silver.

Silver medals are granted for displays of heroism, and gold medals are granted rarely for cases of extraordinary daring and endurance. Miss Burr did not intend to go into the water at all on the day of the rescue because she was not feeling in the best of spirits; but when she saw the danger of her companions she took no account of her own feelings, but, recalling her training at Lasell, plunged bravely into the stream.

The necessary official regard is as one of the most striking cases of courage and self-possession which has been brought to their attention, and as, perhaps, more remarkable, though not more creditable, in being displayed by a carefully educated society girl rather than by a fisherman's daughter or some one accustomed to such risks.

The Greenwood Avenue Crossing.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:—

The account of the terrible accident at the Greenwood avenue crossing in one of the Boston papers was accompanied by the statement that the crossing was not a public one. Can you tell us, by what authority it is proclaimed this is not a public crossing? We have with others, for many years, owned land and buildings with no other access to town or city road but this, and it was the same when the Worcester R. R. obtained its charter, when the Railroad purchased the strip of land shutting the farm from any other access to the Town Road, reserving this crossing as the only dependence of a large tract of land extending to the south side of the hill by the opened way of Greenwood avenue, and it has been an open public way ever since the railroad was built. Moreover, the charter giving leave to take any land chosen for their purpose, making the road responsible for all damages. These are the words of the charter.

"Provided all damage that may be occasioned by any person or Corporation taking such land or materials for the purpose aforesaid, shall be paid for by said Corporation as hereinafter provided."

"May make such laws and regulations as are not repugnant to the constitution of the Commonwealth."

"Shall be helden to pay all damages that may arise to any person or corporation by reason of taking such land for the road."

"If crossing any private way shall so construct as not to obstruct the safe and convenient use of such private way."

Legislature may reduce the tolls."

This has always been a very dangerous crossing. Approaching trains from the East being seen for a distance so short, with double tracks and double speed. Years ago we called the attention of the Railroad and of the City to it a flagman which we persistently urged, would have saved this young lady's life.

A Plea for Webster Park.

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic:—

I would like to draw the attention of the City Fathers to this charming suburb to the disgraceful way in which Webster Park, the only breathing spot for that part of West Newton, is kept.

Nature alone has done what has been done, and you know nature never goes quite far enough. For instance, the cow's tail, which only takes the flies off a part of that poor beast. She ought to have a longer tail or no flies. I say no flies for preference. Art has to come in and help nature.

O, that those City Fathers would enlarge the universal fatherhood and do something for Webster Park. The few who live in that Park are not by any means all who would enjoy a change there. Every rosy babe and jolly little child and every mother, within a radius of a mile or two, would raise up their voices in gratitude to those City Fathers. Perhaps, even the people around the Park do not care for a change. They have it all to themselves now, but the many ought to enjoy that breathing spot. I do not think it would be a very expensive undertaking. At present it is simply a wood. Some of the poorest trees want taking away, the ground laid in grass, a few walks made, and a few simple benches supplied.

O, ye great Gods and little fishes! What a chance of doing a generous deed at small expenditure have those noble City Fathers. I hope they will seize the opportunity, so that the generations to come may rise up and call them blessed, and those here now shall sing their praises when they make that "wilder-ness blossom," and their deed shall be wafted down to ages, a fragrant memory.

The winds that whisper through each tree, Whispers a memory to me, Of goodness wrought by all of thee, Thou City Fathers.

And then, ah, then, arise with might, And set this crying nuisance right, And bring with the sweet comfort bright, Great City Fathers.

Hoping my humble pen, although lacking the sacred fire, may know those aforesaid Fathers their duty in this matter, that they may screw their courage to the sticking point, I remain,

Respectfully yours,

H. A. P. Y.

NEWTON TARIFF REFORM CLUB. The Tariff is a Tax.

Every person interested in the subject of the tariff, is cordially invited to take part in the discussion carried on in this column. The consideration will be given to inquiries, criticisms, and communications of every kind, whether coming from Tariff Reformers, Free Traders or High Protectionists. Address: Secretary of the Tariff Reform Club, Newton Centre Mass.

OUR RELATIONS WITH CANADA.

SENATOR McPHERSON'S MINORITY REPORT ON THE SUBJECT.

Senator McPherson of New Jersey submitted a strong minority report to the National Senate on behalf of the Democratic members of the special subcommittee on relations with Canada.

Senator McPherson declares that at the very outset of the investigation it was evident that his colleague, Senator Morrill of Vermont, when judged by the line of examination he was pursuing, was most desirous of securing evidence that would tend to show that the Canadian bear the entire burden of duties imposed on their exports to the United States, and that the increase in duties under the McKinley act had not tended to advance the price of any article to the American consumers. Senator McPherson continues as follows:

Even if this contention be conceded, it is difficult to see how the producers of the United States will be benefited, applying, as we must, the same principle to our exports to Canada that Mr. Morrill would insist upon as the governing principle as regards imports from Canada. The statistics for 1890 give our export values to the Dominion of Canada at $35,644,857, subject to Canadian customs laws, while our import values from these countries for the same year were $36,593,563, subject to American customs laws. For the fiscal year 1891 our exports to the Dominion of Canada have decreased $1,470,809, while our imports from the said countries had decreased only $107,177, thus showing conclusively that the effects of the McKinley act had been more disastrous to us than to our Canadian neighbors. The whole subject might well be dismissed here, as proving from the above statistics that the imposition of duties by both countries is of no value to the people of either country.

Canadian competition is necessarily confined almost entirely to the products of the forest and the farm, and may properly be stated as comprised in two classes: In the first class we place such products as wheat, cattle, beef, pork, butter, cheese, etc., all of which are exported by both countries to a foreign market, and the prices for which are fixed in European markets, and, to reach which, the Canadian exporter has a decided advantage in respect to the cost of transportation. Under the second class we place such products as wheat, cattle, beef, pork, butter, cheese, etc., all of which are exported by both countries to a foreign market, and the prices for which are fixed in European markets, and, to reach which, the Canadian exporter has a decided advantage in respect to the cost of transportation.

If, however, as often occurs, an abnormal demand is made on this side for such product, owing to bad seasons, loss of crops, and other unavoidable causes, the tax in turn is transferred to the shoulders of the American consumer, and becomes what the more anxious buyer is obliged to pay, and not what the less anxious seller is willing to accept.

A forcible illustration of this is found in the article of butter imported from Canada for the years 1890 and 1891. In 1890 we imported 54,900 pounds of butter from Canada; in 1891 we imported from Canada 351,391 pounds of butter. In the first year of the McKinley act the importation of butter had increased nearly 700 per cent, notwithstanding the duty had been increased 50 per cent.

It will scarcely be denied, in view of the large export to the United States, that our market afforded the best outlet for Canadian butter; and, in order that my honorable colleagues might know upon this subject the well known firm of Stephen Underhill of New York, the largest dealers in this country in Canadian butter. The response is as follows:

In reply to your questions in respect to our trade with the Dominion of Canada in the article of butter, I beg to say that in the year 1891 we purchased largely in Canada, and the prices paid ranged from 15 to 22 cents per pound, the latter for extra creamery, and that in all cases we paid the duty and charged the duty, cost and profit upon consumers here.

Senator McPherson shows like peculiar effects of the McKinley law in regard to barley, malt, hops, hay, eggs, potatoes, beans, horses and sheep. The price of Canadian barley, he says, increased 14 cents per bushel under an increase in duty of 20 cents per bushel.

The following facts are stated by the New Jersey senator in regard to coal: The testimony shows that at Eastport, Me., within a few miles of the great coal deposits in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, with cheap water transportation, they were supplied from the coal fields of Pennsylvania. That the rates for transportation of this coal from New York to Eastport was often as low as 50 cents per ton, and that it was sold at Eastport slightly above Boston rates; also, that American coal, hard and soft, had the entire control of the Canadian market west of Montreal. It cost 20 cents per ton to distribute coal in and about the harbor of New York to consumers. This is the rate fixed by the coal combination, and I am credibly informed that it costs $1 per ton to transport coal to consumers at the principal New England ports. Is it not, therefore, amazing that the coal combine is longer permitted under the operation of our tax laws to reap its greedy harvest in manufacturing New England, as well as the middle states?

Tariff and Wages.

While the delegates of the republican party have been lauding at Minneapolis the benefits of a high tariff, an industrial war has been brewing in western Pennsylvania between the iron and steel manufacturers and the amalgamated association of iron and steel workers. The employers are bent on making a general reduction in wages, ranging, according to the Pittsburgh Dispatch, from 20 to 50 per cent. That the changes are really radical is indicated by the Pittsburgh Commercial Gazette, which says: "Never in the history of the western iron and steel trades have there been such radical and such important changes in wages proposed." The only crises of equal seriousness were in 1879 and 1880. Of course the labor unions are preparing to resist the purposes of the employers in a struggle which may have life or death to their organizations as an issue. A reduction of 10 per cent might be accepted by the amalgamated association, but the manufacturers seem bound to cut deeper into the scale of wages now prevailing. If no compromise is reached, the country is promised a labor war of great intensity at the opening of a presidential campaign. Such an upheaval among the iron and steel workers in resistance to a radical reduction in wages would be likely to injure the republican cause among the

Collector Beard illustrated the growth of tariff Reform sentiment at the Republican Editor's Club by praising the McKinley tariff as approaching more nearly to free trade than any other tariff we have ever had and saying we are more of a free trade nation than any except England.

Harrison's Renomination.

Mr. J. R. Leeson was interviewed by the Boston Herald on President Harrison's renomination and said:

"I think that the convention acted wisely from every point of view. It is the opinion of those who stand high in the councils of the nation that the presidential chair has never been filled by an able man than the present chief executive. It is evident to those who have watched President Harrison, and seen his manly purpose of fulfilling the obligations of his position, that he has had but one single idea in view, that of acquitting himself to produce the best and most lasting benefit to the country. He is not a narrow partisan; he has shown great ability in public affairs, and he has adhered to the principles of civil service reform. His administration has been free from scandal, vulgarity and the commonplace."

"His course upon the free coinage question has been above reproach, an honor to himself and a credit to his party. As a sincere admirer of Mr. Blaine, I am sincerely thankful for the result of the convention. Under the circumstances, I believe it to be a much wiser decision that might have been expected."

"One of the most gratifying features of President Harrison's renomination is that it came to him despite the persistent determination to defeat it by some of the more objectionable elements in the Republican party, and he can, therefore, accept the renomination without a tinge of obligation to that element which has been a source of weakness rather than of strength."

Mr. Alden Speare says:

"President Harrison's clean, straightforward administration entitled him to a renomination. The platform adopted by the convention is entirely in accord with all that he has said and done in the past. He can stand squarely upon it and need not change his opinion upon any subject. I believe he will be, as he deserves, re-elected, no matter whom the Democrats may nominate against him."

TENTH ANNUAL DRILL.

INTERESTING COMPETITION OF THE HIGH SCHOOL BATTALION.

It was a picturesque scene, that afforded by a gayly costumed audience in which the fair sex predominated, an attractive landscape, martial music, uniforms decked with gold lace, effective decorative features and the pretty evolutions of a battalion of Newton's student soldiers whose excellent appearance and manly bearing is, perhaps, the most convincing argument of the value of military instruction as a part of the High school curriculum.

It was the tenth annual drill of the High school battalion, held last Saturday afternoon on the High school grounds, and it attracted a large company of spectators. It is estimated that fully 1500 persons were present. The High school girls formed a conspicuous element in the audience, their light costumes contrasting effectively with the predominating darker hues of the surroundings. The officers of the calisthenic battalion wore the conventional blue skirt, blouse and jaunty cap with its insignia of gold lace, and occupied seats in front, commanding a fine view of the field. Near by were members of the faculty and the usual representation of the school board, city government and neighboring school military organizations including the Institute of Technology, Boston Latin, Channing Hall, Malden and Brookline schools. The decorations deserve more than a passing notice, especially as the tasteful arrangement and draping was the work of the girls of the several classes. The trees on the parade ground were given a red dress, yellow streamers caught up by black bows were festooned upon the sides of the High school building, the residences opposite were decorated with white streamers and the overhead panel of the central house in the group bore the figures "92," significant numbers to those who in the future will look back upon the record of the senior class of that year.

The battalion marched on the field at 2:30 o'clock and gathered inspiration from the patriotic selection rendered by the Salem Cadet band. The line was formed by Adj. Crafts and immediately thereafter the drill in the manual was inaugurated under the direction of Maj. Thomas. At its close various battalion marching movements were executed. Following the battalion drill came an interesting event, that of the company competition for first and second prizes. Co. B. first took the field and made a creditable exhibition of its drill work in the manual. In the general drill it was surpassed by Co. C, the next claimant for honors, the latter showing more steadiness. Co. A. made a fine showing, both in the manual and marching movements and D proved a favorite with the crowd. The latter company made up of the younger element of the school, and considering its restricted opportunities, having had the benefit of only one year's military instruction, is entitled to much praise for making a strong bid for second prize.

The individual competition of corps, stirred up the enthusiasm of the spectators. The squad was made up of 43 picked men under command of Adj. Crafts. In the second round only 20 appeared and they were destined to a tough ordeal, being put through a very severe drill introducing the most difficult tests in the manual. Some of the men weakened on account of the heat and only the best drilled men were able to meet the demands of the sharp judging. In the final round only five were left of the original squad, Bosson, Hollis, Priest, Iman and Ayer. They were put through a 15-minute drill, and it seemed a difficult matter to pick the winners, the men being apparently on almost even terms so far as steadiness and proficiency in the manual were concerned. After they left the field the company competition was completed and an exhibition given by the artillery and signal corps. The brass field piece attracted a great deal of attention and the artillery squad demonstrated its skill in handling it. Another interesting feature of the exercises was an exhibition given by the drum and bugle corps in command of ex-Drum Maj. J. G. Holmes. The work of the signal corps and artillery squad was most favorably commented upon and Maj. Benyon was congratulated upon the successful result of his efforts in introducing these interesting features and also for the good showing made by the members of the battalion in the several departments of military training.

The exercises closed with the battalion dress parade, Maj. Thomas commanding. The prizes were awarded by Rev. Amos E. Lawrence, who made a brief speech congratulating the members of the battalion. The first individual prize, a gold medal, went to Sgt. J. G. Bosson, signal corps; second individual prize, silver medal, Private Bosson, Co. A.; honorable mention, Corp. Vose of Co. C.; first company prize, dress sword and belt, Co. A.; Capt. Burgess; second company prize, silk flag, Co. C.; Capt. Whitney. The lieutenant prize was given to the companies were presented with silver medals.

The judges were Col. Waterman, 2d School Regiment; Maj. Twombly, Boston Latin school; Maj. Decker, Channing Hall school. In the decision on company prizes the following marking will be of interest, showing the relative standing: Co. A., 210 points; Co. B., 207 points; Co. C., 180 points; Co. D., 180 points.

Columbia Theatre.

Notwithstanding the tremendous hot weather of the week, Mr. Harrigan and his New York company have played to an enormous business at the Columbia Theatre. "Reilly and the 400," which has a reputation of 40 consecutive performances in New York city, seems to have caught the popular taste, and the inimitable character role of Willy Reilly by Mr. Harrigan, evokes peals of laughter from his audience nightly. Then, too, there is Mrs. Yeamans in the excruciatingly funny character role of Mary Ann Dooley. Joseph Sparks as Lizzie Calhoun, to say nothing of more than a score of other excellent performers. The scenic work, too, deserves more than passing notice, the entire mounting having been brought over from New York for the Boston engagement, and is identical with the original production in that city. The summer engagement is limited, Mr. Harrigan and company remaining but a fortnight longer. The usual matinees will be given, and during the summer season, popular prices will prevail.

"Is this hot enough for you?" is a silly question, but if you meet a man who complains of suffering from the heat, ten to one you will find, on inquiry, that he does not use Ayer's Sarsaparilla to tone up his system and free his blood from irritating humors.

How Shall Grade Crossings be Abolished?

To the editor of the GRAPHIC:

The interest in this question at the present time centers in Newton, and as the change is likely to be made here without learning by the experience of other suburban towns, carefulness is required in order to guard against mistake.

By a resolve of our state legislature upon the general subject, Gov. Ames in 1888 appointed a commission of three civil engineers, which was to report as to the best methods for the abolition of grade crossings on or before the ensuing February.

At a hearing before this commission a plan by Engineer Noyes was submitted to abolish the grade crossings in Newton along the main line of the Boston & Albany railroad, the principal feature being, to depress the tracks deeply, to raise certain streets slightly and cross on bridges above the tracks.

The subsequent report of the commission favored running the tracks under the streets through Newton and Newtonville and over them through West Newton, the work to be accomplished by a division of the change of grades of the tracks, and the streets between the railroad and the city, making the burden much more mutual than as by Noyes' plan.

The latter plan advising a deep cut, imposed upon the railroad the principal work of changing the grades to the maximum required by public statutes [112-120], which provides that no bridge shall be constructed over a railroad at a height less than eighteen feet, except by consent of the board of commissioners. The interest in the general subject culminated in the statute of 1890-ch-428, which provides for the appointment of a special commission by the Superior Court, upon a petition being filed by the authorities of a city or town and authorizes the court to make a decree upon a decision of such commission, which shall be valid and binding, and enforceable by the court.

An agreement of the town and railroad, through their proper authorities, shall bind them and have the same force and effect as a decree of the court. The present legislature by ch. 90 extended the scope of the law to street crossings above grade as well as those on a level with the tracks.

Ch. 312 of this year touches the general powers and duties of the special commission. The acts embody the statute laws of chief interest.

Reverting to the matter of plans, one has recently been advanced by the railroad corporation for raising the tracks and depressing the streets, the latter to dip under the tracks with roadway varying from twelve to fourteen feet. The details of this plan are to be found in the GRAPHIC of May 20.

It should be kept in mind that the less the tracks can be sunk and remain sufficiently above water level for drainage, the greater the need of raising the streets which cross those tracks as they culminated in a plane but little above the level of the tracks. If the inference follows that the tracks must be sunk, though not too low for drainage and the streets be raised to meet the rest of the requirement, why not accept it, even though the depression of the tracks could not, from the conditions, be made to seriously impair the view of admirers of the landscape through this congested district?

This plan of the railroad crossings involves increasing the grade now existing east of Newton and within the tide margin, running the tracks along a ridge, purely artificial, and the building of bridges wherever the embankment is cut by a street.

As the railway here runs at the base of a ridge on its south, and is bordered by another well defined, though more gradually ascending ridge on its north side, and is generally in the lowest point between, there should be some good reason why this conformation of the land is left out of the account.

Is the bottom of this valley so low that the tracks must be raised if moved vertically? A railroad with its regular grades may be drained by a plane but little above the water level and in view of the material used for its roads and rolling stock no such degree of drainage is required as for highways and the homes which about them—though one might suppose from what has lately appeared on the subject, that railway tracks and car-wheels were peculiarly soluble in water, requiring that our streets and our thoroughfares under the tracks—in order not to drown the railroad.

If we were to run under the tracks, the grade of the streets of Newton, especially those in proximity, must be depressed accordingly, if the streets are depressed, the abutting estates follow the same law, and to escape malaria the occupants may need to become mud-bathers.

In comparison with the homes of our wives and children, the railway car for suburban service need be no palace. Newspaper reading, viewing the landscape and general comfort are secondary considerations. The nearer the railway approaches a chute for rapid transit to and from Boston the better will it meet the requirement of business.

To effect this let the engine-driver's heart be gladdened, as it always is, by a solid road bed as exempt from bridges underneath as the conditions permit.

Nature builds with her heavy materials at the bottom and the architecture of man seeks to follow this law.

If a common interest were building this railway, and the streets and city of Newton, is there any question that the order of their rising would be first above water level, the railroad, then the streets, and then the homes. Does not the law of health and comfortable living demand such orders?

Before final action upon this matter, the question of the law of damages should be considered. (1) Whether any statute could be framed to cover cases of damages where a railway raises its grade, contiguous to estates but without taking any land, and (2) whether if the tracks are to be raised, further legislation is not necessary or desirable in the interest of such estates:—For the City cannot afford to enter into an agreement, or advance a plan with the railroad corporation which would unnecessarily endanger the private interests of a part of its property holders.

RUNNING A PONY EXPRESS.

Exciting Experiences of a Mail Carrier in the Early Days of the West.

When the venerable Steve Rugles pulled off his storm defier and touched up with a parlor match a goodly pinch of old Virginia natural leaf, he was only a moment sending more than a cloud winding among his neighbors in the Grand Pacific corridor. Steve had come in from Denver a few hours before and had been in the city just about long enough to not care a blank whether he saw anything, anybody or anywhere.

"You can bet that I'll show some of these tenderfeet, if they tackle me, that I'm the biggest glizly side of the peak," and Steve gazed and described a few circles with his feet. "Nary jump in the road are any of these here umbrella swingin' dudes goin' ter step up next ter me, fer right sudden there's goin' ter be row. Now, there can't anybody realize any better than I kin that Chercawgo is ther city of ther only World's fair, but let me tell you, pardner, some of these young ducks what thinks they've got an immortal cinch on the universe is goin' ter get into a hull lot of trouble if they fools with this old cormorant from away out west."

Old Steve took an extra puff on his well seasoned black brier and settled into a reminiscent mood. He had taken part in many of the early incidents of the border days, and when he was inclined could tell many interesting tales.

"Why, young fellow, 'way back in 1849 I was one of the first of the boys to tackle the pony express business. It didn't take much nerve the way nerve weighs nowadays, but when you come to look at it in them days a fellow had to take all the chances of a lifetime, and it was a kinder ticklish job to tackle a horseback ride across the Injun country alone."

"I would start out from St. Jo, pony on the gallop from the second I put my hand on the saddle horn, and ther wan't no let up on that jump till I landed in Denver. Right through the redskin country then, and now when you can look at 'em livin' quiet down in Florida or occasionally kickin' over the traces up north, they ain't a marker to what we had to deal with in that country them days. It was likely to be a runnin' fight from start ter finish, and I am only sorry ther yer didn't live ter erbout that old time from actual experience."

"Tell me something about the pony express."

"Well, of course it's an old story about how she was started and run until the stages and railroads knocked the business out. But in the early days of that gallop mail arrangement a feller got all the excitement he want d every trip. You know we wasn't supposed to lose a second's time along the road, and many's the time I've ridden a quarter or half a mile on the dead run with the saddle cinches undone completely, so's the minute I got 'longside my change pony I'd lose no time transferring my saddle."

"Fer a long time we didn't know whether or not we was goin' to find transfer still runnin' for our benefit, fer the ponies was good ones and the Injuns didn't care much fer a man or two when they was after hosses. Several times I struck a deserted transfer station, saw the poor fellers lyin' there with the top of their head gone, but I had to move on, as I had a tired pony and couldn't lose time getting to the next station to change."

"Did you ever have any personal encounters with the Indians, Mr. Rugles?" "You bet, but don't call me Mr. Rugles, plain old Steve. Yes, I've heard the whif of the arrier and hum of the bullet, have gone at a dead run with the bridles reining between my teeth, both hands busy with two six shooters, and have been plugged three times. That's the narrowest escape I ever had," and the veteran pushed back his gray hair and exhibited a scar that extended across the side of the head on a level with the left temple.

"It was getting along toward night, and about the time the pony began to act kinder queer I commenced to realize that Injuns was somewhere close. Sure enough, the first thing I knew, a gang of 'em comes gallopin' from some timber a 'bout ways off, yellin' and shootin'. Pony and me went fer all we was worth, and then I remember holdin' onto the saddle horn and all grew suddenly dark. A heavy jolting woke me up, and I found that my saddle had saved my scalp. Wounded and stunned, I had never lost my horse sense, yer might say, and I had hung on all the time."

At this juncture one of Steve's early friends came up, everybody went up and "smiled," and Steve promised to talk more some other time.—Chicago News.

A New Word.

The catalogue of the National Lecture bureau of New York introduces a new word into print. This bureau is under the management of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Haskell, who are equal partners.

The firm is announced as Madame Haskell & Haskell. Miss Elizabeth W. Gates, already well known as a lecturer, is the author of this significant and expressive title. It will doubtless come into general use as the new order of things makes a term simplifying the business partnership of men and women necessary, and this would apply equally well to such persons, married or single.

A Remarkable Fish.

Axoloti, or fish with legs, is the name Mexicans give to a queer creature which can swim like a fish or run on a smooth wall like a fly, can live and grow when kept constantly in water like a true fish, and yet can live and grow entirely away from water (excepting a little to drink) like a true air breathing animal.—New York Press.

THOU SHALT NOT STEAL.

THIS IS AN OLD FASHIONED PRECEPT.

It began to be in the evolution of things when Adam awoke from his deep sleep, and found Eve by his side. Henceforth, he could no longer soliloquize, as he strolled through the garden, "I am monarch of all I survey, My right there is none to dispute, etc." Language, whatever it might have been previously, was then enriched by the new terms, mine and thine.

History, voluminous and vast as it is, all history, in fact, is but the record of the various sneaking ways in which men have tried to get something from one of those piles to the other. The apostle James has it in a nut shell, as the ultimate analysis of all "wars and fightings" (James 4. 2) first coveting what belongs to somebody else, and then stealing it. Hence the insertion in the Decalogue, "Thou shalt not covet anything that is thy neighbor's."

Coming to the point at once, and passing from the abstract to the concrete practical facts surrounding us here in the Garden City, I can find no milder term to apply to the practices becoming so prevalent in Newton, of entering upon private grounds and plucking fruits, flowers, and what not, without leave or license from the proprietor.

Tom, Dick and Harry, and their romping sisters, have no more right to break into a neighbor's premises and order themselves, than they have to sweep through his parlors, and carry off articles of furniture.

The writer is not alone, but finds when staling his grievances, that he has many fellow sufferers.

A man's house is his castle, by common law.

His house lot is equally so by common law and common sense.

When a man buys a lot of land and fences it in, all that he chooses to place there, is his own by deed recorded.

Trespassers thereon are violators of the law, which modern civilization has substituted for the stockades, palisades, walls, and moats of the ruder times—when brute force was relied upon.

Trespassers are not entitled to be called good citizens. They must not complain of the anger of scorn and contempt from those whose early training was among the refinements of decent society. A true gentleman or lady never covets, or encroaches upon the rights of others.

"Sydney" the caustic correspondent of the Boston Transcript says, "The men who keep their seats in the cars when a lady is standing, tacitly confess the selfishness of this new scum who never had a grandfather." Blood will tell.

It is a curious fact that the cannille, who enter upon our private grounds, and are so saucy when disturbed, either have no recorded ancestry, or are descended from tramp.

An express man from Boston, returning empty, had the consumer's check to load up with squashes etc. from his field and took them into the City to sell.

Fortunately he was intercepted by telegraph and obliged to bring back his load and pay damages.

The Chestnut Hill people are greatly annoyed on Sunday by hordes from the City and elsewhere. Hence their opposition to the boulevard improvement.

The writer once in the City of Versailles, noticed everywhere in the streets old fountains dripping with mosses and water cresses, which no one attempted to pluck or mutilate, even for mischief.

In one of the small public squares there was an artificial island, covered with delicate flowering shrubs, all unenclosed, and within reach of anybody's hand or stick.

The island rested in a stone basin supplied with water by a fountain. Around the edge of this basin, was a path of marble frogs about the size of life, looking as natural as though they had just hopped out to take a look at the stranger. Not one of them was displaced and they were not even fastened down.

The frogs were coated with a respectful attention of green slime, so that any one so disposed could have taken them off. There was no policeman in sight.

In what American City could such a public ornament as this have escaped molestation? Surely not in any part of Newton.

The Bribery Scandal.

Springfield Republican

Developments in the Legislature the past week have been of a character to impress the people of Massachusetts with the necessity of exercising more care in the choice of representatives if they expect to keep hold on a decent ordering of the affairs of the state, and to avert anarchy. Nothing could be more dishonest, more cowardly, more disgraceful than the final action of the House in playing into the hands of the lobby of endowment swindlers. We do not believe there is to be found in the legislative annals of this state anything one-quarter as shameful and humiliating as this exhibition of political cowardice and downright collusion with knavery and fraud. It were bad enough that the vote should have been as it was in the plain merits of the question; but when we remember that the House decided to postpone the matter to the next Legislature in accordance with the demands of the lobby, and also refused to reconsider the action, right in the face of the fact that two reputable members were ready to swear that they had been offered $50 each for their votes in favor of the orders,—the action of the House almost passes belief.

It were a consummation most devoutly to be wished that the investigation of bribery cases now instituted could be pressed so far as to lift the veil and reveal all the gross trails which "broadly" has left about the statehouse during the present session. Some such whirlwind of exposure is apparently needed to arouse the people to a more careful inspection of the character of the men who seek their suffrages for a seat in the Legislature, and to holding this body to a more quick and certain responsibility.

Suspicion before pointed to the wide prevalence of sharp and corrupt practice on the part of corporations seeking favorable legislation and the existence of a large element in the Legislature which might successfully be "worked."

The testimony of Representatives Morse of Holden and Simonds of Barre tends strongly to confirm this suspicion. Is it probable that these two were the only representatives "approached?" Are there others who were, and who are equally corruptible? This is a time when honest men in the House who know anything to the point should come forward. If all such do their duty, it will be possible no doubt to get hold of lines of inquiry which may lead to the exposure of the whole measure of corruption that may exist. The men who instigated this investigation and who are conducting it have now a possible opportunity to win great honor from the people by proceeding wisely and fearlessly.

GOOD PIE

is much prized, but many people can't eat pie because of dyspepsia or dyspeptic tendency.

EVERYBODY CAN EAT PIE

if it is made with Cottolene, the new pure substitute for lard. Cottolene is simply pure cottonseed oil and pure beef suet, two of the healthiest foods known.

Properly combined they are better than lard for all kinds of shortening, and everyone can eat, digest, and enjoy food cooked with it. Food that was indigestible when cooked with lard is easily digested when cooked with Cottolene, and many of the leading housekeepers of the land say they can make nicer bread, rolls, biscuit, cakes, cookies, ginger bread, pies, patties, tarts, griddle cakes, croquettes with Cottolene than with either lard or butter. Get it of your grocer and try it. Beware of imitations.

TO TRAVEL IN AIR.

AT THE MODEST SPEED OF THREE HUNDRED MILES AN HOUR.

Mr. Loeber's Invention and the Remarkable Claims Made in Its Behalf—Another Addition to the Literature of Aerial Navigation.

Charles G. Loeber, a lawyer of Union Street, in this city, has invented a system of aerial navigation which he claims will solve the question and permit vessels of any size and weight to go through the air with the greatest of ease, safety and rapidity if constructed on his principle. His invention is based on his discovery of means which make the air unyielding to force and impact, and this unyielding state of the air he has named anthesis, from the Greek, meaning that which sustains force without yielding. It must not be inferred from the statement that Mr. Loeber is a lawyer that he has developed his system and perfected his invention without an acquired knowledge of its surroundings. He has given aerial navigation his careful study for over a quarter of a century, and especially has studied the quality of the air or atmosphere, and one of his notable inventions is an air pump.

This new invention has had as yet no practical test, because no machine for navigation has yet been constructed. The inventor claims, however, that he has satisfied himself of its correctness beyond a doubt. He naively states that his position is the same as that of most inventors. He lacks the funds. Not that he is without means, but the amount needed to build a vessel of the proper size for conveyance would be $50,000, and he says that $50,000 is a large amount to some men. He also wants the privilege of control in the matter of construction, which means a great deal to capitalists. At the same time he is as hopeful and also as buoyant as his machine will be, according to his statements, and believes that the opportunity will come for him to make, as he says, an epoch in history.

When questioned as to the principle on which he works he said to a reporter: "If I were to detail to a thorough scientist, the strongest kind of a personal friend, in the strictest confidence, the principle I work upon, there would enter into his acceptance of it an element of doubt, because it is opposed to all the present ideas of aerial navigation. The air is a power substance, but its power is occult and made manifest only by the use of means. The balloon is the means to obtain two opposite vertical air columns and the excess of the lower over the upper air column; vacuum space in the pneumatic tube is the means to obtain the full pressure force of one air column. A third means which I have discovered brings forth anthesis. Anthesis is the foundation and embodiment of my invention of the air car. I can say no more than this at present."

The startling part of Mr. Loeber's proposition is that he proposes his air car shall be made of iron or steel to prevent fire; that its extreme length shall be 79 feet; mean breadth, 27 feet; height, 35 feet; length and breadth of wings, 40 and 27 feet; total wing area, 2,100 square feet, and that it shall have a net carrying capacity of 600 tons. The minimum unyielding air support underneath the wings, he says, will be 1,188 tons and the area of the machine will be 40 square feet. The means through which anthesis is brought forth are constant, he says, and the control of the rudder absolute. Three hundred miles an hour speed, according to his statement, are as easily obtainable in the air as are thirty miles an hour on land. The normal height of the car in the air will be above mountains, so as to keep it out of the zone of cyclones and an automatic register denoting the height of the car, coupled with a simple rule fixing the heights for the various cars, will make collisions practically impossible.

This is comforting to know. That this invention, if carried out, will practically bring the millenium, Mr. Loeber does not hesitate to say. As illustrations of the feasibility of his plan and the existence of anthesis, he uses the vulture, which, when weighted with a load heavier than itself, is able to rise in the air to any distance. Were not the air unyielding the bird would have no fulcrum, and the air would slip by it. The bird does not obtain this by the exertion of force, as is shown by the motionless wings of the eagle poised in air. In the case of the laden vulture the force needed would be a force equal the weight of the vulture and its prey, added to that needed for fulcrum and its flying force. This would make flight impossible, he claims, unless nature had provided a better means than simple force, and this, Mr. Loeber says, he has discovered.

When called upon to account for his discovery he claimed it was due to providential good fortune, added to many years of unremitting study expended on a subject as to which little or nothing was already known, and all of which had to be elaborated by original conception and design. He says a trial of the test car could be made in less than six months, and then large cars could be built and air conveyance used as a regular method of transportation.

Who knows but the aerial navigation and transportation company, carrying passengers across all the continents and wastes of waters, without seasickness or the dangers of dying of indigestion through the diabolical railway station sandwich, may be a thing of the near future, while the men who doubt, as did those opposing ocean steamers and locomotive transportation, may have to regret as they did and be glad to take a day off in the summer time for a cool evening in Siberia and return. All this is possible, according to Mr. Loeber, and his standing in the community as a man of reason in other matters warrant some degree of faith in his sincerity and sense. —Brooklyn Eagle.

Allow me to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrhal symptoms and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—Wm. H. Hamilton, Leading Bass of the C. D. Hess Grand Opera Co.

Is He Your Friend?
 Is the family doctor your friend? How many unnecessary visits does he make you? How many days does he keep you sick that you ought to be at your work, and so doing how many hard-earned dollars does he extort from you. Would it not be better for you to place your trust in Sulphur Bitters? Try them, they will be a true friend. Saving you a long sickness and a large bill, which you have hitherto paid to some unscrupulous doctor.—Editor State Journal.

The Housekeeper's Friend.
 A friend in need is a friend indeed, and such a friend you will always find in Sulphur Bitters. They cured me of dyspepsia, when I had given up my life in despair and was almost at death's door. They are a true friend of the sick.—Mrs. R. Crague, Hartford, Connecticut.

The merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla is not accidental but is the result of careful study and experiment by educated pharmacists.

Overhead or Underneath?

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic:
 One of the most potent factors in the rapid growth of Newton on its north side has been the very pleasant outlooks from the railroad trains, which relieve much the tediousness of the transit.

I have often heard persons say that this and the excellent train service was what determined them upon selecting our city for a residence. For the greater portion of the male, and no small proportion of the female population, make a daily trip to Boston and back.

It is evident that if this advantage is sacrificed by placing the railway below the surface, with no outlook and the air loaded with smoke and dust, as is always the case in cuttings, that the north side of the city must lose a portion of its attraction, while on the other hand, if the railway is elevated above its present grade, the field of view will be increased, smoke and dust will pass freely away, and the attractive features of Newton be still more apparent to the passing resident and traveler.

While an embankment may in some places be objectionable to contiguous estates, it must be remembered that cuttings, protected as they will have to be by unsightly fences, are also detrimental features to the landscape, and by making the transit disagreeable are likely to diminish the saleableness of real estate.

If adopted, the underground way will tend to turn commuters to Newton from the north side to the south, with its charming landscapes in full view of the car windows. Yours truly,

C. F. CREHORE.

The best thing to do is this: when you're suffering from Sick or Bilious Headaches, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, or any derangement of the Liver, Stomach, or Bowels, get something that relieves promptly and cures permanently. Don't shock the system with the ordinary pills—get Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

They're the smallest, for one thing (but that's a great thing), and the easiest to take.

They're the best, for they work in Nature's own way—mildly and gently, but thoroughly and effectively.

They're the cheapest, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You pay only for the good you get.

What more can you ask?

But don't get something that the dealer says is "just as good." It may be better for him, but it's pretty certain to be worse for you.

A Perfect Success. VII
 The Rev. A. Antonio Refugio, of Texas, writes: I think Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic is a perfect success, for any one who suffered from a most painful nervousness as I did. I feel like myself again after taking the Tonic.

ELIZABETH N. J., March 7, 1891.
 Before I took Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic I could not sleep nights and had a numbness of the legs, arms and sometimes all over the body, but after taking the second dose of your Nerve Tonic I could sleep well, and in three days all numbness was gone and have not felt it since.

—The storm of Tuesday evening, although quite severe was a refreshing termination to the torrid temperature of Monday and Tuesday. At about 8 o'clock a vivid lightning flash instantly followed a terrific crackling peal of thunder, and many who witnessed the descent of the bolt thought the Baptist church or some dwelling house in that vicinity struck, while others thought it descended in the direction of Summer or Ward streets, but no trace of the lightning has yet been found.

—June 8 was class day at the Gloucester High school, and the high school battalion, contested for the Haskell medals. Two handsome medals, one of gold and one of silver, are offered every year by Col. E. H. Haskell as a first and second prize for special excellence in military drill and soldierly deportment, and the annual contest on class day is always an event of much public interest to the High school boys and citizens of Gloucester. Gloucester being Colonel Haskell's native town, he takes much interest in its High school, and the "Haskell" medals stimulate the boys to good purpose.

—The S. S. of the M. E. church will hold its Children's Day concert next Sunday evening. The Rev. N. A. Corser, Supt. of the Little Wanderers' Home, Boston, will be present and deliver an address. Some of the children from the Home will be with him and take part in the exercises.

—A very pretty party was given Master Walter F. Greenwood last Tuesday p. m. on his fifth birthday. The children enjoyed games, swings, etc. In the grove, where refreshments were served until the cool of the evening. Master Walter was recipient of many costly birthday gifts, the whole a very enjoyable occasion.

—The "English Constitution" was the subject of a paper given before the West end literary club, their husbands and honorary members, at the home of Miss Stuntz on Eliot Heights, last Friday evening. A "Farce in Four Acts" was the most amusing part of the program, while tempting refreshment delighted the inner man.

—The Sunday school concert at the Congregational church last Sunday evening was attended by an audience completely filling the church. The exercises consisted of recitations by the scholars, musical selections by the school, assisted by a quartet, which were all finely rendered. The floral decorations were profuse, and finely arranged, and much credit is due to those who arranged for the concert, and also to the school for making this one of the best of the concert series.

—We notice in the Daily Anglo American published in the city of Mexico, an account of the Memorial exercises held in that City in honor of the late soldiers' of the United States, under the direction of Rev. and Mrs. F. Borton, formerly of the Highlands, which was held in the chapel of the Trinity Methodist church. The memorial discourse was delivered by Rev. Mr. Borton, Chaplain of the Sons of Veterans, and speaks of the efforts of the speaker as being eloquent and highly impressive. Mrs. Borton had charge of the decorations, which were skillfully arranged and highly effective.

Mrs. Borton had charge of the decorations, which were skillfully arranged and highly effective.

—The S. S. of the M. E. church will hold its Children's Day concert next Sunday evening. The Rev. N. A. Corser, Supt. of the Little Wanderers' Home, Boston, will be present and deliver an address. Some of the children from the Home will be with him and take part in the exercises.

—A very pretty party was given Master Walter F. Greenwood last Tuesday p. m. on his fifth birthday. The children enjoyed games, swings, etc. In the grove, where refreshments were served until the cool of the evening. Master Walter was recipient of many costly birthday gifts, the whole a very enjoyable occasion.

—The "English Constitution" was the subject of a paper given before the West end literary club, their husbands and honorary members, at the home of Miss Stuntz on Eliot Heights, last Friday evening. A "Farce in Four Acts" was the most amusing part of the program, while tempting refreshment delighted the inner man.

—The Sunday school concert at the Congregational church last Sunday evening was attended by an audience completely filling the church. The exercises consisted of recitations by the scholars, musical selections by the school, assisted by a quartet, which were all finely rendered. The floral decorations were profuse, and finely arranged, and much credit is due to those who arranged for the concert, and also to the school for making this one of the best of the concert series.

—We notice in the Daily Anglo American published in the city of Mexico, an account of the Memorial exercises held in that City in honor of the late soldiers' of the United States, under the direction of Rev. and Mrs. F. Borton, formerly of the Highlands, which was held in the chapel of the Trinity Methodist church. The memorial discourse was delivered by Rev. Mr. Borton, Chaplain of the Sons of Veterans, and speaks of the efforts of the speaker as being eloquent and highly impressive. —Cards are out for the marriage of Mr. George Barber and Miss Mabel Lawrence, to be held Wednesday evening, at the residence of Mr. Chas. Lawrence, Newtonville avenue.

—The serious illness of Mrs. J. S. Farlow has caused Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Lindner to recall the invitations for the reception in commemoration of the 25th anniversary of their marriage.

—Emory L. Williams of Waverley avenue is one of the class of Mr. Arthur Dow, who has his studio at Ipswich for the summer season. His many friends wish him success and will expect to see some of the young artist's work in the city this coming fall.

—Mr. W. Z. Ripley returned Wednesday from San Francisco, after a rather eventful journey, encountering three railroad accidents and being twelve days and nights on the road. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ellis are in Colorado Springs, and are not expected East before the middle of July.

—Paul Savage of the Waban Racquet Club beat A. E. Smith of the Somerville club at Somerville, Saturday, in singles, 7-3, 6-0. In doubles Waban was represented by Paul Savage and W. Partridge, and Somerville by S. H. Woods and A. C. Baldwin, the former winning, 6-4, 6-4.

—Miss Ethie M. Bizelew has presented the Newton Free Library with two beautiful engravings in large size and nicely framed, one representing "The departure of the Pilgrim Fathers for America," and the other the "Landing of the Pilgrim Fathers, Nov. 1620." They will make a choice addition to the works of historic art which already adorn the library walls.

—Mrs. Geo. Sawin of Elmwood street, who is travelling abroad with her niece, Mrs. Colonel G. B. M. Harvey, is spending the month of June at Hotel Royal, Berlin. On Wednesday, June 8, they dined with the American Ambassador, Mr. Wm. Walter Phelps. The next day he drove them to the principal places of interest in the city. From Berlin they will go direct to Dresden.

—The oft-referred-to case of John C. Rand vs. Moses King, which grew out of the failure of Rand, Avery & Co., has been finally decided by the full bench of the supreme court in favor of the defendant. It was ruled by the superior court that the defendant's discharge in insolvency was a bar to the proceedings, and this ruling was excepted to by the plaintiff. The supreme court overrules the exception.

—The board of health have a rather laborious duty in looking after the cesspools during this hot weather, especially those connected with the business blocks, some of which are in a condition unfavorable to the health of their occupants. Many of the blocks are already connected with the sewer and they all should be before the hot weather of July and August. There is no excuse for delay in a matter that affects the health of the central portion of the city.

—The last service in which the choir of Elliot church will participate for this season will be next Sunday evening, when there will be a choral service at 7.30 o'clock, with the following musical selections:

Organ, Meditation. Guilmant
Anthem, "Hearken unto me." Sullivan Tenor Solo, "Come unto me." Rockwell Quartet, "While all things were in quiet." Gould —Residents in the vicinity of the freight yard wonder if there is any necessity for the frequent shrieks of the freight engine, which rend the air both day and night, and is particularly objected to in the early morning, when citizens are taking their last nap. There is said to be a regulation about the blowing of locomotive whistles in Newton, except in case of emergency, and judging from the frequent shrieks the freight engine is always barely escaping some great fatality. The engine or the man who run it ought to be muzzled.

—Music at Grace church Sunday: Magnificat, "There is a blessed home." Wood Nun Dimittis, "Look down." Wood
Anthem, bass solo and chorus, "Look down." Mendelssohn
O Lord, "Sing Alleluia forth." Dudley Buck Recessional, "The Son of God goes forth to war."

—Mr. John M. Niles, who has been fly fishing at Upper Dam, Maine, for the past two weeks, succeeded on Tuesday of this week in capturing, at one cast in the pool below the dam, two brook trout, the larger one tipping the scales at 6-14 lbs. the other weighing a little over a pound. This is the largest trout that has been taken in that vicinity, with a fly, this season.

—Mr. Niles was one hour in landing his catch. The fish can be seen at the office of the Brainard & Armstrong Co., 120 Kingston street, Boston, on Saturday, between 11.30 and 12.

—The piano recital by Prof. Carl Baermann, for the benefit of the family of the late Mr. Chas. Thrasher, will be given in the Eliot chapel next Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Tickets at one dollar each are on sale at the drug stores of F. A. Hubbard, Newton, W. C. Gaudet, Newtonville, and G. H. Ingraham, West Newton. The program is as follows:

Mozart, Fantasia, C minor. Dedicated to his wife.
Schubert, Study, C major.
Beethoven, Sonata, F minor (appassionata) op. 57. Allegro assai, Andante con moto, Allegro ma non troppo Presto.

Chopin, Berceuse.
Schumann, Traumes Wirren.
Chopin, Nocturne, C major, op. 37, No. 11.
Scriabin, Der Lindbaum, transcribed by Liszt.
Liszt, Rhapsodie Hongroise, No. XII.

—The bicycle races at Glenmere Park, Saturday, brought out many crack riders from different parts of the state. Messrs. Arthur Porter and A. K. Pressey of Newton were among those who entered, and the Herald says "the one-mile ordinary L. A. W. championship had as starters Arthur Porter, W. Orlish, A. K. Pressey, James Clarke and E. A. McDuffee. Mr. Porter could be covered by a blanket until the completion of the first lap when Porter pushed ahead and secured the lead, with McDuffee and Clarke pushing him for place. From this out it was a close race, and although McDuffee tried again and again to regain his lost ground, it was all to no purpose. Summary: One mile ordinary, L. A. W. championship—Arthur Porter, first; E. A. McDuffee, second; James Clarke, third. Time—2m. 56 2/5s."

—The reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Baker, Jr., at their home on Sarcent street, Wednesday evening, was a very brilliant affair and guests from all sections of the city were present. Mr. and Mrs. Baker, senior and junior, received, and the house was handsomely decorated with flowers, principally roses, banks of which filled all the mantels and other available places. Refreshments were served by Mr. Paxton in a tent on the lawn, which was illuminated with lanterns, and the evening was a beautiful one for such a gathering. The beautiful summer toilets of the ladies made an especially attractive feature. Music was furnished by Cole's orchestra and some of the younger guests remained for dancing later in the evening.

Mrs. Baker, Sr., wore a handsome dress of white and pearl colored silk, trimmed with duchesse lace. Mrs. Baker, Jr., wore a beautiful pink brocade costume. Empire style, designed by Hollander, and trimmed with point lace.

—Mr. Joel H. Hills, a well known resident of Newton, died suddenly Wednesday morning at Cottage City, where he went on Monday for a few days. Mr. Hills for many years was in the wholesale flour trade, being of the firm of Hills & Brother on South street, Boston. For the past few years he has been connected with the Granular Metal Co. of Boston, representing them in the eastern and western states. He was a man with a very extensive acquaintance, an old member of the Boston Corn Exchange, the Ancient & Honorable Artillery Co., and a thirty-third degree Mason. He was one of the original board of trustees of the Newton Free Library, and one of the most active in starting this successful institution. Mr. Hills, though frequently urged, would never accept any public position, preferring to work for the general good in his quiet, yet forcible way. He had resided in Newton for some thirty-nine years. He leaves a widow and two sons. Death resulted from a shock of paralysis. Funeral services were held at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning at his residence, 6 Ocean avenue, Cottage City. Rev. Mr. Dinsmore, pastor of the Baptist church, delivered an address, in which he fittingly eulogized the dead man's character. There were present many grief-stricken friends, including nearly all the members of the Oak Bluffs Club who were at the resort. The floral tributes were beautiful and numerous. The pall bearers were Dr. Harrison A. Tucker of Brookline, N. Y., W. H. Rand of Chicago, Ill., Abbie Codding of North Attleboro, a son of Providence, T. D. Crowell of Edgartown, Capt. Shubert L. Norton, Zenas D. Linton and A. J. Burgess, Cottage City. The remains were brought to Newton Thursday afternoon and funeral services will be held at the late residence of the deceased on Vernon street, this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

—A San Francisco paper has the following: One of the most charming weddings ever seen in Oakland took place recently in St. Paul's church. The bride was Miss Francis Gamble, daughter of James Gamble of Piedmont, and Walter Ellis of Newton was the groom. The church held a large and fashionable assemblage, and was artistically decorated with sweet scented flowers and foliage. At 4 o'clock the organist began the wedding march and the bridal party entered the church. First came fifteen young ladies, who walked down the aisle and occupied the chorister boys' seats. They were followed by the ushers. Then the two bridemaids entered, Miss Jessie Coleman and Miss Edna Dickens. They and the young lady attendants were all attired in becoming gowns of delicate white mousseline de soie and carried bouquets of pink sweet peas. Last of all came the bride, escorted by her father. The bride's gown was a beautiful creation of white moire antique, duchesse lace and orange blossoms. The train was cut a la cour, the corsage was round and the sleeves were long. She wore a veil of white silk moline, and carried a bouquet of white clematis in her ungloved hands. At the chancel the groom, and best man, William Ripley of Newton, awaited the bride and her father. After the marriage ceremony the bridal party and a few of their most intimate friends were given a reception at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John V. Coleman. A sumptuous repast was served and a delightful evening passed. There were many elegant wedding presents. Mr. and Mrs. Ellis will remain in the west for some time, probably a year.

Death of A. M. Leland.

Mr. Abner M. Leland, a respected resident of this city died suddenly of heart failure at his Boston place of business, 161 Tremont street, this morning. He left home apparently in good health and the news of his death was a severe shock for the members of his family.

Mr. Leland had been engaged in the piano business in Boston for many years. He was a man of excellent character and had a large circle of friends.

SEEKING INFORMATION.

The mayor and four aldermen started Thursday morning on a three days trip to inspect the work done in separating grades in several cities. Their first stop is in Worcester, where they are met by the Worcester city engineer and they spend about three hours in inspecting the recent work. They then go to Springfield and after two hours or so, they go to Hartford where the tracks have recently been raised. They will be met in each city by the city engineers, and carriages will be ready to take them to the different bridges. They then return to Springfield, and take the night express to Rochester, N. Y., arriving there Friday morning. The New York Central railroad used to run at grade through that city, but has recently been raised up, so that all the streets go under the tracks, and the work was one of great expense and considerable difficulty, and is worth a careful study. After a day here, they take a night express to New York, and Saturday will inspect the sunken tracks and tunnels through Harlem and New York city, and in the afternoon they take a flying trip to Philadelphia to study the elevated system of that city. They will be joined in New York by Aldermen Hyde, Sheppard and Sprague. Saturday evening they return to New York and take the midnight train for home.

People with an imaginative term of mind might call this trip a junket, but to the ordinary reader it will appear to be three days of the hardest possible kind of work, taken at a very uncomfortable time of the year for travelling, and very few would envy the party.

They certainly ought to obtain a good deal of valuable information in regard to elevated railroads, and their practical workings, and they will have a chance to find out how the people in the different cities regard these structures, and whether the objections urged against them prove to have any real foundation or not.

It certainly shows that the mayor and aldermen are desirous of doing the best thing for the interest of the city, when they are willing to give up their time to such a laborious trip, and the citizens can evidently rest assured that the board does not intend to take any hasty or ill-considered action in the matter. The board has all along stood ready to listen to any advice, whether theoretical, practical or speculative, and desire to wait before making up their minds until they have secured the fullest possible information, which is all that could be asked of them.

THE RAILROAD HEARING.

The hearing on the question of elevating the railroad tracks, Monday evening, was fairly well attended, but was rather barren of results, few of the speakers having any practical advice to give. If that was all the opponents to elevating the tracks that could be mustered, evidently the opposition is not very serious. Some of the speakers were so conservative as to oppose any change being made, reasoning that as we had lived so long with grade crossings, we could reasonably expect to live out our allotted term without the fuss that the change would involve.

Mr. H. F. King was the chief speaker and he was evidently chiefly actuated by a desire to have stone arched bridges, of a suitable height above the street, and he did not object to any elevation of the tracks. One excellent point he made was that as the Boston & Albany secured their large gift of new stock by pleading that they needed four millions to separate the grades in Newton, we need not be deterred from asking for any thing we want by the fear of its cost to the road.

There was a good deal of curiosity as to the identity of the land owner in West Newton who thought land was worth $1.50 a foot, and as to where such valuable land was located. His action is said to have been the cause of the road's abandoning their idea of straightening the curves on the road, and its disinclination to pay such a price is not surprising.

Some of the other speakers presented more or less curious plans for the separation of grades, which will be found in the regular report of the proceedings.

SOMERVILLE'S centennial gave an opportunity to the Somerville Journal to do some very creditable work. Its souvenir was a very artistic piece of work, but the Journal illustrations, printed the morning after the celebration, would have done credit to any of the Boston dailies. The Journal evidently deserves its claim of standing at the head of the suburban weeklies.

THE Carswell plan for another boulevard through Newton, which is republished from the Boston Sunday Herald, is an old plan revived and these schemes show how much unoccupied land there is yet in Newton, which only needs to be opened up to be desirable building sites.

It is now acting Mayor Roffe, in the absence of Mayor Hibbard and Alderman Harbach.

High School notes.

The following callisthenics officers were appointed for the next school year: Major Miss Ella Nickerson, Captains, Misses Adams, Drew, Drury, Rand, M. K. Ward, Mills, Carter, M. Nickerson, Peloubet, Eddy, Logans and Converse. All from the class of '93.

The graduating exercises of the senior class will be held in the gymnasium, Tuesday, June 28, at 10 a. m.

Miss Bates and Miss Cole leave soon for a European trip.

Miss Johnson will spend a part of the summer in New Hampshire.

Hereafter all officers of the battalion will be obliged to pass examinations on the new tactics, obtaining at least 75 per cent.

Austin W. Redpath, '93, was elected editor-in-chief of the Review for the coming year at meeting of the class of '93 on Thursday at recess.

The battalion was reviewed by the officers of the callisthenics battalion on Monday.

Company D. presented a scarf pin to Capt. Hatch at the Wednesday drill period.

The N. K. C. and S. N. C. hold a river party on the Charles, this evening.

The High school closed today.

VACATION DAYS.

The schools are closing and vacation draws near. There are several essentials to enjoy one's vacation. A good hammock is possibly the first one. A soft, cool, easy Outing Cap, for lounging about in, may come next, while a light Umbrella is always a necessity on a rainy day. To find each of these in large variety at extremely low prices visit Hatch's Hat House, 5 Moody Street, Waltham. His new store in the Methodist Building is fast becoming the Mecca toward which all footsteps turn.

There is some talk of buying the land between Boyd's pond and Pearl street for a play ground. It is about the only suitable piece of vacant land left in Newton and could be bought now at a reasonable price. It would make an admirable ball field and is now used for that purpose. It is believed that half the money needed to buy the Newton part of the field could be raised by subscription, and that the Watertown people would take hold of the project and buy the other half, if Newton set the example. Unless something is done soon, this side of Newton will be left without any land that could be secured for a play ground.

The Oregon Boot.

A decided novelty in footwear is the "Oregon boot," so called, with one of which a train robber who arrived in St. Louis was manacled. The boot weighed 18½ pounds, and a detective spent fifteen minutes in opening the combination by which it was secured to the prisoner's foot. Thus hobbled there would seem to be a small chance for a malefactor to effect his flight from custody unless he should somehow learn the combination. Practically he might as well be anchored to a fireproof safe.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Smuggling a Painting Out of Italy.

If a usually well informed correspondent is correct, this is how the famous picture of Caesar Borghia, sold for 600,000 francs to the Rothschild family by Prince Borghese, was sent out of Rome. A coating of wax was laid over the famous Caesar, and an artist painted the portrait of Pope Leo XIII on the wax. It was then dispatched to its Parisian destination, the coating of wax carefully peeled off, and the famous Caesar now ornaments the Rothschild's great gallery of masterpieces.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Babies Afraid of Black Clothes.

At sight of a strange person, object or animal a baby will cry. Anything black will produce more disturbance in the mind of a baby than anything white. A child refusing to go to a relative in dark clothes would not hesitate if the suit were changed to a light color, with a white, red or blue necktie.—Baby.

Accustomed to Irish Bogs.

One Irish snipe shooter, Mr. Foster, of Dublin, was used to Irish bogs. He was so cool that he had been known, when bogged and going down, to kill a bird with his right barrel, another with his left, and then throw his gun for a friend to catch.—"Forty-five Years of Sport."

The demand for willow wood for artificial legs has grown immensely in recent years. The funny men on the stage talk glibly of cork legs, but light willow limbs are more popular.

A New York woman photographs odd people in odd situations. She picks up subjects on the streets or anywhere and pays them to sit for her. She sells the photographs to artists.

Pay the Price of the Royal for Royal only.

Many grocery stores have recently been stocked with second-class brands of baking powder, which are urged upon consumers at the price of the high-cost, first-class Royal.

These powders cost from 8 to 30 cents a pound less than the Royal, besides being of 27 per cent. less strength. If they are forced upon you, see that you are charged a correspondingly lower price for them.

WABAN.

—Mrs. W. R. Dresser is suffering with malaria.

—Roy Harlow is improving rapidly although still confined to the bed.

—Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Harlow and family will spend the summer at Cottage city, Mass.

—Mrs. Holah and Miss Eva Holah are visiting at Mrs. M. A. Dresser's, Chestnut street.

—Mrs. Scudder is making an addition to the front of her house in the form of a large conservatory.

—Mr. C. E. Fuller has rented his house on Chestnut street to Mr. Geo. W. Davenport of the Thomson-Houston Electric Co.

—Friday night, June 17th, the young people hired the hall, and held an informal dance. A very enjoyable time was spent by all present.

—Miss Simpson left for her home in Pennsylvania, Friday. She has been spending the winter here while studying at the New England Conservatory of music.

—One of the domestics at the alms house, having taken too much "fire water" one day last week, raised such a disturbance that Officer Mitchell had to be sent for. She was tenderly carried to West Newton police station, and left to sleep it off.

—The Tennis club held a meeting at Mr. Robert Seaver's residence, last Tuesday evening. A tournament was arranged for July 4th, all members being expected to enter, and partners and opponents drawn by lot. The club is now in a very flourishing condition.

—The F. C. B. dramatic club held a meeting at the residence of Miss Maud Kendrick, Wednesday evening. Plans were formulated for an entertainment to be given in connection with the fair of the Benevolent Society next October. We understand the proceeds of the fair are to be added to the church fund.

Newton Boat Club Canoe Races.

The annual races of the Newton Boat Club will be held over the usual courses in front of the club house at Riverside, on Saturday, the 25th inst., commencing at 4 o'clock. A number of new features will be given, including a "Hand Race" and a "Water Tournament." There will also be a "Tug of War" in canoes and an "Upset Race," in addition to the usual "Double" and "Tandem Three" races. As there is considerable rivalry among the men that have entered some interesting races may be anticipated.

Millinery.

A large assortment of trimmed hats and bonnets can always be found at Miss M. J. Pendergast's, Main St., Watertown. 1t

 —Mr. Charles S. Dennison and family departed this week for their summer villa at Cataumet.
 —Mr. C. C. Briggs has moved into his house, corner of Walnut street and Trowbridge avenue.
 —Be sure to call at Tilton's Fireworks House, 146 Lincoln street, before purchasing in that line.
 —There will be no sessions of the Universalist Sunday school during the months of July and August.
 —Mrs. Arthur Bates and daughter of Portland, Maine, are visiting at Mr. Geo. L. Bean's on Murry street.
 —Mr. George F. Kimball and party are among the more recent arrivals at the Humarock, Seaside beach.
 —Mrs. J. L. Richards and children of Newtonville avenue, left this week to spend the summer at Monument beach.
 —Mrs. William Simmons of New York is boarding for the summer at Mr. Daniel Simpson's on Newtonville avenue.
 —The graduation exercises of the senior class of the high school occur Tuesday morning next, in the gymnasium.
 —Mr. and Mrs. M. French of Newtonville avenue, left this week for Palmer, Mass. where they will spend the summer.
 —The water has been partially drawn off Bulough's pond, and the exposed banks yield an offensive odor to the annoyance of residents in the vicinity.
 —Waban lodge, I. O. O. F. was represented by 40 men in the parade in connection with the dedication of the Odd Fellows' Home at Worcester yesterday.
 —Children's Sunday was observed at the Central Congregational church last Sabbath, with appropriate exercises, including the usual S. S. concert features.
 —Dr. and Mrs. W. O. Hunt give a tea Thursday, June 30th, to the former patients and intimate friends of Dr. O. E. Hunt, the occasion being his seventieth birthday.
 —Dr. and Mrs. W. O. Hunt have returned from their outing among the lakes of Maine. They report fine trout fishing, Mrs. Hunt being very successful in landing the speckled beauties.
 —The last meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E. of the Universalist church, prior to the summer vacation period, will be held Sunday evening next at 6.30 o'clock. A large attendance is desired.
 —The tracks of the Newton and Boston Street Railway Company have been laid through Walnut Street, to the terminus. The work has been done in a very thorough manner.
 —William Costello, an employe in Fitzpatrick's mill while at work Wednesday, was struck in the arm by a flying cutter from an irregular moult. He received an ugly cut in which several stitches were taken.
 —Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Hatch start Saturday for a trip to Bangor on the new 2,000 ton schooner, Louise H. Randall, which was recently described in these columns and is owned by Mr. Hatch's cousin. They will return on the same and expect to be gone about a week.
 —There are letters at the postoffice addressed to Manie Robbins' grandmother (a child's handwriting evidently) and to Mrs. Sidney Davis, 852 Newtonville, Mass.; also letters addressed to Nellie Bassett, Mary Casey, Miss C. L. Dennison, Mrs. James Quinn and Maggie Teegan.
 —Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Plummer of Appleton street, Boston, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Ingalls Plummer, to Mr. George Herbert Pigott of this place, which took place Wednesday, June 23rd, at 10 o'clock. Mr. Pigott will receive at 182 Walnut street, Tuesday evening, Sept. 22, from 7.30 until 10.
 —Gen. Hull Lodge, A. O. U. W., conferred the degrees on two candidates, Monday evening, after which ice cream and cake were served. Master Workman Brewer anticipated a rest from degree work during the summer, but with many applications on file and several more for next meeting, it did not look like it at present. Gen. Hull Lodge has added three new members at every meeting since last September, and it is now the largest membership of any insurance order in Newton.
 —Mt. Ida Council, 1247, Royal Arcanum in accordance with the request of the Supreme Regent, observed "Arcanum Day" yesterday, the day on which the Order was founded. A children's entertainment was given from 4 to 6 o'clock, followed by a strawberry festival and concert for members and their friends in the evening. The entertainment comprised music by the Orpheus Orchestra Society, humorous selections by Mr. J. J. Tracy and solos by Mr. Charles N. Sladen and others. The entertainment committee in charge comprised Edward W. Bailey, Henry E. Sisson, Robert C. Bridgman, Edwin S. Nagle, Geo. W. Brown and Herbert A. Boynton.
 —In connection with the whist tourney of the Newton club it should be said that Messrs. E. H. Pierce and W. F. Hawley played 11 out of a possible 14 games, and finished with the highest average, 33.5-11 per cent. The highest number of points were secured by Messrs. Brackett and Mendell who were fortunate in being able to play all the scheduled games. The average made by the latter pair was considerably below that of Messrs. Hawley and Pierce. According to a very general custom, the average in whist tourneys determines the standing of contestants. There seems to have been no definite rule fixing the method of computing the standing in the Newton club tourney, therefore, two prizes were awarded.
 —Four infants were christened at the children's service in the Universalist church last Sunday. The evening concert program consisted of music by the choir, singing by the Sunday school, and recitations by the children. The decorations were very tasteful, and were designed and arranged by the young ladies of Mr. Otis Hall's class. Misses Mabel Fisher, Alice Hale, Linda Curtis, Carrie Williams, Isabelle Hyde, Kittie and Carrie Duncan. The space back of the pulpit was a solid mass of green, forming a background for beautiful flowers of every description. Daisy chains entwined the chandeliers and gas jets, and plants and bouquets were effectively arranged. Recitations were given by Bertie Williams, Carrie Curtis and Chester Griswold. Appropriate remarks were made by Rev. Ira A. Priest.

 —The Beacon Street Boulevard.
 —The committee on Beacon street widening, and have the matter still under consideration, and at the proper time the matter will be brought before the people again. For such an important public improvement for the Centre, and people of Newton generally, has not been proposed for many a day, and when once accomplished the most bitter opponents of today cannot fail to see its full value, not only as a magnificent boulevard through to Boston, but also in the increased number of new houses built along its sides. Newton Centre, with its increased population, can not stand still as in the past, but means to open wide its gates and invite the people to come in and enjoy its many advantages.

WHAT TO EAT

is a difficult problem with many people because but few articles of food agree with them. The doctor says

AVOID GREASE and the result is unpalatable food. The reason the physician objects to grease is because lard is the article most used, and every physician knows that hog grease in any shape is unhealthy and indigestible.

Every one interested in pure and healthful food hails with joy the new product which is composed of pure cottonseed oil and pure beef suet—nothing else—not even salt. It is better than either lard or butter for all cooking purposes, and one pound of Cottolene will do as much as two pounds of lard or butter, and it costs less than either.

Every housekeeper that tries Cottolene will find in it just what she wants.

A VERY OLD SAINT.

FOR ELEVEN HUNDRED YEARS IRELAND HAS HONORED ONE MAN.

The Memory of St. Patrick Has Been Cherished by Irishmen and Their Descendants with a Consistency That Has Been Unswerving Through Many Years.

America, so far as we know, has no patron saint. Columbus was never canonized, and George Washington lived too late for such honors. But she has compensation for this lack in the number of saints brought with her settlers. St. Nicholas, St. David, St. Andrew, St. George and we know not how many more have become domiciled, each bringing his quota of history, legend, poetry, song and genial association, but they are incidental—thrown in with the bargain, as it were—and our republic has no one patron saint.

We would not willingly say a depreciatory word of those distinguished personages whom we mentioned, but simple, modest, historic truth compels us to say that no one of them is more than a "circumstance" on American soil to him whose anniversary day, crisp, breezy and bracing, calls out the long procession, the harp-decorated green flag and the indestructible shamrock which reappears in fresh verdure every year. For something like 1,100 years the 17th of March has been observed as St. Patrick's Day.

And yet it is curious how entirely this eminent saint has been overlooked in naming places. You have saints all through the alphabet, from St. Albans to St. Vincent, but no St. Patrick. The Scotch have got in their St. Andrew, in the cold north, to be sure, as was fit. The Anthonys, Augustines, Bernards, Charleses, Christophers, Clairs, Francises, Johns, Josephs (run into Joes profanely), Lawrences, Louises, Marys, Pauls, Peters and all the rest have their names linked with towns, parishes or streams, but there is not a notable St. Patrick's anywhere. This can only be explained by the modesty of those who hold him in regard, and it is a wrong that ought to be redressed.

It is to be lamented that so much of the poetry, song and drollery of a lively, mirthful, mercurial and imaginative people have gathered around this name that the historical character is lost sight of, and there stands up to the popular eye a legendary figure, exorcising the snakes and displaying the shamrock. Nothing can be further from the reality than this picture. A great amount of real scholarship has been expended on the investigation of St. Patrick's history, and while differences of opinion exist as to details, St. Patrick, unlike St. George, of England, is recognized by all as a true man with a definite record and a solid claim to the veneration of the good.

According to history, Patrick was a farmer's son, either on the coast of France or of Scotland, most of the early church authorities representing him as being born about 410, in the neighborhood of what is now Boulogne. His original name was Succath, which the early writers of the Irish Christian church stated meant "brave in heart," and the Latin name Patricius was later given to him.

At sixteen he was carried captive into Ireland and was in slavery for six years. While serving as a herder in comparative loneliness in woods and wilds the Christian truth of his early days came to his mind. He prayed, meditated, believed; and when liberated returned to his home what would now be called a converted, actively religious man. He remembered with pity the heathen among whom he lived, and returned to them as a Christian teacher. That is supposed to have been about the year 432. He preached the Gospel with singular eloquence and such extraordinary effect that he established Christianity so strongly in Ireland that it could not be overthrown. He baptized the kings of Dublin and Munster and the sons of the king of Connaught. He also established numerous monasteries.

St. Bernard testifies that St. Patrick fixed his metropolitan seat at Armagh. He devoted much attention to the suppression of slavery, one of the consequences of the piratical expeditions of the age. He died in Down, Ulster, on March 17, of either the year 493 or 495. Here are his own words rendered into English from the stiff Latin, tinged with Celtic, in which his "Confessions" are written:

"I am greatly a debtor to God, who has bestowed his grace so largely upon me, that multitudes should be born again to God through me, and that of these, clergy should be everywhere ordained for a people lately coming to the faith, whom the Lord took from the extremities of the earth. The Irish, who never had the knowledge of God, and hitherto worshipped only idols and unclean things, have lately become the people of the Lord, and are called the sons of God."

The "Confessions" the shortest, the genuine work, without later interpolations—is in the "Book of Armagh," one of the richest literary treasures of the Irish libraries.—Daniel D. Bidwell in New York Ledger.

An Awful Thing to Remember.

When a bachelor getting out of bed on a cold morning decides to keep on his night robe till the room gets warmer and then thoughtlessly hurries away to breakfast, where people smile slyly and significantly, it does not add to his joy to remember that he did not make the change in the apparel he contemplated.—Chicago Tribune.

Caleb Cushing Was an Early Riser. A Washington real estate man, wishing to show Caleb Cushing a piece of property, was told to call at 5 o'clock in the morning. The man was not accustomed to such early hours, but was advised by one who knew Mr. Cushing to be prompt. As he drove to the door at the appointed time Mr. Cushing was on the steps.—Green Bag.

Lae's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. Most people need to use it.

I Had Faith.

About six months ago I was advised to consult Mrs. Hall, the great Spiritualist doctor, to see if she could cure me of Scrofula, from which I have suffered from childhood. She said if I would have faith in the medicine she gave me, that she could cure me. I took her medicine, and in less than three months I was cured. Why, the medicine worked was a miracle. I begged of her to tell me what the medicine was made of, but she said she could not do so. Finally she told me the medicine was Sulphur Bitters, and that she never knew it to fail in all such cases as mine.—Mrs. Clara Knowlton, 35 Hanover street, Boston, Mass.

A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the grippe is Kemp's Balsam, which is especially adapted to diseases of the throat and lungs. Do not wait for the first symptoms of the disease, but get a bottle and keep it on hand for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grippe has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. All druggists sell the Balsam.

Clerk—There are two kinds of cloth to match the shade of this sample you have, sir; one is much more expensive than the other. Have you any idea which your wife prefers? Customer—Oh, yes! She wants the one that costs the most.

The highest praise has been won by Hood's Pills for their easy, yet efficient action.

Allow me to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrhal symptoms and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—M. H. Hamilton, Leading Bass of the C. D. Hess Grand Opera Co.

Danced on the Lawn.

The Nonantum Club house, situated on Watertown street, Nonantum, was thrown open to guests the 17th, upon the occasion of a reception given to members and their lady friends by Mr. Mason E. Stearns.

In the afternoon outdoor games were enjoyed, and in the evening the spacious grounds surrounding the clubhouse were brightly illuminated with colored fire, and the light reflected from myriads of Japanese lanterns. In the dining room of the house a collation was served. An orchestra discoursed music and furnished the necessary impetus for the lovers of terpsichorean art who danced upon the lawn.

The affair was attended by a company of about 250 ladies and gentlemen, including guests from the several Newtons, Brookline, Watertown and Boston. The broad piazza of the clubhouse was decorated with flags and streamers of bunting, and the club standard was displayed near the main entrance. The social festivities lasted from 5 o'clock in the afternoon until 10 in the evening. The exercises closed with fireworks.

The car was not half full, but the youth in the new spring suit plumped himself down by the side of the handsome girl in gray. Possibly—aw—you are holding this seat, he said with an engaging smile, "for some gentleman?" "I was," she said, with an engaging smile, "but he doesn't seem to have come."

SICKNES

COPYRIGHT 1891

A spell of sickness is due when the system's weakened, and the blood impure. It's what you must expect.

But it's what you must prevent, too. And Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery prevents as well as cures. It invigorates the liver and kidneys, purifies and enriches the blood, sharpens the appetite, improves digestion, and restores health and strength. For Dyspepsia, "Liver Complaint," and every form of Scrofulous, Skin, or Scalp Diseases, as Salt-rheum, Tetter, Erysipelas, or any blood-taint, it's an unequalled remedy.

It's not like the sarsaparillas, which claim to be good for the blood in March, April and May. At all seasons alike, and in all cases, the "Discovery" alone is guaranteed. If it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back.

It's the cheapest blood-purifier, no matter how many doses are offered for a dollar, for you pay only for the good you get. But it's the best, or it couldn't be sold so.

St. Vitas Dance Cured! VIII.

SAN ANTONIO, CAL., February, 1890. My boy, 13 years old, was so affected by St. Vitis Dance that he could not go to school for two years. Two bottles of Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic restored his health, and he is now attending school again.

I used Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic for nervous trouble caused by overwork, and found it all that it is claimed to be. After using one bottle it had the desired effect, and I can truly recommend it to all suffering a like complaint, as a really wonderful remedy. SAML. TREVE, PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 19, '90.

For seven years my eldest daughter had fainting spells and spasms. Last June she took the first of Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic, and since that time they have entirely ceased.

FREE—A valuable book on Nervous Diseases sent free to any address on request. This medicine is free of charge.

WILLIAMS' ROOT BEER

DELICIOUS!

Sparkling and healthful. Enjoyed by the whole family. No other root beer extract equals Williams' in strength and purity. One bottle of extract makes 5 gallons. The great temperance drink.

This is not only "just as good" as others, but far better. One trial will support this claim.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"The use of 'Castoria' is so universal and its merits so well known that it seems a work of supererogation to endorse it. Few are the intelligent families who do not keep Castoria within easy reach." CARLOS MARTIN, D. D., New York City. Late Pastor Bloomingdale Reformed Church.

Castoria cures Colic, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhea, Eructation, Kills Worms, gives sleep, and promotes digestion. Without injurious medication.

"For several years I have recommended your 'Castoria,' and shall always continue to do so as it has invariably produced beneficial results." EDWIN F. PARKER, M. D., "The Winthrop," 135th Street and 7th Ave., New York City.

—Vaehon's billiard room has been improved by a coat of paint. Walter Mills has been employed to attend the table and dispense ice cold phos, a new venture.
—Rev. Dr. Twombly of Newton spoke at the first church, Sunday evening to a large gathering. He took for his theme the work of Associated Churches.
—Mr. H. H. Read gave a lawn party Tuesday evening, to a large number of friends, many coming from out of town. Home raised strawberries were one of the attractions.
—Some of the very largest and finest of this year's native strawberries are being sold at Richardson's market. He has some excellent ones at ten cents a box for those who wish them for preserves.
—The amount of strong language used by the overseers in looking after the workmen on the sewers is rather new here, and is not generally approved of, enjoyed, and some even think it unnecessary.
—The committee having in charge the 4th of July celebration have issued circulars requesting contributions, and they will doubtless meet with a generous response as usual.
—The sewer laborers have encountered a ledge on Statton street just above the tracks, and a steam drill is at work this week. Ledges abound in this direction and the sewer work will necessarily progress very slowly.
—Prof. and Mrs. Samuel F. Clark, nee Lawrence, of Williamstown, will hold their wedding reception on Saturday afternoon and evening, June 25th, at the residence of Rev. Amos E. Lawrence, Beacon street.
—The new 21 foot Herreshoff yacht Vanessa just finished by Mr. A. J. Bigelow, Jr., of Chestnut Hill, arrived last week at Hull, where the family are stopping, and will be used while there by Mr. Bigelow.

—Councilman Henry D. Degen of Gibbs street moved into his handsome new double house this week on Centre street. Mr. E. H. Mansfield and family of Crescent street are occupying the other part of the house.
—The Methodist parsonage is receiving much attention from the painters, Bemis & Jewett, just now, to prepare for its new occupants, Rev. Mr. Hughes and bride, who are expected back from their wedding tour about July first.
—Nearly twenty Odd Fellows attended the dedication of the new Massachusetts Odd Fellows Home in Worcester, Wednesday. There were 4000 men in line and the demonstration was one of the largest ever seen in the state.
—The Newton Centre postoffice will be rated as second class commencing the first of July. This makes it available for free delivery service, and if some of our prominent citizens would use their influence in this direction, we may, as well as Newton, enjoy carrier service.
—Mr. Willard H. Morse of Cedar street was married to Miss Alice Faulkner of Lynn on Monday, June 20. The ceremony took place at ten o'clock at her home and was followed at eleven by a wedding breakfast and reception, after which they departed on a wedding trip.

—An afternoon tea was given at the elegant residence of Mrs. Levi C. Wade, Oak Hill, on Friday, the 17th inst. About 70 invitations were issued and a number of ladies from Boston and other places attended, most of those present being former classmates of the hostess. Tea was served from 4 until 6 o'clock. The only incident to mar the pleasant occasion was the sudden tempest which prevented some from coming.
—Mr. J. C. Holden, who recently took the agency for the Boylston Fire Insurance Co. of Boston, has also just secured the agency for the World's Fair Trust Fund Transportation Co. of Chicago. This company has been organized for the purpose of affording its patrons an opportunity of visiting the World's Fair at a reasonable cost, securing at the same time without trouble or exorbitant charges the best accommodations possible. The company provides first class transportation to and from Chicago, six admissions to the fair with lunch on the grounds and first class board and lodging for six days. The cost is $37 payable $6 down, and the remainder in installments. Guides are provided on the arrival of parties and at the fair grounds.
—Rev. Samuel F. Smith, D. D., author of "America," accepted an invitation from the graduating class of the Mason school to recite some original patriotic poems and make an address on "Bunker Hill" to all the pupils and teachers of the Mason school last Thursday. He recited "Washington," "Our Flag," and "America," interspersing much informing and highly interesting matter. His talk on Bunker Hill was grand, inspiring, and full of facts not found in books. The boys and girls were delighted and showed it by hearty applause. At the close "America" was sung by all the school with heartiness not often seen. Mr. Burr Church assisted by presiding at the piano. Laura Hammond from grade 4 presented the doctor with a large bundle of roses from the school. From 3 to 4 o'clock p. m., June 16, 1892, will always be very pleasantly and kindly remembered by every one present. The Misses Plympton and Bassett from grade 8 gave each a recitation, patriotic. Miss Bassett's being a poem by Dr. Smith. These added not a little to the pleasure of the hour.
—There was a grievous disappointment throughout the base ball committees on June 17th at the unpropitious weather, that prevented the game with Milton. It would undoubtedly have proved one of the best games of the season and winning from a nine like theirs would have meant a tussle from first to last. The game stamped by the audience at the end of the first and only inning making it impossible to issue rain checks and to satisfy all obligations with their patrons, the management has decided to throw all the season open without charge for the Stoneham game next Saturday. This generous action following the severe financial loss of June 17th indicates how zealous the club is laboring for the public entertainment. By their enterprise and skill they have reached a place in the front rank of leading amateur clubs of the state, and together with the very attractive home grounds on Walworth's field and their superb accommodations, they offer a most popular diversion to the athletic loving community. Their greatest amateur rivals this season, the Stonehams, will play Walworth's field next Saturday at 3:30 p. m., admission and seats are free, and the benches will be packed. Newton will put the following team in the field: Earren, c.; Bowen, 1b.; McLean, 1b.; Warren, 1b.; Hunting, 3b.; Hubbard, s.s.; Lowell, 2b.; Casey, c.; Dowd, p.

—A hearing is appointed by the aldermen for Monday evening relative to the location of tracks for the N. & B. railway on Oak, Chestnut and Summer streets, and a number from here will attend.
—The Gamewells visited West Medford on Friday, the 17th, and defeated the Medfords by a score of 16-11. The features of the game were the catching of Russell and the fine work at first base by Osborne of the Gamewell team.
—Mr. H. A. Sherman, Jr., was at the Edgewood cottage, Sterling Junction, a few days this week, getting it ready for occupancy this summer. His father, Mr. H. A. Sherman, who owns the cottage, with his family, expects to leave town about July 4, to spend the summer there.
—Miss Nellie G. Hurd, daughter of Mr. E. G. Hurd, High street, and Mr. William Jordan, were married yesterday at the home of the bride. A reception followed the ceremony, after which the newly married couple left for their future home on Bowen street, South Boston.

—The Clover Club held a lawn party and sale at the residence of Mrs. J. A. Gould, Jr., Boylston street, on Tuesday, June 28. Music will be furnished and useful and fancy articles, ice cream and cake will be on sale. The proceeds are to be used for a worthy charity and it is hoped a large number will be present.
—Mr. Wm. K. Dunham, head clerk at Messrs. Cooper & Dyson's, was united in marriage yesterday to Miss Hattie Gulliver of Plymouth. The ceremony took place at 2 o'clock at the residence of the bride's parents, 109 Summer street, Plymouth, and after a short reception, and Mrs. Dunham are now occupying their new home on High street.
—A good deal of complaint is heard about the offt team which is supposed to visit the village thrice weekly. Some trips have been missed during the recent warm weather, and residents and particularly the storekeepers, are very outspoken and indignant about the way in which this business is conducted here. Disagreeable odors were very noticeable this week in some places, because of the failure of the offt carts to make necessary visits.
—Children's Sunday was appropriately observed last Sunday at the Methodist church. In the morning the sermon by Rev. Mr. Gould was addressed particularly to the younger portion of his listeners, and in the evening a special children's concert was given. The attendance was very large at the latter service and the evening was taken up in exercises by the children and choir and congregational singing followed by a talk to the children, by Rev. Mr. Gould, who was present. One of the most thoroughly enjoyed portions of the evening was the solo sung by Mrs. Fellows, who is gifted with a musical voice of rare sweetness and power.
—The Newton cricket team played on the home grounds, Saturday afternoon with the Lynn second team. The game was well contested, good scores being made by both teams. Lynn won by 40-34. The score is appended:

NEWTON LOWER FALLS.
—Mr. Chas. J. Rice is spending a short vacation at his home here.
—The lawn party to have been held on the Methodist church grounds, the 17th, was held in the church on account of rain. The sale was a success.
—Dr. Charles Cullins, who opened a consumptives home on the Hollis estate, Wellesley Hills, about two years ago, died in Boston last Saturday of heart disease.
—The organ of St. John's church, which has been out of repair for some time, has been taken out to receive a thorough overhauling by Boston parties. A water motor will be used to pump air instead of by hand power, when returned.
—The marriage of Mr. Edwin A. Herriek of New York to Miss Eliza Chisholm of this village, was celebrated Wednesday evening at the residence of the bride's relative in Wellesley Hills. Mr. Herriek was for about two years employed as boss finisher in the Drydock Mill, resigning to accept a more lucrative position for a New York concern. A number of friends here wish the couple a happy and prosperous future. Mr. and Mrs. Herriek will reside in Mohawk, N. Y.
—The people of this vicinity were shocked upon learning of the terrible death of self-destruction committed by Mrs. Bullock, wife of Edwin O. Bullock of Wellesley Hills, closely adjoining this village. The deed was accomplished at an early hour last week Thursday morning, by applying a lighted match to her clothes saturated with oil. Mr. Bullock is a prominent and popular well-to-do citizen of Wellesley and owner of the Chelsea residence on Washington street. The sympathy of a community is extended the family for their sad bereavement. Deceased was in poor health for the past two years, being constantly under treatment, and from this cause is assigned the rash act. The burial took place in Haverhill last Saturday.
NONANTUM.
[?]—The Sunday school is arranging for a picnic, July 4th, in Roberts' grove.
—The Nonantum Industrial school will open Tuesday, July 6th, in the Athenaeum building, Dabry street.
—The city fathers have granted a sixth class license to Mr. Joseph P. Kerrigan, of the firm of Wm. F. Grace & Co.
—The committee on supply have unanimously recommended to the church Rev. E. P. F. Dearborn of Chelsea for pastor. The church held a meeting this evening.

A "Personal" from Marion Harland.

February 13th, 1892.

"In spite of my protest the Royal Baking Powder Co. continues to use a recommendation of Royal Baking Powder given by me several years ago."
"Since then my views and practice with regard to the powder manufactured by this Company have undergone a radical change. I give decided preference to a pure cream-of-tartar-and-soda mixture. For this reason Cleveland's Baking Powder is in steady use in my kitchen."

PROPOSALS FOR COAL
City Hall, West Newton, Mass., June 22, 1892.
The Joint Standing Committee on Fuel and Street Lights invite proposals for furnishing the City of Newton with 2,000 tons more or less, of furnace and stove coal, to be delivered into the bins at the Almshouse, City Hall, Chaffin Guard Armory, Police Station, Public Library, the several school houses, steamer, hose, and hook and ladder houses. About 600 tons will be required on the south of the city and the remainder on the north side; bids will be received for delivery on either the north or south side of the city, or the whole. The coal must be of the best quality hard White Ash, Lehigh, or any other hard coal satisfactory to the committee. The coal must be properly screened and free from slate. The committee reserve the right to reject any and all bids. Proposals to be addressed to the committee on Fuel and Street Lights, City Hall, West Newton, will be received until Saturday, July 3, 1892, at 12 o'clock M.
GEO. F. CHURCHILL, Chairman.
